HIGH ACID PHOSPHATE PRICES NOT JUSTIFIED BY SHORTAGE

Will Require Manufacturers to Base Prices On Actual Cost of Production; Acts to Relieve Scarcity of Cars.

The United States Department of Agriculture has received numerous complaints regarding the price of acid phosphate as compared with the price of mixed fertilizers. The price, quoted by manufacturers during the spring of 1918 to dealers or individuals ordering 30 tons or more was $24 a ton f. o. b. Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Carteret. The price asked for the fall trade is $22.50 a ton.

It will be recalled that the department on June 7 issued a statement to the effect that farmers should be able to obtain mixed fertilizers in the fall of 1919 at prices approximately 30 per cent lower than those which prevailed in the spring. This statement was based upon information that had been obtained from manufacturers, but it was expressly stated that the price of acid phosphate was being further investigated. Obviously, the price of this material has not decreased by 30 per cent, and the department, in letters to manufacturers, has expressed the view that the prices quoted above are too high.

mixers, who buy the crude material, crush, mill, screen, and bag it with a profit at the price they have agreed to sell it for. Strikes in Florida and car shortages in both the Florida and Tennessee fields have combined to reduce production and shipments. The department has laid the situation fully before the Railroad Administration and has urged that sufficient cars be made available for fertilizer deliveries in the interest of crop production.

Most Justify Advances. It has also notified the phosphate miners and the acid phosphate manufacturers that the present prices of rock phosphate or of acid phosphate, must not be advanced without submitting the proposed increases to the department, accompanied by specific data showing any real and unavoidable increase that may have occurred in the cost of production. Such increase in costs, in the opinion of the department, would be the only possible justification for any advance in the prices that prevailed in June. The department holds that a mere shortage of supply in the existing circumstances is not in itself a sufficient justification for increased prices.

Time to Pick Breed Sows. Early fall is the time of year when hog growers should select from the spring crop of pigs the sows to be used as next year's dams. From now on until the breeding season these sows should be fed in a manner different from the way they were to be fattened for market purposes. Good forage crops are practically a necessity. A self-feeder containing a good quality of thrashed oats makes good feed for these sows. In addition, according to specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, they may be fed a small amount of corn and some shorts or middlings, and fish meal or tankage. Careful attention should be given to the selection of sows for breeding purpose. First, they should be selected from a good sized litter and from a litter whose dam has good suckling qualities. The brood sow should be of a good rangy type, with a good, strong arched back, deep sides, rather thin neck, and not too broad in the face. By all means she should be a "good-footed" animal with good, strong legs and pasterns and rather upstanding from the ground.

The sow that takes plenty of exercise freely is the one that is most likely to make a desirable brood sow. Do not select a sow from litter whose dam is cross and irritable. The sow should be gentle and easily handled. Attention should also be paid to the eyes. A blind sow is likely to step on and injure her pigs. Careful attention to these details at this time will have a tendency to add to the value of the breeding herd and to the number of pigs that may be brought to maturity.

What is Breeding. The following definitions have been adopted by the United States Department of Agriculture for use in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign which it will conduct in cooperation with the various States, beginning October 1: Purebred: A pure-bred animal is one of pure breeding, representing a definite, recognized breed and both of whose parents were purebred animals of the same breed. To be considered pure-bred, live stock must be either registered, eligible to registration, or (in the absence of public registry for that class) have such lineage that its pure breeding can be definitely proved. To be of good type and quality, the animal must be healthy, vigorous, and a creditable specimen of its breed. Thoroughbred: The term "thoroughbred" applies accurately only to the breed of running horses eligible to registration in the General

Stud Book of England, the American Stud Book, or affiliated stud books for thoroughbred horses in other countries.

Standardbred: Applied to horses, this term refers to a distinct breed of American light horses, which both trotters and pacers which are eligible to registration in the American Trotting Register. Applied to poultry, the term includes all birds bred to conform to the standards of form, color, markings, weight, etc., for the various breeds under the standard of purebred stock of the American Poultry Association.

Scrub: A scrub is an animal of mixed or unknown breeding without definite type or markings. Such terms as native, monrel, razorback, dunghill, play woods, cayuse, bronche, and mustang are somewhat synonymous with "scrub," although many of the animals described by these terms have a certain fixity of type even though they present no evidence of systematic improved breeding.

Crossbred: This term applies to the progeny of two parents of different breeds, but of the same species.

Grade: A grade is the offspring resulting from mating a purebred with a scrub, or from mating animals not purebred, but having close pure-bred ancestry. The offspring of a purebred and a grade is also a grade, but through progressive improvements becomes a high grade.

BAPTIST CAMPAIGN

The Baptist $75,000,000 Campaign in the Little River Association is progressing in most encouraging way.

Thirteen representatives from this association attended the training school at Raleigh last week and quite a number will attend this week. The director and the W. M. U. organizers for each church is expected to attend the Raleigh Training School Monday night, Tuesday and Tuesday night, studying, praying, planning for the great canvass. Many of our churches are making a home to home canvass for the Biblical Recorder making an effort to put the paper in every Baptist home. Miss Ada Overby and Katy Johnson and Deacon C. W. Flowers made a canvass at Angier September 16, and placed the Recorder in 27 new homes. That means that Angier Baptists are going to be informed about Kingdom work as well as about social affairs. Coats and Buie's Creek are also making a canvass for the paper. Let every church fall in line. Fifty cents brings the paper till January 1920.

Only three or four churches now have failed to select their organizers for the campaign and every resident pastor has pledged hearty support and cooperation. No wiser every member rally to the support of these leaders: R. E. Atkins, W. C. Baxley, W. T. Campbell, J. A. Campbell, W. C. Dowd, E. Edgerly, J. S. Farmer, W. V. Denton, G. T. Mills, E. I. Olive, Rev. O. H. Porter, new pastor for Duke and Friends, not come to the Association, but these churches will line up.

Let everybody pray, if we can win. Our hope is in prayer. We can win, if we and the Lord pray. God can make anything ready for the final hour.

FRITCHARD FOR PRESIDENT LIKELY TO BE THIN

North Carolina Republican Jurist May Head National Troop in Next Campaign.

"Despite the quadrangle, if not pentagon character of Senator Butler's endorsement of Judge C. Fritchard for the presidency of the United States," says The Greensboro News-Raleigh Correspondent, "Raleigh Republicans and Democrats are disposed to think something more substantial than a Butler letter is behind the suggestion this week. Mr. Boat continues:

"In a recent issue of the Asheville Times, Republican, and certainly not a Butlerite, was a handsomely done story of considerable length on Judge Fritchard and stray copies were found their way here. That Judge Fritchard is close to Judge Fritchard and Judge Fritchard is a palatinity Carolinians who think it a calamity to live under a Republican rule must have a Republican none could be more acceptable to the Democracy. Judge Fritchard is an eminently popular man with the Democrats. "Mr. Butler would compromise on the vice-presidency and then bring back an ancient story that has interest now. Judge Fritchard was a member of the United States senate from 1895 to 1904. He was chosen to the short term and was Senator Butler's effort to harvest the Populists where only one great bygone. The Republican convention of 1900 was half-way moved to push southern man on the ticket. Judge Fritchard was the most eligible and the most popular. He was a great friend of President McKinley and the president would have been pleased to see Senator Mark Hanna, whom he represented Democrats to this day, demonstrate the president from 1897 to 1904, favored Fritchard and the Ohio man's man could have done the trick for him.

"Then that strange coup of destiny. Roosevelt was governor of New York and Platt and Quay were anxious to get rid of him. He had made no spectacular record as governor of the state which thinks it was wanted to grow presidents. Other governors made a more promising candidate and Roosevelt sought re-election. It was here that Hanna, Quay and Platt disagreed. Platt and Quay made another gubernatorial term would make Roosevelt a formidable candidate. Roosevelt fixed up the vice-presidency for Roosevelt and he kicked like a steer. Republicans who were at that convention say Roosevelt did not have it and Platt and Quay swore he would. Meanwhile, it looked easy enough for Fritchard. If Roosevelt held out and that individual had a hard head. But at the close of a perfect day he yielded and he stepped into world politics."

One of the healthiest signs of the times is the overcrowding of the schools and colleges of the country. Practically every school is filled up. And all this is coming about not only by force of school laws, but because when high school is finished the students have a desire to graduate. It is an indication that people are more thinking than ever before.
