Ten Days of Real Bargains

To make room for large shipments of late winter and early spring shipments of dry goods, clothing, shoes and furnishings we are going to close out every bit of our present stock at prices much below the current market. Everything we have is seasonable and serviceable. The sale affords to you an unequalled opportunity to supply your winter needs in wearing apparel at a tremendous saving. The prices we quote here are bona fide reductions from old selling prices, which already were lower than the present market in many instances. Much of the stock has been received since we began business a little over a month ago. The bulk of it, however, is the best of the McCull stock, which we purchased when we were given possession of our present building. All of this was bought for the present market value. It is the best stock to be seen in this city as represented in every respect.
