WRANGLER

Wrangel, the leader of those able Russians who would save his nation from Bolshevism, has been beaten and chased out of the country by the forces the rest of the world expected he would defeat. Those from whom he had a right to expect aid turned upon him at the psychological moment and made sure his defeat.

We of America doubt the intelligence of the Russian people. Americans cannot understand how a thinking people can be led to do things which do so much harm as the Russian people are being led to do by heads of the Soviet government. Americans flatter themselves that they are of superior intelligence and glory in the belief that they are not "as these."

But, really, are we any more intelligent than these poor unfortunates of the Steppes?
It is doubtful.

Every once in a while some body of men arise to tell us that those who are seeking to serve us are really striving to ruin and enslave us. Their propaganda is spread through the land. And like good Americans we believe. We arise in our might and smite the hand that has striven to guide us along the proper paths and save us from ourselves.

Russia has repudiated Wrangel, whom posterity will acclaim a patriot. Posterity will know his motives; but the Russian people have been misled by those whose power was threatened by Wrangel. The Russian people are ignorant.

America has repudiated one who worked harder for its welfare than Wrangel ever could have for Russia.
It has administered a rebuke whose ring a great heart will carry to its grave. Posterity, too, will take care of this man's name; but that will be no solace to him in his mortal life.

Are the American people intelligent?
Here is an argument from another fellow:

Most of us, I think, have a lingering notion that too much thrift is a bad thing.
In business, we know that we must be thrifty or our business will fail, but in the back of our head is the idea that too much thrift on the part of our customers might bring ruin.

In our own interest, we are therefore inclined to encourage liberal spending—on the part of others.

To get straightened out on this proposition let us find out just what thrift is.

Certainly, hoarding is not thrift.
Stinginess is not thrift.
Reckless spending is not thrift.

Benefit is expressed in spending as much as in saving.

The experts in the government savings division, after wise analysis of the whole question, have come to the conclusion that wise spending is the basis of intelligent saving, de-"thrift."

Study this principle and you will see that every business man and every merchant can get back of this variety of thrift, with the assurance that in doing so he is helping to build up his business, his community and his nation.

Take two neighborhoods in the same city—one where they spend their money as soon as or before they get it, and other where they postpone immediate pleasures in order to enjoy more substantial pleasures at a later date.

The average incomes in each neighborhood may be the same, but the first will be a slum, while the second will be a thriving community.

Fire-sale joints, sidewalk brokers, paw shops, auction men, and shoddy goods fellows operate in the slums, while the dealers who own their buildings and sell dependable, value-giving merchandise are found in the thrifty districts.

Communities are prosperous and stable in proportion to the value they give for each dollar spent on clothing, food, rent, recreation and education.

The community that gives good value grows, while the boom town, where gamblers and crooks are encouraged, busts up.

It is estimated that not more than 30 per cent of the goods sold in any community represent immediate needs.

Commenting on this, James H. Collier, one of the wisest students of thrift, says:

"The grover, butcher, hotel man and soda fountain proprietor cater to immediate needs for food and refreshment. But the clothier, furniture dealer, landlord, builder and to some extent those who provide recreation and travel facilities, depend for their volume on deferred expenditures by thrifty people."

In other words, unless most of our people had the character to forego enjoyment, two thirds of our merchants would be put out of business, and only those appealing to the appetites and baser instincts would survive.

This is why we should all get back of the thrift campaign, and encourage the purchase of those elementary devices of thrift—government savings stamps.

If we can project into peace-time the lessons in thrift we learned in war-time, the United States can maintain its position as a creditor nation, instead of a borrower.

Supporting instead of leaning.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LAND UNDER DEED OF TRUST

Under and by virtue of power of sale contained in a deed of trust, executed on the 19th day of July, 1920, to the undersigned, by E. W.
Smith, which deed of trust is recorded in Book 125, at Page 128, of the Registry of Harnett County, and default having been made in the bonds, secured thereby, as therein provided, and having been requested to sell the lands embraced in said deed of trust by the beneficiary under the same, to satisfy said bonds, I will on Tuesday, January 4, 1921, at 12 o'clock noon, at the courthouse door in Lillington, N. C., sell for cash to the highest bidder, the following described land, lying and being in Lec-ter's Creek Township, Harnett County, N. C.

Beginning at a stake in Gaston Ballentine's corner on the East bank of Neils Creek and runs South 87 1/2 degrees East 48.50 chains to a stake and pointers, W. G. Marcom's corner; thence North 5 degrees East 3.71 chains to a stake and pointers, said Marcom's corner; thence South 87 1/2 degrees East 29.33 chains to a stake and pointers in said Marcom's line, J. G. Dudley's line of corner; thence North 5 degrees East 8.62 chains to a stake and pointers in the Dudley line; thence North 87 1/2 degrees West 77.73 chains to a stake and pointers, just on the East bank of said creek; thence down the various courses of said creek about 12.33 chains to the beginning, containing eighty-five acres of land, less sixteen acres described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning in a branch and runs thence South 21 degrees and 15 minutes East 745 feet to a stake, Mar-cum's corner; thence South 87 degrees and 30 minutes East 1026.50 feet to a stake; thence North 5 degrees East 568 feet to a stake, Dudley's corner; thence North 87 degrees and thirty minutes West 1408 feet to the beginning corner, and is a reservation of sixteen acres of land which is not intended to be conveyed by this deed, and is taken from the eighty five acres first described herein, and leaves in that parcel only sixty nine acres, the same being conveyed by this conveyance.

This sale is being made subject to a mortgage deed executed by the said E. W. Smith to the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, S. C., securing a loan in the sum of twenty nine hundred dollars, due in about thirty-five years, per stipulations of said mortgage, the same being recorded in the Registry of Harnett County.

The above is a fine body of land, well adapted to growing cotton, tobacco, corn, etc., and is situated on the highway from Lillington to Fuquay Springs, being over twenty acres of cleared land on the same ready for cultivation.

This 29 day of November, 1920.
FRANKLIN T. DUPREE,
Trustee.

THE "OLD RELIABLE" THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

White Haired Alabama Lady Says She Has Seen Medicines Come and Go But The "Old Reliable" Theford's Black-Draught Came and Stayed.

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending The-ford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said: "I am getting on in years, my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors."
Theford's Black-Draught is a standard household remedy with a record of over seventy years of successful use.
Every one occasionally needs something to help cleanse the system of impurities.
Try Black-Draught. Insist upon The-ford's, the genuine.
