WILL REINDEER STEAK LOWER COST OF LIVING

Marketing reindeer meat in the United States is one of the newest problems that has been put up to the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, for solution. Alaska has approximately 200,000 reindeer, a number that leaves a considerable surplus over what is needed for home consumption. Specialists estimate that Alaska is ready to market about 5,000 carcases at present. The fact that the herds have increased from 10,000 head in 1905 to 200,000 in 1920 indicates how soon the marketing of reindeer meat will be a real problem.

handling 12,000 carcases each year. The meat will be held for shipment into the United States.

Distribution costs are high, but production costs are low. At present rates it costs about $140 a ton to transport reindeer meat from Nome to Minneapolis. The Eskimos own 70 per cent of the herds, and the only item of production cost is that of herding the animals. Alaskan reindeer weigh about 150 pounds to the dressed carcase, but the average weight can probably be increased to 300 pounds by cross-breeding the reindeer with the caribou, which is a larger and heavier animal.

The natives of Guam use the powdered fruit pulp of a native tree to stupefy fish which they eat.

On every remaining day of the sale we will offer special additional reductions of at least ten per cent on articles that you need. For the balance of this week this special reduction will be on rugs, which were already reduced on e-third from their original prices.

In all of the years of our business experience we have never before conducted a special sale. This being our first—and probably our last attempt—we want it to mean much to our customers. We are not showing the things that are of little value and practically no use to you. We have cut deep into the price of the things you need most.

These things include every item we have in stock. They include the plows, cultivators, harrows and other implements you are bound to have to cultivate this year's crops; stoves, ranges, heaters and other household goods that you must have for the home's comfort and convenience; furniture, carpets, rugs and all the things you need for furnishing the home; tools for the workman, supplies for the builder, and accessories for the millman.

You can save big money by attending this sale. The prices are marked down to suit the present condition of your finances. Be sure to get here before the sale closes March 1, because prices will be put back to the old level when that day passes.
