BE SURE TO VOTE TUESDAY

Tuesday is the day set for voting in the school bond election. On that day the future of Dunn schools and the education of our boys and girls will be decided.

If you have registered, don't simply back now and fail to vote, because if you do your registration will count against the bond issue, and you will be pulling against the project.

The inadequacy of the Dunn District school buildings and equipment is unquestionable. The local white graded school is sadly in need of a broader curriculum which can only be acquired through additional space and equipment.

The time has come when the Dunn people have awakened to the fact that we are behind, that we are in need of better schools, that we cannot afford to have ill equipped institutions of learning for our youth to be trained in.

If you are registered, it is up to you to VOTE and work your hardest to get all others to VOTE for this great step forward.

The railroad crossing at the station is now in the worst condition it has been in for a long time. It does not seem so long since this crossing was fixed, but it certainly is in a bad way now, and ought to be repaired at once.

Dunn baseball fans are more enthusiastic now than ever before. The forfeitures of the game yesterday by Selma to Four Oaks places Dunn on an even standing with the league leader, and the pennant for the first half is for the first time, actually in sight.

In Recorder's Court yesterday the case came up for trial a case between two negro girls, one of the girls inditing the other for cursing and slandering her. It is significant that the negro girl doing the charging brought her grievance to court, rather than fighting it out.

Watermelon growers are much pleased to hear that the shipping rates north are not so high as they were first thought to be. But the rates are still too high, according to the common opinion.

Meion growers of this section will ship out about fifty carloads of watermelons this month, but they fear that little, if any, profit will be cleared on the project.

There is a tent pitched on the vacant lot usually used as a show ground on East Broad street in the lower end of the business district. In that tent every night gathers a large crowd of people listening to the word of God preached, and His praises sung.

"LEFTY" WILSON AT NEW BERN Down in the eastern part of the state playing baseball in the fastest amateur league in North Carolina is one of Dunn's famous sons making a big name for himself as a great baseball player.

"Lefty" Wilson, as he is known in baseball circles, is one of the best pitchers on the Newberry club in the East Carolina League.

Gerard is a product of Dunn that we all ought to be proud of. He is one of the few boys from Dunn that has made a name for himself in college in the past few years.

But not only in baseball has "Lefty" been famed at Carolina. He was a good student, and well liked and universally popular.

THE FAIR IS NEXT With the big Independence Day celebration come and gone, Secretary Riddle of the Fair Association plans to begin work at once in preparation for Harnett's third annual fair which is to be held the second week in October.

Harnett has two good fairs to her credit, and there is no reason why the third shouldn't be even better than its two predecessors.

Secretary Riddle already has the premium list in the process of preparation, and the advertising forces are being organized with scrupulous care.

AMERICAN LEGION BAND Up over E. L. Parker's store there resounded a clamorous noise heard by passersby and persons walking or riding down the business section of the city Wednesday night.

It was not so much music attached to the noise, and just what it was all about many of the hearers doubtedly wondered as they were attracted by the notes that floated down over Broad street.

most worthy project of the American Legion. The organization of a band should be welcomed by the town people with much pleasure, for at the present time "nary" a music club can be boasted of. Every town should have at least an apology for a band, and most every small town has some such organization which can be labeled the "bias band" of the thriving metropolis.

MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTING Monday night May 30, the North Carolina Club held its last meeting of the present college year.

The most needed reform in North Carolina, according to Mr. Hettelman, is that of municipal accounting. The health problem, child welfare problem, and other similar concerns are important, but when one realizes how much these civic functions depend on adequate financial methods, it is then and only then that one can properly appreciate this issue.

KEEP YOUR HEAD Banks will extend credit to the man who has faith in himself and in his business. Sentiment is contagious. Talk panic and you foster panic. Talk optimism and you inspire optimism.

A CIVIC CREED I am a progressive because I believe in the continuous orderly growth of human institutions; because I believe that the world is not bungled up for immediate delivery into the millennium; and that only as we give of our lives in the effort to replace human wrongs by human rights do our institutions grow.

THE STATE COLLEGE WEEKLY NEWS LETTER Ten thousand samples, each sample representing a bale of the South's greatest staple, expert cotton men detailed as instructors by the U. S. department of agriculture, a strong lecture staff drawn from the college and extension forces in the division of agronomy, and a large, modernly equipped laboratory conveniently arranged as to light are some of the facilities for conducting the course in the State College Summer school.

ments of Agriculture, are in charge of the practical instruction in grading and stapling, while W. H. Darst, head of the department of farm crops in the college takes care of the lecture work.

The quality of the work being done together with the unusually high-class personnel of both the teaching force and the large class taking the course, makes this cotton grading school stand out as one of the most unique in the country. The class is made up largely of men who have, for years, been connected with some branch of the cotton industry, and these men state frankly that in facilities for work, number of samples to be considered, and in the thoroughness with which the work of each student is carefully supervised, it would be hard to duplicate the course anywhere.

Instead of the usual seven or eight standards found in cotton grading schools, the men at state college are using the full set of twenty official standards designated by the U. S. government. These consist of the five "tinges," the three "stains," and the three "blues."

The course will continue through July 27. Men are entering every day as it is possible to secure valuable training even in an abbreviated course, due to the intensive nature

ANYTHING FARMERS WANT Prices That Please - Results That Encourage

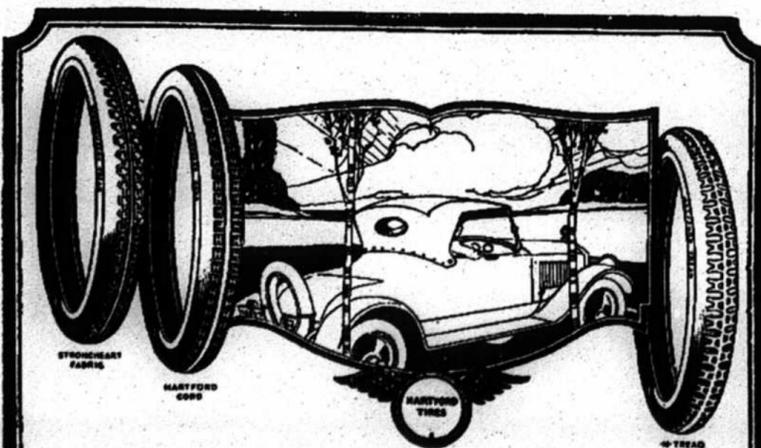

No matter what the farmer may desire, if it is in the farm machinery or implement line we can supply it.

Our commercial connections enable us to secure those splendid inventions and grades of implements and machinery that literally "put money into your pocket" at a material reduction in time, labor and operating expense.

We can not tell you the whole story in this ad, but we will be glad to demonstrate it face to face with you.
