Mr. A. S. Wilson of Selma is visiting relatives in the city.

Sam Ferrell has returned from a two-weeks visit to Durham.

G. A. Wood of Rouseburg, was a business visitor in Dunn Saturday.

Mrs. Leon F. Fearall of Rocky Mount, is visiting in the home of J. D. Barnes.

Mrs. P. H. Westbrook has returned from a short visit to friends and relatives at Clinton.

Mrs. Ora Pearson has returned from a visit to her mother, Mrs. H. D. Marshall at Wendell.

J. E. Crockett has returned from Johnston City, Tenn., where he spent several days with relatives.

High Princes is spending part of this week in Richmond, Va., with his father, Geo. E. Prince, who was taken to a hospital there this week.

Miss Olive and Lila Croom and Mr. Charles Walker from Burgaw were the guests of Miss Bertha Westbrook and Mrs. C. T. Butler during the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. James Eldredge, of Sampson County, have moved to town and are making their home in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Cook. Mr. Eldredge has accepted a position with the State Bank and Trust Company. Mrs. Eldredge was Miss Clara Butler before marriage.

The special January sale era has opened with three special sales in Dunn stores this week. Before the month is out there will be many more winter wearing apparel is being offered at remarkably low prices and buyers are being given opportunities to purchase at prices not seen here since 1914.

Major James Fearall has been given permission by the board of town commissioners to construct an "in and out" gas and oil station at the corner of Broad Street and Clinton Avenue where the old James Phillips grocery stood. It will be one of the most attractive service stations in town and will prove of great convenience to automobile users. It is understood that construction will begin immediately.

The Unloved Wife is the title of a play to be staged here March 7th in Metropolitan Theatre. This, so far as manager Earl Barfoot is able to tell, will be the first and last road show of this season. It is said to be a drama of unusual merit presented by a company of really able actors and actresses. Mention, about the title, should be made in the program before this will be the Dunn Concert Band Minutiae.

Albrecht Schmidt, Banner township's impresario, defender of the faithful, former lieutenant in the American overseas army, former sergeant in the Canadian overseas army, editor of the Banner Review, leader of the Dunn Band and a good customer of restaurants and hotel dining rooms, was a visitor to The Dispatch sanatorium yesterday. He is working with the local fellows in their effort to stage a big musical show here soon.

If you care for the welfare of your town, you should attend the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow—Wednesday night. You should join the organization too. Of course, if you do not care for the town and are interested only in fattening your bank roll through the work of your neighbors, you should stay out of the organization and away from the meeting. The organization cannot use you if you do not love the town that provides you with everything you have. In the meeting you will hear a fine speech and some good music. You'll also get free refreshments and smokes.

Put out the leafers, the cursers, the cigarette smokers and other undesirable or close up! That is the ultimatum handed to the Dunn Cafe by the board of commissioners who have had several complaints of disorderly conduct around the place. Theodore and Nicholas Vlahos, owners, are trying their best to obey the mandate, but are having rather a hard time of it with youngsters whose parents should keep them home after nightfall. They hesitate to complain of these boys to the police, but rather than have them [yes] lose the wrath of the police department they will not hesitate to call in the cops when necessary.

Engineer T. Draper appeared before the directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night with the request that the organization aid the farmers of eastern Harnett in their efforts to employ a farm demonstration agent.

Heretofore the agent has been employed by the county which paid $200 a year as its part of his salary. Some months ago, however, the commissioners decided that the county was not able to pay this sum and discontinued the appropriation. Mr. Draper stated that he was confident that the banks of Dunn and Duke would contribute half of the $200 needed if the business men of the town would contribute the balance. The directors thought well of the idea and Secretary Biddle was instructed to communicate with the State department of agriculture and ascertain what will be required of the community in order that it may get federal and State aid for the project. It is probable that an agent will be employed for service in this immediate section to aid the Chamber of Commerce and the business interests of Dunn in their efforts to institute new methods of farming in the Dunn District.

Mrs. Henry Pope is very ill at her home here.

Miss Whyman Nayler is confined to her home with what is feared to be pneumonia.

Henry O. Shell spent several evenings of last week in other towns with a dance orchestra.

E. F. Davis, president of the Commercial Bank, Mrs. Davis and their little daughter, spent a part of last week in Raleigh.

Be sure to hear Colonel Kikpatrick's speech before the Chamber of Commerce and business men of Dunn in Fraternal Hall Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Manly Morton, Missionaries of South America made very interesting talks at the Christian church Sunday morning and evening. They were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Kay.

After prayer meeting, if you are a business or professional man of Dunn, go with your pastor to the chamber of commerce annual meeting in Fraternal Hall Wednesday night. You will be welcomed.

A business meeting of the Woman's Club will be held in the club rooms Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Every member of the organization is urged to be present as the business to come before the organization is of importance to the entire membership.

W. O. Johnson, after delays of several months, has finally completed his handsome brick bungalow in Magnolia avenue and has moved his family into it. It is one of the prettiest residences of Dunn and adds much to the attractiveness of that quarter of Dunn.

Nearly all of Dunn's young folks who are studying in the higher institutions of learning have returned to their respective schools and colleges after spending the holidays here with relatives. Dunn is glad to have had them here and misses them much since they left.

Officers and members of the Woman's Club of Dunn request The Dispatch to extend their thanks to the ministers and others of Dunn who aided the organization in presenting the Christmas Cantata which was so much enjoyed here and at Duke, where it was presented Friday night at Christmas week.

George Herman Butler, the little son of John E. Butler, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident here several days ago, returned Friday from Fayetteville where he had been in a hospital ever since the accident. He is completely out of danger from his injuries and is expected to become entirely well within a short while.

The school board is advertising for bids on the construction of the grammar school building to be erected on the Massengill block at the southern end of Magnolia avenue. The bids are to be opened January 31 and construction is to be started as soon thereafter as possible. Bonds voted for the construction of this building and the colored school building and reconstruction of the present high school building have not as yet been sold, but several attractive offers for them have been received and no trouble in disposing of them at a good price is expected.

Miss Ethel Dawson, daughter of W. F. Dawson, was carried to Pittman Hospital in Fayetteville yesterday for an operation for the removal of the appendix. She was in school at Selma when she became ill. It was reported this morning that she was resting well after the operation yesterday. Miss Dawson is the third patient carried from Dunn to hospitals for appendicitis operations during the past week. Mrs. Paul Hood is in a Fayetteville hospital and Dr. Wallace E. Coltrane in a Raleigh hospital. All, The Dispatch is glad to state, are recovering nicely.

Engineer Gilbert White has been called upon to advise the board of commissioners in its contemplated purchase of centrifugal pumps to be used in connection with the new Carolina Power and Light company electric service. The board desires to equip the water department with electrically driven pumps in order that it may not be necessary to continue operation of its steam plant after the company takes over the light and power system about April 1. It is estimated that the new pumps will cost approximately $5,000, but the board estimates that this sum will soon be saved through the more economical method of operation.

Home Training of Boys
For twelve years I have been a Scoutmaster, and, therefore, studied specially the training of boys. All types have been under my leadership. It is easy to determine from what kind of home a boy comes. You cannot tell the boy by the clothes he wears. The test is rather what he thinks and does. If I could speak to the parents of boys, there are a few things I would say with emphasis.

First—The manner, the education, the life and the ambition of your boy is a picture of your home training. Neglect is everywhere, should this picture be bad. Early in life study your boy. There are not two of them alike, not even brothers. Try to see his viewpoint and understand his disposition.

Second—Constructive training, anywhere, especially in the home, is best. The "do" method can never excel the "do" method. Don'ts can very easily become anger, and these drive the boy from you, and you lose your confidence as his trainer. Give him something to do. It is because parents pay a little attention to the training of their boys that the Scout organization becomes necessary. Help the boy construct his life. Assist him in making a plan and then in the building.

Third—The house where the boy lives should be his best resort. There let him not only sleep and eat, but learn and live. So many homes are not made livable for the boy, therefore, he desires to be elsewhere than at home. Make the home both in and outside attractive to him. Not long since I visited a home and was shown some of the attractions for the boy of that home. During the visit the father said, "We pay special attention to five hours in our boy's life: The meal hour, the play hour, the study hour, the family hour."

The meal hour is one that is often neglected. Many of the finest lessons are learned about the board. Such as: thanksgiving, unselfishness and noise. A comfortable place to sleep has a great deal to do with the disposition. The boy should not be given what is left. Teach him when to go to sleep, how to get the most out of sleep, and when to awake. Sleep in the life of a boy is a study within itself.

Man is an animal of play. The boy is sure to play, and the parents should direct this. Do not turn your boy over to the "gang" for his play hour. Rather, you take the "gang" under your wing and train with your boy.

The study of school work may be made interesting. Give the boy a table or desk and some conveniences to work. Give him a good light in a well-ventilated room. Let him know that he is there building a life. He can and will become interested.

The family hour is unknown in so many homes with your children. They, too, may not know you. Every home should have a family hour. The father and mother need it, the brothers and sisters need it, the parents and children need it. An hour when the rest of the world is shut out, let us hope with no interruptions. Let children ask questions and parents reveal plans for home and life. God pity the children who have to learn the delicate lessons of life from others than their parents.

Fourth—There are four teachers for your boy. The school teacher, the Sunday school teacher, his companion at play, his parents. The last named as the most important goes without question. Blessed is the boy whose home is a school with worthwhile instructors. I will give some of the things to be taught the boys in the home.

First—That he is not to lie, cheat, or cover up, and his honor is to be trusted.

Second—That he is to be loyal to his home, his parents, and his country.

Third—That he is to help needy ones and to share his home duties.

Fourth—That he is to be friendly to all.

Fifth—That he is to be courteous in his dealings.

Sixth—That he is to be kind to animals as well as people.

Seventh—That he obey his parents and all authority.

Eighth—That he smile at work as well as at play.

Ninth—That he make use of his opportunities and save.

Tenth—That he have courage to face all dangers when in the right.

Eleventh—That he be clean in body and thought, stand for clean speech, clean sport, clean habits, and keep company with a clean crowd.

Twelfth—That he be reverent to God, attend worship, and early accept Christ as the Lord of his life.

—George Hyman, D. D.

T. E. L. Class
The T. E. L. Class of the First Baptist church will meet with Mrs. F. N. Johnson, Thursday night, December 12th, at 7:30 o'clock. Every member of the class is expected to be there, especially the officers of the class are urged to attend as this is the first regular business meeting in the new year and a program for the year should be mapped out.

The primary object of a bank is to furnish a depository for the safety of the people's funds, and those who elect to keep their hard earnings in an unsafe place rather than in a depository of safety will have no one to blame should they lose it through robbery or otherwise.

BREAD!

We could not get along without it. It's the old "standby" — Why? Because it is all substance and nourishment.

Because it satisfies when other foods do not.

Our has a real bread flavor and a good substantial slice.

Call up your grocer. He has it.

ers he distributed a larger card with the following tributes to the fathers:
"He may wear a last year's straw hat, his vest may hang a little loose and his pants may sag at the knees; his face may show signs of a second day's growth, but don't call him the old man. He's your father."
For years and years he has been rustling around to get things together. Never once has he failed to do the right thing by you. He thinks you are the greatest boy on earth bar none, even though you plaster your hair back, wear smart clothes, smoke cigarettes, and fall to bring home a cent. He is the man who won the love and life partnership of the greatest woman on earth, your mother.
He is "some man," and not the "old man." If you stick to your job as well and unselfishly for your children as he has for you, you will have to go some boy.—Carolina Banner.
