

Gov. Morrison Speaks to Big Crowd At Willow Farm
 Waller, Sept. 12.—Five thousand farmers, business men, agricultural demonstrators and investigators of 18 counties and their wives and children gathered at the Willow farm in an all-day picnic, brought to an enthusiastic climax by Governor Morrison's speech in the late afternoon outlining the state's program. Rain interfered with dinner and speechmaking, but the program was followed in detail.

Governor Morrison review the constructive program of the 1921 general assembly in road building, education and in the removal of all property tax for state purposes and brought the vast throng to their feet with cheers at what the state tax experts do. "We are tired of being bores of wood and drawers of water for the New England states and the rest of the world," he declared.

Lieutenant Governor Cooper spoke in the morning on co-operative warehousing and marketing. W. A. McGirt, of Wilmington, lauded the Morrison administration for its constructive achievements in road building and taxation reform and appealed to the business interests and the farmers to stand by the administration.

CARD OF THANKS
 We wish to thank our many friends for their great kindness in the sickness and death of our mother.

BLESS ME, THIS IS DUSTY RIDING ON THE RAIL
 A Place of News Never Printed With a Moral To Contemplate.
 (Max Abernathy in Greensboro Record.)

A two hundred mile jaunt into one of the richest sections of Tar Heels over the week-end convinces us that "Today's News Today," does not always get into print.

It not only fails to reach the printing presses "Today" but many, many times it is overlooked altogether. Week-end investigation indicates that somebody's business has been that of suppressing live news in this particular section of North Carolina.

The true, as the suppressors will tell you, that it "won't do any good" to tell the world through the newspapers and that it might do harm. Certainly it would not lend power and prestige to the persons involved.

But here's the story as we found it. Be your own judge:
 A prominent North Carolina minister has within the last week or so been duly tried by his church superior because of charges made against him by folk in his own community, the basis of which was that he was too friendly with one of his members, the wife of a man well if not favorably known.

The trial moved along and the judges and jurors were unable to find wherein the pastor had been even indirectly. He was given a clean bill of health.

That's news; but its never been printed. Before the trial the husband of the young woman—member is represented as having armed himself with a modern gatling gun, visited the church and told the pastor to stay away from his household and to confine his pastoral activities to neighborhoods other than his very own.

That's news; but it's never been printed. After listening to the outburst of the irate husband the man of cloth replied that he would observe that part of the ground rules laid down which barred him from the brother's household; he served notice however that nobody could tell him upon which streets of any community he must travel.

That's news; but its never been printed. Women are to blame for the charges against the pastor, the story goes. They picked up the w. k. sweet-morsel and blame near rolled it flat. They gossiped long and continually, but when the evidence time came around they knew nothing absolutely about the scandalous charges.

That's news, too; but its never been printed. The parson courted the investigation saying that he was ready to be unhooked and kicked out of the if there could be found any all-regular as to his conduct. No matter whether guilty or not, the preacher who is one of the best has been done a terrible injustice by wagging tongues—tongues that were wagging when their owners would have been looking after cleaning their own dirty linen.

SPECIALTIES for FRIDAY and SATURDAY AT THE

FIFTH AVENUE SHOP

Once more the bargains are knocking at your door—for the proof, read the prices below. And remember, we carry no old stock, no old styles, but everything is new and snappy. Several customers have come to our store and when they see our prices and our goods say that they are sorry they did not come before they bought elsewhere, because they had paid more for the same goods. We can sell for less because we have no old stock on hand left over from the high prices. All our stock is fresh and new.
 We are now ready to show our big Fall stock, consisting of dresses, coat suits, cloaks, fine underwear. We have added new things to our line such as Madeira and Japanese goods, hand-made waists and underwear.
