James Hampton is here to visit relatives.
U. S. Page of Robeson county, was in Dunn Wednesday on business.
Homer Lyon and Clarence J. Smith spoke to a large crowd of Democratic voters at Coats last night.
Miss Kathryn Allen has returned from a visit to her mother, Mrs. Sue Allen, at North Emporia, Va.
W. P. Dickey has returned to his home in Dunn after spending several weeks on business and with relatives at his old home in Pennsylvania.
N. A. Townsend and other Democratic candidates were speakers at Cameron Hill, the old home of Flora McDonald, last night.
Miss Iris Council of High Point, after spending two weeks here as the guest of Mrs. James Farthing, returned home Tuesday.
Mrs. J. B. Long has returned to her home near Lillington, after spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Godwin.
Born: To Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thornton at their home on South Wilson Avenue, a girl, Martha Venable, Tuesday morning, October 31.
Lottie Adams, the little girl who was hurt here last Saturday when she was struck by an automobile truck, is improving at her home near Angler.
Little Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Townsend who was injured in an automobile accident Monday, is rapidly recovering from her injuries.
Mrs. H. S. McKay and Miss Isabel Young are at High Point this week attending the D. A. R. convention. They went as delegates from Cornelius Harnett chapter.
Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Edgerton and Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Thompson of Goldsboro, were here Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thompson.
Mrs. Callie Rand and son, Andrew, have returned to their home in Norfolk, Va., after spending several weeks with relatives in Dunn and other parts of Harnett county.
Next Sunday marks the first anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. E. N. Johnson, of the First Baptist church. Every member is urged to be present at the morning and evening service.
D. L. Pridgen left Thursday morning for Pender county to visit his mother, Mrs. Julia A. Pridgen. Mrs. Pridgen is 99 years of age and is enjoying excellent health for one of her age.
Neill S. Geron returned yesterday from Onslow county where all Buick automobile agents of North Carolina gathered for their annual picnic. He reports that sales in all other Buick points in North Carolina were just as good as they were here. Nearly 100 agents attended the picnic, Mr. Green said.
A Sampson county negro, driving a Ford truck, collided with Contractor Jarvis automobile Wednesday afternoon, wrecking one wheel and battering the rear fender of Mr. Jarvis' car. The accident occurred at the corner of Locknow Place and Broad Street. The negro was at fault and paid all of the damage.
While it is no demonstration as to what should be done for young babies, mothers can get a host of hints as to what not to do in watching Charlie Chaplin take care of his two weeks old foster child in "The Kid," First National's six reels of joy, which will be the attraction at the White Way Theatre tonight.
Farm Demonstration Agent Edge was here last night arranging for the tour to be taken on the 20th of this month by Harnett County farmers through the dairying regions of the State. More than 50 farmers will take this trip. The itinerary will be through Mecklenburg, Catawba, Irwell and other Piedmont counties.
Paul Galsney, son of E. V. Galsney, and Joe Hobson, son of J. B. Hobson, are suffering from serious injuries sustained yesterday through a fall from a tree in the grove north of the public school grounds. Paul has both of his arms broken. Joe's ear drum is punctured and suffers from several other injuries. Drs. Sexton and Hicks attended them.

Thanks are returned to Josephus Pope and George K. Grantham for a large quantity of potatoes and red peppers left at the Dispatch office this week. Joe sent four potatoes, all on one root of a vine weighing twelve pounds. Mr. Grantham sent a vine containing 24 peppers. Both lots were fine examples of what Dunn District soils will do.

B. O. TOWNSEND DELIVERS 43 BALES OF LONG STAPLE

Four hundred and thirteen bales of long staple cotton have been delivered to the North Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative association by H. O. Townsend, a director in the association. This cotton was grown by Mr. Townsend on his farm in Harnett county, near Dunn.
The association reports that it is receiving quite a large quantity of long staple cotton, and that it will be collected in big lots and sold to mills requiring that kind of cotton. Mr. Townsend has been a pioneer in growing long staple cotton in his section, and has found it a profitable business. The boll weevil has not yet hit that section Mr. Townsend reports that the farmers are getting ready for his arrival by preparing to grow more livestock and foodstuffs.
The co-operative in addition to selling the cotton of their members plan to improve the quality of the cotton sold by encouraging members to secure better seed and to take more care in gathering the cotton.

KILLING IN HERRING'S TOWNSHIP

John McNeill, negro, is in jail charged with the killing of Owen Williams colored, at the latter's home on the Brock Pope place in Herring's township. The killing occurred Sunday evening. McNeill says Owen and he were friends. McNeill hadn't used his pistol lately, he says; but some one had given him some balls. He had it at Owen's and accidentally fired it off in the yard. Owen called out to know who was shooting and getting no reply, said he would see and walked out the door. John grabbed his in his arms, according to Owen's wife, and Owen began to struggle with him, the two getting into the house during the struggle. John had the pistol in his hand all the while. Finally they fell, Owen on top. John says that Owen was choking him and that he shot. He shot three times, twice in the body and once on the forehead, the bullet glancing off. When Owen's wife started to assist her husband, John pointed the pistol at her and she drew back. McNeill then took Williams' breechloader and left.

When a coroner's jury had heard the evidence Monday, Deputy K. R. Blue, W. B. Jackson and Cleve Tew started out to find the murderer. Having learned that he was seen going toward a certain negro's place, they went there and inquired and learned that a negro had been seen going to another negro in the cotton patch on the place and that they had gone together to the resident negro's house and that only one had been seen leave.
Having searched the residence, one of the officers suggested that he might be in the barn. Not finding him on the lower floor, they went into the loft and Tew cried out, "give me a gun," whereupon the negro hidden in the hay began to scramble out and was arrested.—Sampson Democrat.

'MUTT AND JEFF'S HONEYMOON'

From all accounts the ancient feud that has existed between Mut and Jeff, Bud Fisher's famous classics, has been satisfactorily patched. The fact, it is understood, has been thoroughly and decisively established in the new side-splitting comedy with music, "Mutt and Jeff's Honeymoon." In this triumph of fun, revelry, screams, laughter, surprises, novelties and innovations, Little Jeff undertakes the somewhat Herculean task of acting as counsel and general adviser in Mutt's unfortunate marital affairs. The result can be better imagined than chronicled. Suffice to say that everything Jeff does is totally wrong and
