LESSON FOR DECEMBER 3

JESUS SENDING OUT MISSIONARIES

LESSON TEXT—Luke 9:1-34

GOLDEN TEXT—The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that he would send forth laborers into the harvest field. REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matthew 9:1-13. PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Sends Out Missionaries. JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Sends Forth Seventy Missionaries. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Miracles of the Kingdom. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Our Home Mission Work.

I. The Seventy Sent Forth (vv. 1, 2).

1. Appointed by the Lord (v. 1). Only those should go forth who are appointed by the Lord.

2. Sent Forth Two by Two (v. 1). The purpose of this was that they might mutually help, counsel and support each other.

3. Reason for Their Appointment (v. 2). The harvest was great, but the laborers were few. The task before the Christian church after nearly 1900 years is still great.

4. Pray the Lord to Send Forth Laborers (v. 2). The realization of the apostolic task before us will cause us to pray to the Lord to send forth more laborers.

II. Instructions Given (vv. 3-10).

1. He Reveals the Dangers Confronting Them (v. 3). They were thrust forth by the Lord to proclaim His name, though no doing would expose them to deadly peril, even as lambs surrounded by hungry wolves. It matters not what the dangers are if the Lord sends forth.

2. Free From All Incumbrance (v. 4). The mission was urgent, so all that would in any way hinder the speedy execution of the task was to be left behind.

3. Distraction of Social Intercourse to Be Omitted (v. 4). Eastern salutations were long-drawn affairs. To go into such formalities would delay Christ's messengers.

4. Behavior in the Homes Where Received (vv. 5-9). (1) Offer the peace of the gospel (vv. 5, 6). This is to be done regardless as to whether it will be received or not. There is a reflex blessedness in preaching the gospel, even when the message is rejected. The effort is not wasted, but comes back to the one who has made the effort. (2) Do not shift quarters (vv. 7, 8). Missionaries should remain in the home where they have been received, content with what is given them. They should not demand better food and more comfortable quarters than what is commonly provided. However, that which is given should be gratefully received, for the laborer is worthy of his hire. (3) Healed the sick (v. 9). These disciples were given power to heal the sick. The ministers of Christ should seek to give relief to those in distress and use every opportunity to proclaim the gospel message.

5. The Awful Fate of Those Who Reject Christ's Message (vv. 10-16). Their case is more hopeless than that of Sodom. Those who reject Christ's messengers reject Christ.

III. The Return of the Seventy (vv. 17-24).

1. Their Report (v. 17). They were highly elated. They seemed to be agreeably surprised. They not only found that they could heal the sick, but cast out demons also. They seemed to be filled with self-satisfaction. It is easy even in Christian service to be spoiled by our successes.

2. Jesus' Answer (vv. 18-24). (1) He told them it was no surprise to Him (vv. 18, 19). With prophetic eye He saw their success as indicating that time when the prince of this world would be overthrown (John 12:31). By virtue of His mighty triumph over Satan He assures them that they need have no fear of what should befall them. Nothing could harm them; nothing could prosper which opposed them. Indeed, nothing can harm the servant who goes about His Master's business. (2) Real cause for rejoicing (v. 20). He promptly rebuked them, telling them that their chief joy should be because of their heavenly relation, not because of those miraculous gifts. That above all which should provoke gratitude is the fact that God has chosen in Christ and saved us, inscribing our names in heaven. (3) Jesus' exultation (vv. 21, 22). The consciousness that soon the victory would be won because God had committed all things unto Him, and that only as men received Him could they know the Father, caused Him to rejoice in what was being accomplished. (4) Congratulates the disciples (v. 23, 24).

ANGER, EXPENSIVE LUXURY

From the New York Herald.

Rage is expensive. A Vermont man found this out after having his dog with a telephone instrument which would not raise Central. He tore the machine from the wall and carried it in his motor car to the central office, where he hurled it through a window pane. In the end he had to pay for the damage he had done and he was fined $5 for breaking the peace.

His loss was greater than that, really, for he did damage to his mind and his body which 10 times $25.00 would not cover. Blind anger of this kind is more dangerous to the brain than a whack on the head. It is more dangerous to the body than sitting in a draft or eating a whole mince pie. Rage poisons the body just as surely as arsenic. It checks the normal functions, particularly digestion. It saps and weakens the wonderful human machine.

Anger, and particularly anger over trifles like telephone messages, is futile. Foaming at the mouth never brought quick action. This rage over petty things harms the man who indulges in it and the persons around him. These bursts of passion break up homes. They wreck business enterprises. They strike at good manners, which are the base of human civility. Without such senseless exhibitions of bad temper there would be fewer failures, divorces and wars.

Goldboro, Nov. 15.—Missouri believes the system of public welfare work in operation in North Carolina is the best in operation in the country, and is modeling her system after the North Carolina system, it was stated last night by A. E. Howell, Wayne county superintendent of public welfare, who returned Monday from Jefferson City, Missouri, where he was invited to make two speeches on the work being done in this county and throughout the State.

L. A. Halbert, of Kansas City, Kansas, former executive secretary of the National Public Welfare Workers, who is remodeling the work in Kansas.

Mr. Howell recommended that the county boards be composed of three instead of five members, and that they be appointed by the State Board just as it is in North Carolina, instead of by the county commissioners. Also, he thought that the state laws in both Missouri and Kansas regulating welfare work should be strengthened.

Howell, Saturday at noon Mr. Howell spoke to the luncheon of rural social workers. That night he gave an illustrated lecture with stereopticon slides on the work of the State and Wayne county. Friday morning he had a two-days conference with Homer Tubbs, superintendent of the 14 counties in Missouri in which there are community welfare organizations. In Missouri the offices of the State Welfare Department are in the finest capitol building Mr. Howell declared he ever saw. He said that the building cost around $8,500,000, and was so constructed that all automobiles could be parked in the basement instead of disfiguring the grounds.

Milk Prices Are Governed By Methods of Feeding Several Reasons Why Dairy Products Advance as Winter Approaches.—The Only Solution of This Problem

Memphis, Tenn.—This is the season when dairymen begin to demand a higher price for their milk and butter, and they are engaging in their usual conflict with the milk distributors in the city. From the low summer price of eight to ten cents per quart, milk is advanced gradually a cent or two at a time until the winter high price of twelve to sixteen cents is reached. This is the period when newspaper writers exercise their right to lambast the distributor. They know nothing about the cost of making milk or distributing it, but they believe they are the champions of the consumer, therefore they do not hesitate to call the milkman several kinds of a profiteer and a few other things besides. The price of every commodity is fixed by the cost of production and distribution and the consumer demand for the value produced. When manufacturing costs are low and the production large, it goes without saying that the price to the ultimate consumer reaches its lowest point and the reverse is true when costs are highest and the volume of production is small. Dairy products are low in price during summer months, because the dairymen turn his cows to pasture and the succulent grasses supply a very large part of her food. When grass dries up and the tender blades tough, the dairymen must buy hay to take the place of grass, thus the cost of producing milk is largely increased. The greatest problem of the dairymen has been to obtain a feed which his cows will eat and convert into milk when he takes them from the pasture. Unless this ration is properly balanced, the cow will invariably show a big falling off in her milk yield for several weeks after she is put on a dry ration. This problem has been studied for years by Edgar Morgan Co., the well-known feed manufacturers of this city. This concern maintains a scientific department which has made a great many tests with different com-

Is A Klanman About To Be Judge?

Rev. Dr. Oscar Haywood, of New York, asserts that Henry Grady, of Clinch, who recently was elected Judge of the Superior Court, is head of the Ku Klux Klan in North Carolina. The assertion calls forth much comment from the press of North Carolina, especially from the Greensboro Daily News, whose editorial writers have for some time waged a warm and not wholly ineffectual fight against the Klan in this State. "There is no telling," says the News, "what the Rev. Dr. Haywood has done for the Ku Klux, but he comes mighty near fixing Judge-elect Grady, unless the judge does some nimble side-stepping."

The News says further that "a man cannot be at one and the same time an honest judge and an honest member of the Ku Klux. To become a member of the Klan he must take a preposterous oath to support the Klan authorities and defend them against all opponents; he must swear, likewise, to render assistance under any and all circumstances to a brother klanman in distress; most demanding of all, he must swear to oppose the spread of influence of Jews, Catholics and negroes. If a man is to keep those oaths honestly, he cannot at the same time keep the oath of a judge; for a judge must swear to uphold the constitutions and laws of the state of North Carolina and the United States, and to recognize no other authority; he must swear to administer justice without partiality, against a klanman as rigidly as against anybody else; he must swear to recognize no distinction in his court on account of race, color, or religion—in other words, he must swear to uphold the rights of Jews, Catholics and negroes as vigorously as he upholds anybody else's rights.

"A Ku Klux judge would find himself sworn to give first allegiance to Simmons and also first allegiance to the government; sworn to prefer fellow-klanmen above all others and also sworn to prefer no man above others; sworn to be intolerant of Jews, Catholics and negroes and also sworn to be tolerant of all races and creeds, including Jews, Catholics and negroes. No honest man can take two such oaths, for no man can keep them both.

"Haywood has named his man. He says that Henry Grady, of Sampson county, recently elected to the Superior court bench, is head of the Ku Klux in this state. It is to be hoped that Judge-elect Grady will instantly repudiate any connection with the organization; for if he attempted to go on the bench with such a stain on his reputation his usefulness as a judge would be destroyed before he assumed office."

Then the Raleigh Evening Times remarks:

"So long as Rev. Dr. Oscar Haywood of New York stuck to generalities about the leadership of the Ku Klux and contented himself with admitting his own responsibility in this connection, most of us were willing to let him and Dr. John Roach Straton fight it out; but when he names Judge-elect Henry A. Grady of Clinch as head of the Klan in North Carolina the time has passed for watchful waiting.

"If Mr. Grady is not a klanman he should promptly enter an action against Dr. Haywood charging libel; if he is a klanman, then Governor Hovverson is wrong about the situation in North Carolina being under control.

"What can be done about it, we don't know. But if Mr. Grady will admit Klan membership, we believe there is somebody somewhere in the State with the ability and courage to start impeachment proceedings at the coming session of the General Assembly, if Grady takes the oath of office as judge.

"For make no mistake about this: for reasons of sentiment a considerable portion of the population of this State may be more or less in sympathy with the avowed head of organization of the Klan, but there are mighty few who will on second thought be willing to concede a judge of the Superior Court the right to belong to a secret society which insists that it has the right to supersede the courts.
