The town and city folk have the theatres, casional Lyceum attractions but the farmers have few if any of these forms of entertainment and diversion hence, our belief that more radio sets will be found eventually in their omes. In addition to the musical and other programs of that nature, the farmer can receive the daily market atter from all uparters of the country. Then, too' at evening his little ones may be lulled to sleep by the bedtime stories.

ROGER BABSON'S KEY TO PROSPERITY

(From The Birmingham News) In shattering the American busi ness idea, rather generally held nowadays that business passes through cortain fixed cycles of prosperity and depression, Roger Babson is doing for ground for the asumption that for two or three years there will be an expansion of business followed by two or three or five years in which this country will practice a policy of retrenchment-a cycle of prosperity and then a cycle of adversity. The economic wizard has no patience with these people who believe they are sharks in predicting the burgeoning of good times and the depression of hard times. "There is absolutely nothing in the idea," declares Mr. tempts to have his plans thereon will probably ruin the enterprise for which he is responsible." He proceeds to offer an illustration: "The real meaning of the business cycle is reached by comparing it with electricity. Call prosperity electric power and suppose that you are entitled to 10,000 kilowatt hours. If you run your outfit at 10 kilowatts you you last only 10 hours. Or you can compromise at 100 kilowatts and last 100 hours. The word business cycle' is really not the word to use. 'Cycle' implies time. It is area or mass which Accordingly, then, America can put way her fears about some National rand then today to 886 a million or alamity that may come tomorrow or the day after or five or 10 years hence, if she will but expand and be bought today for a dollar would grow legitimately. What Babson is doing is reading a sermon to both big and little business that believes it can eat its cake and have it too; that believes it can get out of a proposition measurably more than it contributes in some commodity.
