

LATEST IN FORD SERVICE COMPANIES

With your kind permission, below we'd like to direct your attention to the latest in Ford Service stations. It is the Ford Service Company with home offices in Dunn, and may not be exactly what you think it is.

It deals in industrial editions, advertising, publicity and circulation extension. But at a pinch we are confident that it could change a tire, mend a blow-out or grind a valve with the best of them.

By way of the letter-head we learn that the company is composed of Byron Ford, John E. Ford, Charles H. Ford, Robert H. Ford, M. E. Ford, Thomas E. Ford, and Myron Ford, Jr. With the exception of M. E. Ford, who is Byron Ford's niece and the treasurer of the company, and Myron Ford, Jr., who has never reached the age of general-purpose labor, the Fords are brothers all.

Byron, et al., who from the prominence given his name would appear to be chairman, president or whatever the directing head is called, announces his intention of spending the most of his time in North Carolina and to place the opportunities of real service to the small publisher before a breath-holding public. Just now he is doing the same at Dunn.

We heartily commend the idea of a home-made concern with a North Carolina home office doing as much of this sort of thing—a. e., industrial editions and circulation extension—as may be required. Any small publisher or big who engages the Ford Service Company may be sure that its president will never get out of causing rage if anything goes wrong. He's in and out of Dunn always, a post-card, draft or telephone call will almost always "in generally" reach him there.

Is he any good at advertising and publicity—the other two lines he carries in stock?

Well, you see how much advertising he has got out of us without money and without price—Raleigh Times.

BOTTLING PLANT AT HIGH POINT BURNED

High Point, March 28.—Fire here yesterday destroyed the bottling and ice cream plant of the local branch of the Arctic Ice and Coal Company causing a loss estimated at $30,000, fully covered by insurance. The origin of the blaze has not been determined.

FIRE DESTROYS COTTON AT ALBERMARLE STATION

Albemarle, March 28.—A fire broke out at the cotton platform here this afternoon about 5 o'clock which destroyed about sixty bales of cotton belonging to A. C. Heath. The loss is estimated at $4,000 and is fully covered by insurance. It is thought that the cotton caught from a spark from a passing train as the platform is located near to the railroad track.

DURHAM - BARBOUR

Benson, March 28.—Announcements as follows have been issued: "Mrs. Julia A. Barbour requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter, Myrtle Rebecca, to Mr. Harvey Chester Durham, on Thursday evening, the 5th of April at half after seven o'clock, Baptist church, Benson, North Carolina."

"At home after the fifteenth of April, Enfield, North Carolina."

"ANOTHER WAR COMING," MAN JUMPS TO DEATH

Asheville, March 28.—"There's another war coming," were the last words uttered by an unidentified man as he jumped from a trestle to his death near Clinton yesterday. His body was recovered last night after a party of Haywood County citizens had dragged the stream for eight hours.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TO VISIT AT ASHEVILLE

Asheville, March 28.—Attorney General Daugherty, now on a vacation in Florida, has accepted an invitation by Fred L. Sealey of the Grove Park Inn to visit Asheville and will arrive here the first of April, according to a dispatch received by the Citizen last night from St. Petersburg, Fla.

CONGRESSMAN TYSON DIES

Washington, March 28.—The death of Representative John Tyson of Alabama at Rochester, Minn., was announced here in a telegram received by the clerk of the House from Mr. Thayer's secretary.

INSTALLING LAUNDRY MACHINERY

E. D. Hood arrived Monday from his former home at Norfolk, Va., to install the machinery for the Dunn Family Laundry, located on Fayetteville and Vance streets, next to the Dunn Ice and Fuel company. The new clean laundry will be under the management of Mr. Hood, who is said to be an experienced laundress. It is expected that the laundry will be ready for operation by April 15.

KEYS TO KINSTON JAIL MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEAR

Kinston, March 28.—The deepest mystery the police here had in years troubled the whole force and the city hall employes here. The all keys were gone. There were four sets of the keys and every solitary key disappeared. The police did not have a clue.

The motive was as much a mystery as the whereabouts of the keys. There was only one prisoner in the municipal prison, an inebriate individual named Shepherd. Shepherd was as innocent as a shorn sheep, for he was locked up and he wasn't any hoodlum. In fact, a hack saw had to be used to release him.

NEGRO PREACHER GIVEN TERM ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Raleigh, March 28.—John Moore, negro drayman-preacher, walked up to a policeman here Sunday afternoon and displayed a half pint of liquor. He told the officer he had purchased the fluid from another negro, Joe Freeman. Moore was promptly arrested for having liquor in his possession.

Moore and Freeman were tried in city court yesterday. Moore was sentenced to 90 days on the county roads and Freeman was acquitted. Judge Dunn said he was of the opinion that Moore was attempting to "frame" Freeman on account of a row the two negroes had some time ago.

Moore's sentence was the most drastic that had been imposed in city court under the provision of the Tullington act against possession.

Daily Market News for Farmers A Possibility Through Radio

Radio Receiving Equipment in Farm Houses Will Bring Crop Prices to Farmer's Very Ear.

Radio has presented to the world the possibility of putting an end to the isolated farm. No matter how far from cities the farms may be, they need no longer be out of touch with events, with the latest news, especially the latest market news. The farmer who has a radio receiving set in his farm house can obtain the latest information about market prices for his crops. He can obtain this information daily—or rather nightly—just in time for him to prepare his plans for the next day's operations.

What are the city markets paying for wheat, for potatoes, for turnips, for lettuce, for rice? Not the price last week—which is sometimes the best his weekly newspaper can give him—but the price that very day, almost that very minute?

Put on your radio ear-piece and "listen in." The radio will tell you these very things, these market prices, while you listen.

Never before was such a thing possible. Therefore, it is small wonder that radio prophets predict the speedy day when all progressive farms will be hooked up with the rest of the world by radio. It will mean cold cash in the farmer's pocket.

For information of the sort mentioned means money if it can be promptly received.

The experiments made by WGY, the big radio broadcasting station of the General Electric Company at Schenectady, N. Y., in sending out reports on markets, beginning with stock market quotations, and broadening to include other markets, have been met with a favorable reception. As time goes on the demand will doubtless increase. And the service to be given will be further broadened to meet the call for it.

The radio will give the farmer what he has not previously been able to obtain—a semblance of a daily newspaper.

Japan Likes Electricity
In 1922 there were 500 electric light and power companies in Japan, delivering 50,000 kilowatts of energy; in 1918 there were 2,400, delivering 1,200,000 kilowatts. In this matter of electrical growth Orient and Occident are alike—and extension, not limitation, is the diplomatic watchword.

Improving the Boils
Japanizing ovens, electrically heated, are now used by numerous automobile factories, as well as other industries. Such ovens will bake anything requiring the treatment from cores to dolls' heads. The race of dolls especially is improving by electric treatment.
