

NO

No is not the shortest word in the English language. It is the condensed Declaration of Independence of the human soul. It is the central citadel of character, and can remain impregnable forever. It is the only path to reformation. It is the steam-gauge of strength, the barometer of temperance, the electric indicator of moral force. It is an automatic safety-first device. It has saved more women than all the knights of chivalry. It has kept millions of young men from going over the Niagara Falls of drunkenness, profligacy and passion. It is the up-down portcullis and barred gate of the castle of self-respect. It is the high fence that preserves the innocence of the innocent. It is the thick wall of the home, keeping the father from folly, the mother from indelicacy, the boys from ruin, and the girls from shame. It is the one word that you can always say when you can't think of anything else.

It is the one answer that needs no explanation. Say it and mean it. Say it and look your man in the eye.

Say it, and don't hesitate. A good round NO is the most effective of known shells from the human bowitzer. In the great Parliament of Life the Noes have it. The value of any yes you utter is measured by the number of noes banked behind it. Live your own life. Make your own resolutions. Mark your own program. Aim at your own work. Determine your own conduct. And plant all around these an impregnable hedge of noes, with the jaggedest, sharpest thorns that grow.

The no-man progresses under his own steam. He is not led about and pushed around by officious tugboats. The woman who can say no carries the very best insurance against the fire, tornadoes, earthquakes, and accidents that threaten womankind.

Be soft and gentle as you please outwardly, but let the center of your soul be a NO, as hard as steel.—Selected.

FIRST CALL FOR FAIRS

With our continued agricultural progress, our community, county, district, and state fairs will become more and more inspiring and instructive. Let's not overlook the fact that it is the exhibitor who is benefitted most by the fair—not the exhibitor who waits until the last day or two and then throws together a lot of stuff and rushes it off to the fair, but he who lays his plans far ahead and raises or grows something to exhibit, studying premium lists and score cards and making himself familiar with the ideals and standards of excellence for each crop or animal that he grows.

"What can I exhibit?" someone asks. The answer is the simplest. What do you produce and what else can you produce? Name these over and you have the answer.

Fair premium lists should be in the hands of exhibitors a year in advance of the fair dates. If you have or can get last year's premium list, this will be a great help in deciding on exhibits for next fall, but it is better to write to the secretaries of the fairs you are interested in and request copies of their 1923 lists.—The Progressive Farmer.

A JOB SUGGESTED TO THE K. K. K.

(Stempen Democrat) Last week we cited the case of the McDaniels township woman who was frightened into insanity by the mob that seized her husband, but we inadvertently stated that she has recovered under the county physician's treatment. The day after the Democrat came out, application was made for her admission to the State Hospital and the witnesses signing the application, we are informed, describe as the cause of her mental collapse the fright that she was given by the devils who invaded her premises and seized her husband. It will be recalled that she had just become a mother and that her father had just died when the mob mistreated her husband. She leaves five little children at home, one a babe in arms. And this is one of the hundreds of tragedies that are resulting from the proachment of the Ku Klux Klan crusade. If the Ku Klux of Stempson county wants a job, one conforming to their professed regard for the law and in keeping with their supposed ability as detectives, let them bring to justice the men who have sent a mother to the asylum and left five children without a mother's ministrations.

TO MAKE PEANUT BUTTER

- 1. Shell the peanuts. 2. Roast just enough so that hulls slip off easily. 3. Remove hulls by gently rolling, fanning and sifting. 4. Grind very fine in any sort of mill, passing through several times if necessary. 5. Pack in cans, bottles or jars and seal if not for immediate use. 6. It is improved by the addition of a little salt and a small quantity of olive oil. 7. For small quantities a good meat grinder will answer the purpose. 8. If salt and ground fine enough an additional oil will be needed.—The Progressive Farmer.

CHAMPION MARATHON DANCER IN HOSPITAL

Wilmington, May 8.—J. P. Lewis, winner of the marathon dancing contest that was stopped by the chief of police on instructions from Mayor James H. Cowan, Saturday midnight is now undergoing treatment in James Walker Memorial Hospital. His condition is not regarded as being serious, as it was stated at the hospital tonight, as it was reported at the institution that "Mr. Lewis walked in and he is able to walk out any time he wants to" and Thomas Shepherd, manager of the pavilion, awarded him 25 per cent of the gate receipts, or approximately $170. Lewis is now champion marathon dancer of North Carolina.

LEAVES ESTATE TO FOUND WOMAN'S HOME

Greensboro, May 8.—The will of Mrs. Ella C. Taylor, of this city, who died in a hospital here Friday, filed in the office of the clerk of court of Guilford county here today leaves all her property with the exception of $500 each bequeathed to two sons and two daughters for founding and maintaining a home for aged women, to be known as the "Ella C. Taylor Home for Aged Women." No report on the estate accompanies the will, but it is estimated at a substantial sum. The Greensboro Bank and Trust Company is made a trustee. It is specified that the home be founded here.

GIVE US MEN

The Scottish Rite Trowel, published at Savannah, Georgia, prints in its current issue the following trenchant petition:

- God, Give us men! A time like this demands Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands; Men whom the lust of office does not kill; Men whom the spoils of office cannot bury; Men who possess opinions and a will; Men who have honor, men who will not lie; Men who can stand before a demagogue And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking; Tall men, sun crowned, who live above the fog In public duty and in private thinking For while the rabble with their thumb worn creeds, Their large profession and their little deeds, Mingle in selfish strife, lo! Freedom weeps, Wrong rules the land and waiting Justice sleeps.

A MODEL ADVERTISER

Our advertisers will be interested in a clipping which The Dispatch recently received from the Division of Publication of the Agricultural Extension Service at Raleigh. It is believed that the method of attracting attention to goods for sale as exemplified by Defoe in his tale about Robinson Crusoe could be well followed by some of our advertisers: "Robinson Crusoe was both a pioneer and successful advertiser. True, there were no newspapers at that time, but he knew the value and necessity of attracting attention to his important business, and that without the support of others his venture would prove a failure. He also believed in changing his 'copy' often, so when his first flag (a shirt) was whipped to pieces by the wind and weather Crusoe put another garment on the pole, and he kept at it until he got what he wanted; a ship. "Suppose he had stopped with the failure of his first flag, as some merchants do with one advertisement, on the plea that advertising doesn't pay. Crusoe would have returned to dust and it would have been scattered upon the waters and lost. The moral is: Put out your signal and keep changing its style. In other words, use your local newspapers regularly and systematically and you will get what you want and deserve."—Clinton Democrat.

Lower The Cost Of Dressing Well! When we speak of dressing better, most men think we mean spending more. We don't. We simply mean buying the suit that fits you better, becomes your type of figure, gives you that well-groomed look. And your size in a Kirschbaum suit will do it—at a very moderate cost. A suit owes you this: kind of a suit—one good style, comfort, service, a full return for instance—pays this debt. Pays it cost. And the right always and in full. $30 to $45 E. L.
