Entered at the postoffice at Dunn, N. C., as second-class matter.

After all, it is the "stickers" who lose on Wall street.

A welcome to celebrate July 4 with Dunn awaits you. Come along.

We've had a hunch that this weather is not pleasing to the boll weevil family.

And each succeeding electrocution brings forth more female witnesses thereto.

Hot weather came with June, and has remained with it for 29 days, and so did dry weather.

Word comes from Washington that the boll weevil is to be controlled by the airplane. Foolish talk, that's all.

Henry Ford has, he says, discovered a plan "to make oval hurns twice." Oh, that he would do the same for gasoline!

See by the papers that President Harding harvested wheat in the West, but the question is: Will he harvest the Western votes?

A car load of lime was dumped into the Neuse river when a freight train was wrecked near Smithfield Monday. We wonder if the Neuse fish tribe heard about it.

State Treasury Ben Lacy has succeeded in borrowing for the State of North Carolina $5,000,000, to be used in highway work. He also secured a sixty-day option on $10,000,000 more. It appears that States (North Carolina at least) can borrow even when "money is tight."

Western North Carolina, incorporated, is the name of a new organization, which has for its purpose the advertising of that section of the Old North State. Col. Joseph Hyde Pratt has been selected to head the organization, and no doubt the outside world will hear more about "The Land of the Sky" than it has been accustomed to hear.

Reminders

Signs painted in red ink and reading "State Law. Stop!" have been placed at every road crossing in North Carolina. The signs have been placed for the purpose of calling attention of the automobile public to the fact that on and after July 1 it will be a violation of the law to drive across a railroad without first coming to a full stop. This law was passed by the last General Assembly, and if enforced will serve to lessen the number of crossing accidents. While the law is not likely to prove popular with speed demons, it will be treated with respect by those who have regard for safety. It is a law that should prove a life-saver.

We Beg To Differ

There are those who would censure the press for printing detailed stories of how the State goes about the task of sniffing out the lives of men—men who have been tried in the courts and found guilty of capital offenses. With these we would differ. The horrors of the scene are witnessed by only a small per cent of the State's population, while the word-pictures are read by hundreds of thousands. Fear of meeting like fate should tend to keep down the crimes which lead to capital punishment. If men are to be killed and the killing kept secret from the world, then capital punishment loses its influence for checking crime. Inasmuch as men are required to pay the supreme penalty for committing certain crimes in North Carolina, we think it right and proper that the press reveal the horrors to the public.

The Farmer Loses

Not until the farmers of North Carolina reach the point that they can operate on a cash basis will the agricultural life of the State reach its best. It is estimated that North Carolina farmers contract annually debts totaling $200,000,000, or an average of more than $200 for every farmer in the State. This amount includes money borrowed from the banks, mortgages and credit extended by time merchants. A large per cent of the debts made by farmers of Eastern North Carolina are for things that they should produce at
