America, the country would be overrun with foreigners, many of whom would not make desirable citizens. To their discredit, many who have come to this country already for protection and liberty would gladly see the government which offers that protection and liberty overturned. Every person born in America should thank God for it.

Outside Capital

In an address delivered before the Kiwanis club at Lenoir Friday, Angus Wilton McLean, of Lumberton, said some of the towns in North Carolina have made their greatest mistake by waiting for outside capital to come in and develop the resources. That is a true statement, and we believe that Dunn is numbered among the towns that have depended too much on outside capital. A survey of the best industrial towns in the State will show that their industries were built largely by home capital. Take McLean's home town of Lumberton, for instance. The town is no richer than Dunn, and yet the five large cotton manufacturing plants there are owned exclusively by people living in and around the town.

Very few towns succeed in inducing outside capital, and we believe that it is best for a town that its industries be owned and operated by the home folks. If the industrial plants are owned by outside capital, then the local people have no hand or say in their operation. Every business man in Dunn will tell you that he favors more industrial plants, which mean a larger pay roll. Yet very few want them had enough to help finance their erection. But let some outsider come along with a stock-selling scheme and many there be who are ready to take a good-sized "chunk."

DUKE NEWS

(By Wade H. Lucas.) Duke, July 9.—Excitement ran at fever heat here for about an hour Sunday night, when a strange mad dog made its appearance, causing a reign of terror wherever it went. Almost a score of dogs were bitten by the creature, when the canines would dash out in an effort to hinder the mad dog's rampage. Men and boys armed with almost every conceivable kind of weapon joined in the chase, while unarmed unfortunate betook themselves to places of safety, where they looked on. Probably more than twenty-five shots were fired at the dog, but none took effect. In the vicinity of the cafe the posse lost the mad dog and started in to firing upon another dog, which closely resembled the mad one, and pursued the poor animal for three blocks, finally one charge taking effect, causing the dog severe flesh wounds. Thereafter no trace of the real mad canine could be found, but this morning back to his house again last night after the chase ceased and attacked his dog, which had already been bitten in the first lap the mad animal made.

With one man on base in the eighth inning Saturday in the game between the Second Field Artillery, Fort Bragg, and Duke, pitcher Wolfe, of Bragg, cracked the ball over the fence, winning the game for his team. Duke was ahead at this time, the score being 6 to 5, but Wolfe's homer made the final count 7 to 6. The locals played ragged ball afield, three runs being scored on a single hit. It was a regular home-run day with two of the Braggies getting homers, while Parker secured a round-trip ticket in the fourth inning, knocking the ball over the rightfield fence. McKay and Smith led the hitting for Duke with two bingles each, and Pulson and Wolfe led their teammates in hitting.

BUSINESS TREND MORE FAVORABLE

Accompanying these changes came a marked easing in the pressure of liquidation which had been apparent in the chief speculative markets. A certain amount of selling, both by tired longs and traders on the short side were apparent in the stock market during the early part of the week but the volume was not comparable to that of the week before and the tone grew steadier as the week closed. It was generally considered in the financial district that the necessity for liquidation had diminished and that bearish traders were less inclined to pursue their activities. Cotton Gives Ground Similar conditions prevailed in the cotton market. Monday's government crop estimate reported a greater increase in acreage than had been expected and in addition a slightly higher condition and larger yield. There was a feeling that the 11,412,000 bales which the Department of Agriculture forecast may turn out to be somewhat in excess of the actual crop. Nevertheless, cotton was sold rather freely on the report and gave ground readily. Before the week closed, however, a substantial recovery occurred. Wheat remained quiet with the price of the July future fluctuating around $1.03. The trade is expecting tomorrow's government estimate to show a total yield of about 835,000,000 bushels.

Distinct Easing in Money Market And Steadier Tone in Stock Exchange New York, July 8.—Unusual events such as the turn of the half year, the early July holidays and an advance in the Bank of England's discount rate, were dominating in the financial markets of the past week. Passage of the July 1 settlements resulted, as had been anticipated, in a distinct easing in the money market, call money on the New York Stock Exchange lending as low as four per cent. Meanwhile, the weekly Federal Reserve statement showed that member banks had borrowed heavily from the Reserve System, partly to secure currency to meet the July 4 travel demands and partly to provide the extra credit called for by the mid-year dividend disbursements and the like.

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF AN UNNAMED INFANT

Mount Airy, July 7.—The verdict rendered in the preliminary hearing of the case against Early Ashburn and Mrs. Posey Handy, charging murder of an unnamed infant, was the finding of probable cause, and both parties were bound over to superior court without bond. The mother of Mrs. Handy, Mrs. Nathan Thomas, and her husband, Posey Handy, were released.

Abducting Bridegroom—Eloped Caught in Texas

New Orleans, July 2.—Jimmie Kiffer, athlete, who disappeared just before he was to have been married, was reported found today in Timpan, Texas. The youth was located by the night marshal of the town, according to the local police, who had requested the assistance of all Louisiana and Texas cities and towns to be on the lookout for him. Telegrams were immediately sent to Timpan requesting that he be returned here. Kiffer disappeared after he and his intended bride had gone to communion together in the church where several hours later they were to have been married. He left here saying he was going for the wedding ring, and since then no trace of him here could be found. Several hundred invited guests and relatives gathered at the ceremony with plans for two hours for the return of the bridegroom.

Industrial Activity Reports from industrial districts showed a maintenance of a high rate of activities. Pig iron production in June, while slightly lower than the record-breaking May performance, exceeded that in any other month, the small falling off being accounted for by such factors as weather conditions. One more blast furnace was active on July 1 than at the start of the previous month and early July shut-downs were limited, for the most part to July four. Steel products were stated to be passing into consumption readily, consumers showing no disposition to avoid deliveries. Prices remained firm and the trade looked for a continuance of the present scale of operations.

New Car Record

Railroad car loadings again added their testimony to the maintenance of industrial momentum. The rate has now exceeded one million cars a week for five consecutive weeks, thus breaking the record in the fall of July, 1920, and exceeding by a considerable margin any performance made this season of the year. With regard to resumption of buying for forward delivery, which is the question which has been occupying the attention of the markets for some time, nothing new developed. It is still considered early, however, to forecast the trend of fall trade. The advance in the Bank of England's discount rate from 3 to 4 per cent was not considered inimical to the domestic situation.
