Many enterprises have come and hoys came here and established their low many concerns; twice fires have consumed their plant, But, through all adversities, they have come with flying colors.

It has been practically a quarter of a century since Newberry Bros. & Cowell opened their plant here. In that time there have been several other furniture ventures, but theirs is the only survivor. Good management is largely responsible, but there is more to it than that. The Newberrys have always striven to put the best into their products; and they
