HUNDREDS OF SMALL FISH FALL FROM SKY

St. Petersburg, Fla., July 19.—Hundreds of fish, ranging in size from four to six inches long, fell from the golf links of St. Petersburg Country club at Pasadena yesterday, when a waterspout estimated to have been more than a mile high broke on the eastern shore of Boca Ceiga Bay.

Two local fish companies sent out fish trucks to bring in the fish, but it was found they were so small. The majority were mullet, although a few small trout and bluefish were picked-up.

During a period of 20 minutes in a hard electrical storm, four big waterspouts were seen, three in Boca Ceiga Bay and one in the gulf.

METHODISTS TO MEET AT CAROLINA COLLEGE

Maxton, July 21.—"Meet me at Maxton" is the slogan of the Methodist Sunday school workers of the Rockingham district. Great plans are being made for the Rockingham District Standard Training School for Christian workers, August 6-11. The school is to be at Carolina College, Maxton. It is expected to surpass anything of its kind that has been held in the state. A splendid corps of standard instructors have been secured, and six different courses will be offered. Arrangements are being made to take care of three hundred or more.

The school is a continuation of the great program of leadership training so successfully promoted by the Demonstration Training School held at Carolina College last year. Aside from the courses of instruction and lectures of the mornings, a large part of the afternoons will be given to recreation—tennis, indoor baseball, croquet, etc. Those who attend the school and do the required work will receive credit.

FIRST BALE 1925 COTTON COMES FROM FLORIDA

Savannah, Ga., July 20.—The first bale of the new cotton was received at Savannah yesterday from Florida, having been grown in Lake county, and came from the point farthest south of any first bale. Last year the first bale was from Georgia, one day earlier than this year. Experts pronounced it the finest bale they ever saw; it graded officially as strict middling, of fine staple and preparation. It was received by Gordon and Company, and was sold at auction to Livingston Glover and Company, at 56 cents later in the day the bale was shipped by express to New York, where it is expected to arrive in time to be present at the opening of the new building of the New York cotton exchange on Monday morning. The purchasers state that the bale will be disposed of in New York and the proceeds donated to charity. The crop is late in this section, but some early cotton was planted in Florida and southern Georgia.

Recent weather conditions have been more favorable.

UNDERWOOD SOON TO ANNOUNCE HIS COURSE

Birmingham, Ala., July 20.—Senator Oscar W. Underwood will announce his course in the 1924 presidential campaign when he addresses the Alabama legislature in joint session on July 31, he told newspaper representatives on his return to Birmingham from Washington Friday afternoon. He arrived at 4:30 o'clock and was met by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lewis Underwood, and two newspaper representatives. He went immediately to his home in Highland avenue, where he discussed his European trip and conditions generally.

In declining to make any statement regarding the presidential race at present, the senator said he wished to discuss his status in Alabama with friends first.

GETTING Rich Too QUICK

THE "get-rich-quick" people too often get poor quick. They invest with the hope of more than a dollar's true return, and the possibility of gain obscures the probability of loss.

In this role as an impartial judge, the probability of loss is a very important factor which this bank considers in advising people on the subject of investment.
