Cotton picking time will soon be upon us, and you know what that means. Smile.

What has become of the man who said this was to be a summerless year? Hope he doesn't predict one with a summer.

So long as the Germans confine their fights to scrapping among themselves, it's not so bad. Yet that's not a healthy sign.

"When you have nothing to say, say it," seems to be one of the outstanding characteristics of the new President. And, that's not bad.

The nation-wide tribute paid the late President showed plainly that America is closely united, regardless of section, politics or creed.

The fact that Clarence Saunders took the Wall street chance and lost $9,000,000 in a day should prove a warning to others. But will it?

Clarence Saunders, founder of the Piggly Wiggly stores, says a day in Wall street cost him $9,000,000. Quite a financial blunder, we'd call it.

Late reports from the State Capital would lead one to believe that A. J. Maxwell is likely to take the place of J. W. Bailey as a "generally considered candidate for governor." The time is not so far distant when we shall know.

Picking Grapes. Hugging and kissing young girls in what he termed "a Christian spirit" seems to have gotten Rev. J. L. Waldrep into a world of trouble while conducting a revival at Coopersville, N. C.

Let's Find The Way. When we came to Dunn six months ago the two outstanding needs of the town were a hospital and a hotel. The hospital has been provided, but Dunn is still in need of a modern hotel.

If Money Counts. Not long since we read in the papers a story to the effect that bricklayers in New York were paid $20 a day for their labor. More recently we read an ad in a North Carolina daily in which plasterers were offered $12.25 and hour.

Most Diverse. Southern county farmers are said to be turning their attention to tobacco growing. That has long been noted as one of the best cotton counties in the South.

farmer who grows both cotton and tobacco usually makes money on at least one of the two crops each year.

A number of farmers living in the Dunn district planted tobacco this year largely as an experiment. While it is yet too early to determine the financial results of their experiment, they have proven that the lands around Dunn will produce bright tobacco.

A MOST ATTRACTIVE SHOW WINDOW DISPLAY. Most of the local merchants have splendid show windows and frequently some very effective and catchy window advertising is seen in them.

Mr. Goldstein, who is always ready with his time, talent and organization to boost any community enterprise, offered one of his two windows, free of charge, to the Home Building & Loan Association to advertise the opening of their sixth series of stock.

A log cabin is shown nestling in a pine grove besides a winding country road. The pine straw, the sandy road, the well with the old fashioned sweep and stone curb with a few scattered pine trees, make this a most realistic scene.

This is an effective bit of unique and clever advertising and one that will drive home that idea of every man owning his own home, and in this way making his community better and himself a better citizen.

Let every citizen own his own home and all these dangerous bolshevik and socialistic ideas now prevalent in our country will vanish like mist.

A Law Crazy Nation. (From The Tampa Tribune) Law crazy? This country is not merely going law crazy, it is law crazy! And this craze is at the bottom of most of its discontent and economic ills.

From a Republic, which is a popular government conducted by the representative system, we first degenerated into a democracy through demagogic appeal, and now stand on the verge of seeing the whole beautiful and sound structure taken into the maw of an office holding autocracy!

Unless sensible men come to the rescue we shall have a government of law, with a statute, governing our every action. How short are we of that status now? And is there anything in sight capable of being diagrammed as "sensible men?"

ENDS HIS LIFE WHEN WIFE ASKS FOR MONEY. Greensboro, Aug. 15.—Rosell T. Winstead, aged 22, of this city, hanged himself in a garage at the rear of the residence in which he lived here this morning.

He was below the safety wire away from the crowd, and being unable to swim and unfamiliar with the river, it is believed that he waded into deep water and was carried down by the current before he could give the alarm.

He was seen from the diving tower by Joe Burke, a Maxton boy, who made a noble attempt to save the young boy's life, swimming to him quickly and in a few minutes had him out of the water. Although a physician was immediate in attendance, all efforts to resuscitate the unfortunate boy were hopeless.
