New Hay to Tell It

IT HAVT BE FUNNY THEN

Some of the boys coming back from North and South Carolina say that some people there call the Georgia boys boll weevils. Some boll weevil boys will be leaving South Carolina about next year.—Banks County Journal.

A Strenuous Solesm Thought

While Georgia solons are wrestling with the problem of finding more things to tax, it is interesting to note that Florida is discounting its bills and has a working capital of a quarter to a half million in the treasury.—Tifton Gazette.

Give the Devil His D's

G. Nash Morton objects to the way "newspapers and writers generally have of belittling the Devil by spelling his name with a small 'd'." He is an individual with a most distinguished personality, and if anybody is entitled to a capital 'D' he is. A capital suggestion, in two ways, and this column assures Mr. Morton that hereafter we'll give the Devil his dues. It's about time, for Satan's family is increasing at an enormous rate.—Rome News-Tribune.

Those were the Happy Days

Frequently we hear the foregoing expression from the mouth of the man who now rides in his $2,500 touring car instead of a $150 buggy as of yore. He speaks of the days, perhaps, when mother broke her back over the old-fashioned wash tub; when father accomplished his morning ablutions at the pump trough; when little sister suddenly contracted the dread diphtheria and he had to ride four or five miles to get the doctor who had never heard of anti-toxin. Possibly he referred to the time when it required days, even weeks, to inform loved ones of the invasion of the Angel of Death: when journeys were made on horseback or a bouncing stage. Days when the young swain, after toiling weary hours with the hoc six days a week, took his best girl riding on Sunday and enjoyed it—sure, they enjoyed themselves—they were drugged and they were happy.

But today, the mother is not the less happy in the possession of a power washer and an electric iron; father has had installed a modern hot water system, and at night, instead of straining the eyes in the dim light of a tallow candle, we read the news of yesterday of thousands of miles away, by the bright rays of an electric light.

When little sister or brother is taken ill, we call the doctor on the telephone and he jumps into his auto and in a moment he is at the bedside ready to administer the serum, which in the great majority of cases effects the cure and saves a life. Today we telegraph our loved ones in emergency and in an hour or two, even though the width of a continent lives between, they have heard our news—good or bad. They rush to us on cushioned seats on fast flying steam or electric trains. The happy country boy flies over the well-paved roads with his sweetheart whose father now operates modern agricultural implements.

Friends, these are the happy days.—Coyers Times.

Half Starved Dog Watches Over Master

Merksville, Ind., Aug. 20.—A half starved dog who had kept vigil over his master for three days, Sunday led a searching party to the woods where the body of Stevens Harris, 19-years-old, was found pierced by a load of shot from a gun which he had carried, and apparently discharged when he tripped and fell.

Sidney Harris, father of the boy, left home Thursday morning to gather moss. About noon the boy was sent with his father's lunch his dog followed. When he failed to reach the place where the elder Harris was working, the parent went home and learned his son had been gone for several hours. Neighbors joined with the father in a search.

Minister Arrested For Moonshining

Johnson City, Tenn., Aug. 22.—Rev. J. P. Hobson, Baptist minister, his son, Isaac, and a nephew, Harlow Hobson, were arrested early this morning by Federal Prohibition agents, when found operating a moonshine distillery near their home in Carter county, about 20 miles south of this point. The 50 gallon still in operation at the time, with 20 gallons of corn whiskey on hand. The three operators, with David G. Outge, an assistant, were given a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Williams at Elizabethtown and their bond fixed at $1,000 each. The elder Hobson was released after securing the bond, while the other three were remanded to jail to await trial in the Federal court.
