Willford - Pope

Miss Gladys Pope, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Willie Pope, was married Saturday evening to Theodor Willford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Willford. The ceremony was performed in some town north of Dunn, the happy young couple continuing on their way to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where the bridegroom will return to a position he resigned several months ago when he came South to visit his parents.

The bride was attending the Falcon Camp Meeting with her parents when she and Mr. Willford decided to marry. There was some parental objection which prompted them to seek some other town for the performance of the ceremony.

The father of the bridegroom was notified Sunday that the young folks were married and was requested to forward his son's baggage. Mr. Willford was not informed, however, where the ceremony was performed. The message came from Selma and it is presumed that the marriage was solemnized there or at Smithfield.

The bride is one of the most popular and accomplished young women of the Dunn District. Her husband is an excellent young man who has many friends in and around Dunn.

Hundreds Of Dollars For Mill Pond Fish

At one o'clock Tuesday, according to Mr. Fleet Sessoms, who with Rev. T. H. King, was on the ground, $200 had been paid out for fish caught when Sheriff McLamb's mill pond was drained. The fish were mostly chubs and jacks, and were whoppers. Mr. Sessoms said he saw them sell as high as $3.00 each, but they were too high for the Clinton gentlemen, who can buy a mess from Mossette for thirty cents. Those chubs were of the breed Roscoe Butler expects to raise in his big pond, and he is not missing it so far when he says that he will raise a $1000 worth of fish every three years, if they should sell as did these McLamb jacks and chubs. There was actually one fish, we are told, that weighed sixteen pounds.

EXPECT 25,000 BALES THIS YEAR

Local Cotton Yard Has Been Put In First Class Condition

How much cotton will be sold and pooled in Dunn from the crop of 1923?

This is a question that local business men are studying and debating. A total of 18,000 bales were sold on the open market here last year, while several thousand bales were pooled by members of the Co-operative Marketing Association. Conservative estimates place the number of bales expected this year at 25,000.

Anticipating one of the best years in the history of the local market, W. T. Royal, public cotton weigher, has put the local cotton yards in good condition for handling the crop. A coat of clinkers and cinders have been hauled on the yard and a new weighing platform has been built.

Two bales of cotton were sold here last week. As was stated in Friday's Dispatch, Elliot Spears, negro tenant who farms for Arthur Pope, of Dunn, brought in the first bale on Wednesday of last week. Saturday the second bale for the season was brought to market by Jason M. Lee, who lives 5 miles east of Dunn. The cotton graded middling and was sold to the Johnson Cotton Co. for 25 cents the pound. The first bale sold on the local market last year brought 20 cents the pound.

Cotton is opening rapidly in many fields and by the end of the week it is expected that several bales will be marketed daily.

OFFICER ADAMS HAS 'BEST' DAY

Captured Four Big Stills And Arrested Eight Men Last Friday

Four large whiskey stills were captured and eight men caught in the act of operating them were arrested Friday by A. D. Adams, local prohibition agent. Mr. Adams considers this one of the "best day's work" he has accomplished since he has been serving in the capacity of special prohibition agent, and not one of the operators escaped the officer.

Two of the stills were found set up close together in Onslow county. The four men engaged in operating the two stills and placed under arrest were: E. A. and T. G. Horne, Henry Williams and T. M. Bryant. The stills were made of copper and had a capacity of 40 gallons each.

The other two stills were found in Duplin county and these were together, with four men engaged in operating them. The men arrested at these stills were: Lib. Jake, Lewis and John Edwards. These were made of two 60-gallon steel drums.

Besides the stills and men, approximately 10 gallons of whiskey and 300 gallons of beer were captured.

Town Jail Had Many Week-End Visitors

A wave of law and order violation followed close upon the heels of the "crimeless wave" mentioned in Friday's Dispatch, and as a result the local jail house was filled to its capacity during the week-end. Local officers made nine arrests Saturday night and eight of that number were locked up in default of bond.

The arrests followed the inauguration of a "clean up" drive by local officers, and the drive is to be continued, according to Chief of Police B. A. Rowland. The charges against those arrested included that of possessing whiskey for the purpose of sale, fights and immoral conduct.

AMERICANS LIKE BOTTLED DRINKS

Every Year They Empty Four Billion Bottles Of Soft Drinks

History omits the description of many of the interesting things about Methuselah, among them his liquid capacity. But, says the Department of Agriculture, if he had been given the task of disposing of all the "pop" consumed in this country last year, he would have had to start at birth and down eight bottles every minute of his 996 year span of life.

Each year, the department's statistics declare, thirsty America empties four billion bottles of soft drinks, exclusive of such beverages as near beers made of cereals. The sparkling food comes from ten thousand bottling establishments and pours across 110,000 counters.

The enormous thirst quenching industry is a relatively new development, a commercializing of the discoveries of the chemist, and one that necessitates watchful care by the department chemists to prevent fracture of the pure food and drug laws. The "pop" of today, a department paper says, is not the same as that clear liquid formerly sold only at ball games, fairs and carnivals, reminiscent of over-ripe bananas, and with little delectation for the palate.

Had not great change occurred in the industry it is hardly possible that it could have reached its present proportions. Fruit juices are sometimes found in the beverages, it is said, but the chemist has supplied many substitutes which has a marvelous stimulation of nature's flavors and perfumes.
