

NOTICE OF TOWN OF HAZELWOOD STREET PAVING ASSESSMENT

The persons hereinafter named, and any and all other persons interested in property fronting on Main Street in the Town of Hazelwood, which has been created as special assessment district, will take notice that the report of the City Engineer has been deposited in the office of the Town Clerk of the Town of Hazelwood for inspection by parties interested which engineer's report sets out the amount assessed against the property on a basis of one-fourth total cost of said improvement, against the property owners on each side of said street, and the said parties will take notice that the Mayor and Board of Aldermen will meet at the Mayor's office in the Town of Hazelwood on the 4th day of January, 1927, 8 o'clock P. M., for the hearing of allegations and objections in respect to the special assessments, and any person dissatisfied with said report will file objections in writing under oath with the Town Clerk on or before said date.

The said property owners will further take notice that the said assessments shall be payable in ten equal installments, the first installment to be due upon confirmation of the assessment roll, which installments shall bear interest at the rate of 6% per annum from the date of the confirmation of the assessment roll; provided that the property owners may pay the said assessments in cash without interest before the expiration of thirty days after the publication of this notice.

The names of the owners, the frontage of their respective lots, and the proportionate cost assessed against the respective lots of said property owners are as follows:

Are You "Toxic?"

It Is Well, Then, to Learn the Importance of Good Elimination.

FUNCTIONAL inactivity of the kidneys permits a retention of waste poisons in the blood. Symptoms of this toxic condition are a dull, languid feeling, drowsy headaches and, sometimes, toxic backache and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning as they should is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many readers have learned the value of Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, in this condition. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

EVER since she had been a child she had thought that the postman was about the most interesting person in the world. He it was who brought all the letters and packages and papers and magazines, who always might be bringing any number of surprises.

To be sure, he often passed the house without leaving anything, but there was always the chance that he might bring anything.

At Christmas time he was the most wonderful sort of a person, with his bag filled with presents and cards and calendars and letters from friends she was sure would not forget her, and from friends she was so pleased had not forgotten her.

Sometimes he brought just the most delicious mail of all—sometimes he brought a fruit cake, or a box of candy that a friend of hers had made.

So it was that she, Minnie, had always loved postmen in general, and now it seemed as though she were being particularly fond of one postman in particular.

He was on their route and he often came in and chatted after the day's work was over.

She had gone to school with him and she had always liked him. The old postman was a dear—no matter how many bundles he was carrying at Christmas time he always seemed to be happy that his load was heavy, because it meant just that much more joy along the route.

But he had retired and now every Christmas they took his present to him and sat and chatted with him and with his wife, who always brought out her Christmas cake to be shared by all.

She had not been displeased when the school-day friend had been given this route.

Not displeased at all. Ray was tall and very good looking. She thought he looked so well in his postman's uniform. And certainly he seemed a little interested in her.

She was not displeased in this. Not displeased at all.

Christmas Day, he had said, there would be no mail delivery. So she was a little surprised to see him counting down the street and up the steps of their house.

"I wonder if we're going to have mail after all," she said to herself. It hadn't occurred to her that he was not in his postman's uniform, and that he was coming just to see her. To be sure, he stopped at her house when he was off duty, but she had never seen it before.

He was so much interested in her as that he enjoyed the whole family. She did belong to such a nice family, so jolly and cordial and friendly as they all were, and such fun.

And then it was all so clear, as they sat before the fire that Christmas afternoon, that he was interested in her—very, very much interested in her. More so than she had even thought or hoped or dreamed.

In fact, he told her all about it. And she was not displeased. Not displeased at all. Nor was he displeased. Not displeased at all.

For she agreed that to be a postman's wife was not such a bad idea and that, apart from everything else, it would be so particularly nice to know that the postman was going to come to one's house every single day in the whole year—to their own house.

And, as she said, it was such fun being engaged to a postman in the Christmas season.

He had not been too busy to think of her!

Large Christmas Trees
The white pines are best for community and church Christmas trees as their size is more adapted to larger spaces. The spruce is one of the most common of Christmas trees.

Guard Against Fire
Careful citizens keep a pallid of water handy under the highly inflammable Christmas tree.

BE VACCINATED

There have been and are at the present time a number of cases of small pox in Haywood County as well as other counties in the State.

Since the beginning of cold weather the number of cases in Waynesville Township and the adjoining townships has greatly increased Quarantine has proven a failure in its attempt to control smallpox. The quarantine law against the disease has been repealed. The only protection the citizens have is to be vaccinated.

Owing to the prevalence of the disease at the present time, I urgently recommend that both children and adults be vaccinated by your family physician.
