With the Rambler

Seen and heard here and there... Judge Winston walking along the street... renewing summer friendships... Sale signs all over the front of Massie's Dept. Store... Dr. Shearill, our latest medical addition... a graduate of Vanderbilt... A Great Smokies Tours bus pulls up in front of a local drug store... there are seven women in the party and one man, poor fellow... and if one of the women knew how she looked in plus fours she'd put on a dress... Children with their nurses at the little park below the LeFaine... Mrs. N. F. Lancaster in that sporty looking coupe of hers... Rev. H. W. Bacon with an arm full of clothes... and not the least bit subconscious... Miss Edna McKay going somewhere in a hurry... There was some difficulty about getting the benediction pronounced at the Lake last Sunday night... A tourist inquires the way to "Sylvia." The parking space in front of the lodge on Mt. Pisgah is crowded on Sunday afternoons... and the lunch stand does a thriving business... Since they have a fine baby girl the Felix Stovalls are arguing over who wanted a boy anyhow... That quiet looking little man with the grey mustache is the director of the orchestra in the Erlanger theater in Chicago.

Hearing the summer visitors discussing various beauty spots of the Southeast I am reminded of one which wasn't mentioned. The Rambler is not unkindful of the beauties of Silver Springs and Radium Springs. I've rambled thru the Valley of Virginia, around Miami and Palm Beach, I've strolled with unappreciative eyes thru the Ringling Museum of Art at Sarasota and watched youth and age play suffleboard at Orlando. I've crossed that famous bridge between Tampa and St. Pete and also entered St. Augustine from the shore drive from Daytona Beach. I've seen Camden at Charleston, I've admired Pinehurst and Southern Pines, but nothing has ever thrilled me like the sight of Washington, D. C., in the early hours of night. Next time you go there take U. S. Number 1, leave Richmond late in the afternoon and drive into Washington after dark.

It's interesting to speculate as to who will be the next to put up a "Rooms" sign. The town is full of them. Beginning with the Ernest Hyatts and the Bill Bradleys to the west of us the little signs appear in front of almost every house. And why not? Most of the housewives say it's fun and it brings in quite a bit of money in spite of the fact that the season is very short. For the next two months I'm going to lock the door to my room for fear that I'll come home and find it rented!

Waynesville singers are singing praises—praises for Mr. Lawrence G. Nilson, the musical director at Lake Junaluska. Mr. Nilson is from Atlanta, where he is director of music in the public schools. He is teaching the local musicians the difficult choruses of "Elijah" and the locals say he's better than good.

Incidentally rumor hath it that Van Preston, formerly mentioned in this column, went to one of the choral practices the other night and stole the show. Atta boy, Van! Mr. Preston has a remarkably clear and beautiful tenor voice and has studied under some of the finest teachers in America. Beard and voice, we welcome him.

Heard a fellow raising a howl about his job the other day. It seems that he only makes fifty cents a day, with no time off for lunch, and the place where he works doesn't serve a lunch for less than seventy-five cents. Unless he can get something else to do he's one man who would save money by loafing.

Dr. John Smathers trapped Parson Hardin as neatly as you please the other day. He asked Mr. Hardin if he'd heard about Nick Medford's accident. Mr. others are for violation of park rules said that he hadn't.

"Nick had three of his front teeth knocked out," said Dr. Smathers.
"How?" asked Mr. Hardin.
"He was singing 'The Old Spinning Wheel' and one of the spokes flew out and hit him in the mouth!"

Isn't It So?

The greatest pleasure of life in these modern times is to make some money, and then blow it in.

Five minutes actual experience sometimes changes your views more than a course of lectures.

Don't whip your boy for fighting at least till you see what reason he had for fighting. A boy who wouldn't fight when imposed on is going to have a hard time in the battle of life.

It is not certain that giving the women the ballot has improved matters but it has certainly not made things worse. Nobody ever thinks of repealing the equal suffrage law.

While some people are keeping themselves poor by buying everything they want, others are getting comfortably well off by learning to get along without buying things they want but can do just as well without.

Haywood Sunday School Convention Meets 16th

The Haywood County Sunday School Convention is to meet at the Clyde Methodist church on Tuesday, July 16th, at ten o'clock for an all-day session, according to Hawkins B. Freeman, vice-president of the organization. A service will be held at eight in evening, also, with the theme for the day being: "How to make our Sunday Schools Better Schools." Mr. Freeman said: "All denominations are to take part in the service. Bring your dinner with you and let's have a nice time all day. Bring your choir with you, and join in the singing. Singing has played a big part in Sunday school and church work. So come and let's exchange our thoughts and ideas on these matters."

Dad: "Did you ever give our daughter that copy of What Every Girl Should Know?"
Mother: (Despondently): "Yes, and she's writing a letter to the author suggesting a couple of dozen corrections and the addition of two new chapters."
