

Young Vanderbilt To Get $20,000,000 Added To His Credit

George Vanderbilt, Who Has Wealth And Good Looks To Be Married Soon.

Another Vanderbilt... ranks of $20,000,000... his twenty-first birthday... where he is on his honor.

George Vanderbilt, who has wealth and good looks, is an eligible man.

He will be married September 6, to the pretty and less wealthy Lucille Panetta of Lawllyn Park, N. J.

The young explorer's patrimony will be increased by $20,000,000 on his twenty-first birthday.

His mother, the heiress, married Mrs. Margaret Emerson, a "million dollar girl" in her own right.

He is a great-grandson of "the Commodore," Cornelius Vanderbilt, who was a Staten Island farmer, and who amassed a $100,000,000 fortune in the days of railroad building.

The young heir's grandmother was the late dowager Mrs. Vanderbilt, who lived in New York and Newport society in the gay nineties, and lived in a great turreted house on Fifth avenue.

His father, the late Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, perished in a sea disaster, and the father of another young millionaire, John Jacob Astor, 3rd.

Astor's father went down on the Titanic, and Vanderbilt's father sank on the Lusitania.

Young Vanderbilt's engagement removed him from a list of about nine eligible heirs to huge fortunes.

$20,000,000 Is Goal Set By State WPA

RALEIGH—The sending of applications involving a total expenditure of $20,000,000 to Washington for approval by the end of September is the expressed goal of George W. Carr, Jr., state WPA director.

Carr said applications involving approximately $1,600,000 were approved at his office one day last week, and that projects calling for an expenditure of $11,000,000 were expected to be approved later.

THREE ODD EVENTS HAPPEN IN COURT

On the same day, in the same court, in Durham, these three things happened:

1. C. Merredith appealed a decision which freed him of an attack.

2. Captain N. K. Hardeen, acting sergeant, asked a witness to swear the clerk.

3. A negro charged with drunkenness pleaded: "I was drunk, but I ain't drunk."

QUILT SHOW HERE LAST WEEK SURPASSED ALL OTHER SHOWS

Displays Ranged From 125-Year-Old To Brand New Ones Of Modern Designs

Climaxing an interest that has been stimulated since the first affair was inaugurated, the Quilt Show staged on Friday, in the Clyde H. Ray building, on Main street, under the auspices of the Woman's Club, surpassed all others in the artistry of the articles exhibited. Along with the quilts were shown rugs and many other specimens of hand work.

The quilts and coverlets ranged in age from one hundred and twenty-five years to the last word in modern quilt piecing and the art of weaving. One hooked rug was more than seventy years old and others were just fresh from the hands of the hookers. The entire show was a blending of the best of both the old and the new.

Holding the attention of everyone was the chintz quilt, winner of the prize offered in that class, entered by Mrs. Clyde H. Ray, which was one hundred and twenty-five years old with the exquisite soft coloring that only time seems to give. A silk crazy patch work quilt entered by Miss Louise Beville, had three ribbons attached to it, stating that it had been the winner of three prizes, one at the State Fair of Florida and one of North Carolina, was also another old one of arresting charm. One of the same description equally as old was entered by Mrs. James W. Killian.

One unique quilt bore squares, each one with a letter, which all together completed the alphabet. It is owned by Fred Buchanan, of Allen's Creek, and was made by his grandmother at the age of 91. One silk quilt entered by Mrs. Cornelia Barr was made of many colored diamond shaped bits of silk, with a black row in between each that gave a very striking effect.

It was interesting to observe the large collection of new quilts, and to note that on the whole they were just as well made as the old ones. Of course while the colors were clear and bright they lacked a subdued charm that a few years will give them.

The hooked rugs appeared to be a positive inspiration to both the amateurs and those proficient in the art. The women who had made them and those who wished to try their hand were crowded about the counters where they were displayed during the entire hours of the show. Some were made of expensive yarns, while others were made from the family rag bag, but all beautiful examples of the art of hooking.

There were a number of old coverlets aside from the prize winning one, more than a hundred years old, entered by little Patsy Gwyn and made by her great grandmother, there were others of equal interest. One entered by Mrs. Charles E. Ray, Jr., which had been made about 1850 by two sisters in Person county, was a lovely thing in unusual shades of soft blue, rose, and light brown. Mrs. J. Harden Howell had a bed spread that bore heavy embroidery made 125 years ago by her great grandmother, Elizabeth Lightford Payne, in Virginia. There were crocheted spreads of numerous patterns and a knit one entered by Miss Grace Crocker, was much admired.

In the collection of miscellaneous articles there was an intriguing piece of Russian work entered by Mrs. J. E. Barr. It was a hand woven and embroidered scarf from Kirinskaya, the Caucasian country near the Black Sea in Russian, and bore the emblem of the crown, showing that it had been made before the Revolution. Serving as judges for the show were Mrs. Humes Hart, Mrs. Catherine Buckley, and Miss Lou Silverthorne. Those working to make the show the success it proved to be the Mrs. S. P. Gay, president of the club, Mrs. C. F. Kirkpatrick, chairman of the committee and the following: Mrs. J. M. Queen, Mrs. H. W. Baucum, and Mrs. Grover C. Davis.

The awarding of the prizes, ribbons honorable mentions were as follows: Prettiest old quilt, Mrs. Clyde H. Ray, $2.00; prettiest new quilt, Mrs. Felix Alley, $2.00; prettiest old woven coverlet, Patsy Gwyn, $1.00; prettiest old spread, Miss Bertha Tuttle, $1.00; prettiest new spread, Mrs. W. S. Patterson, $2.00; prettiest afghan, Mrs. E. B. McClure, $1.00; prettiest old quilt top, Mrs. W. T. Shelton, $1.00; prettiest hooked rug, Mrs. J. W. Ray, $1.00; prettiest knitted suit, Mrs. Susan Crawford, of Dayton, Ohio, $1.00.

Honorable mention: Hooked rug, Mrs. Chas. Burgin; applique quilt, Mrs. Crastwatt; bed spread, Miss Grace Crocker, and knit spread, Miss Nell Campbell.

Blue ribbon winners were: Embroidered spread, Mrs. R. H. Stretcher old woven coverlet, Mrs. Tom Price; hooked pillow, Mrs. R. N. Barber, Jr.; knitted coat, Mrs. Lillian Harte, knitted dress, Mrs. Johnnie Cabe Frith, of Miami; Crocheted center piece, Mrs. J. M. McClure. A red ribbon winner, a knitted coat by Mrs. Tom Lee, Jr..

T. L. Green To Be Speaker At "Old Folks Meeting" 8th

Fearing Arrest, Decide To Abandon Freezing Test

There will be no more attempts to restore life to monkeys which have been "frozen to death" Ralph Willard, chemist announced in Hollywood after abandoning a revivification attempt before 50 witnesses. Abruptly concluding his attempt to restore life to the monkey, which had been placed in a warming cabinet to return it to a normal temperature, Willard declared he was facing arrest for his work.

DAVID GOLIATH STUFF KANAH, Utah—Young Harry Young and his playmate, Mark Frost, stumbled accidentally upon a huge rattlesnake, coiled and apparently prepared to strike.

We threw rocks at it, but didn't do any good," said Harrold. "Then we remembered our slingshots and got him with them."

Welding
... the best way to make a perfect union of two pieces of metal is by welding them together.

... and the best way to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette is by welding together the different types of tobacco ...

That is just what we do in making CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes—the three types of mild ripe home-grown tobaccos, that is tobaccos grown in this country, are welded together. Then they are welded with aromatic Turkish. When these tobaccos are welded together you get a combined flavor which is entirely different from any one type of tobacco.

It is this welding of the right amounts of the right kind of tobaccos that makes CHESTERFIELD a milder and better-tasting cigarette.
