$50,000 CRUISER HERE TODAY

Esso Cruiser To Be Here Thursday

A safety crusade, destined to prevent automobile accident to a certain extent—surely to make the public safety-minded—is being sponsored by the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey. The crusade will make its appearance here Thursday when the "Esso Cruiser," safety car, will cruise the streets of Waynesville and will preach safety to the masses.

The cruiser will arrive about noon or shortly thereafter. Every state official, from Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus to county officers in every city and hamlet of the state is concerned with the increasing accident toll and are doing all that is possible to stop this unwarranted slaughter of the highways.

In a letter to W. Herbert Lamb, of the Standard Oil Company, Governor Ehringhaus said:

"It is most unfortunate that in the development of these highways and our other facilities for quick transportation we should have arrgravated our problems of citizenship safety.

"The ever mounting number of highway accidents and the terrible injury and loss resulting therefrom is a constant reminder of the necessity for grappling with the problem by government and citizens in cooperative effort.

"I welcome any and every enterprise on the part of the citizenship individually or in groups which contribute a contribution toward the solution of this problem and I was glad to hear from you of your effort and campaign in this direction."

The Safety Crusade has been carried on in 12 states and eventually will be carried to every state in the United States, Standard Oil Company officials said here yesterday.

More than 50,000 miles have already been covered by the "Esso Cruiser," and when the safety campaign—to save lives—has been completed the speedometer will probably be rolled four times that much.

Safety lectures will be made by city officials. Motion pictures of safety on the roads will be shown.

980 posters assigned to bill boards in the state entitled, "Stop That Killing," sponsored by Safety Division, Department of Revenue, Raleigh.

P. T. A. OF EAST WAYNESVILLE MET ON TUESDAY NIGHT

The East Waynesville P. T. A. met in regular session Tuesday night, December 10, with Mrs. Eli McGee presiding. The meeting was opened with the singing of Christmas carols.

The minutes were then read, and approved. Reports from the various standing committees were given and accepted. Other business was discussed, and it was decided to give a half holiday to the grade having the highest percentage of parents present at the P. T. A. meetings. The count was taken, and the sixth grade was awarded the holiday.

At the close of the business session Mrs. Bob Gibson took charge of the program. She introduced Mrs. Jean Dillon of the health department, who gave a report on the physical examination taken in the schools. The group upon hearing the report, pledged support in a drive to raise the health standard of the schools.

Mr. Ernest McCracken gave a splendid talk on "The Teacher as a Leader of Children."
