Just Among Us WOMEN

With only four more shopping days—the business of selecting and buying Christmas gifts becomes an urgent matter—I doubt if the stores in Waynesville have ever been so well supplied to fill your gift needs as this year—and I am certain that the decorations in the shops have never been so colorful and inspiring of the Christmas spirit—everywhere is seen tinsel in glittering silver and gold—with reds and greens.

LET'S GO SHOPPING

CLYDE H. RAY'S FLOWER SHOP—Here may be solved many gift problems—vases of every description—Indian articles—and what is lovelier than flowers at Christmas?

FERKRAFT NATIVE WOODS—Everything from waste paper baskets to a bracelet—all in wood—latest item buttons made of walnut shells—4 of an inch thick—and you would be surprised at the intriguing design and artistry when the thing is polished.

ALEXANDER'S DRUG STORE—Toilet articles of every type—perfumes—fountain pens—clocks—stationery—and if they haven't what you call for in stock—in 24 hours your order will be filled—now that's service.

MARTIN ELECTRIC—I wish I had space to name the devices of modern convenience offered there—everything from the baby's bottle sterilizer to a washing machine—radios—refrigerators. It's educational just to visit the shop and see all the things we women could do with an electric current if we had the appliances.

C. E. RAY'S SONS—Here you can not only supply the whole family with lovely and practical gifts—but get your Christmas dinner with all its extra trimmings—in the grocery department—there is the children's department—men's—ladies'—toys—counters of toys—and if you want to give a man in your family a hat they have the cunningest little hat boxes to notify him to call at Ray's and make his own selection—and as for the inducement of cash prizes to shop there ask one of the clerks to tell you—provided you haven't heard the good news—and I was about to forget even if you aren't planning to buy a silk nightie take a look at them—you never saw such values for $1.98.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE—If you're looking for the very best in gifts, just leave an order here—and be certain that it will be better than most of us have ever seen—home-made candies.

MRS. RING'S GREEN TREE TEA ROOM—A nice place to take a walk and lunch on a Sunday night supper. She is taking orders for all sorts of the most delectable home-made cakes and plum puddings.

MASSIE'S FURNITURE STORE—How women in a home appreciate things which more than anything else in the house—everything from the rug to the mattress. I recently noticed some good looking young women photos on display—radios large and small—and the choicest chairs for the children.

MIKES GIFT SHOP—Here you will find the small distinctive thing you have been looking for as well as patterns for your hooked rug—which would make a sweet gift for some of the expert hookers about town.

BEAUTY SHOPS—I think I'll bunch them all together—The La Vie, Paro—The JoAnn, and The Personality. Aren't their windows a Christmas picture?—if there had been a prize for the most attractive window—I wonder which one would have been the winner—a check for a permanent is hard to beat as an acceptable gift in the feminine world.

MCCRACKEN'S CLOTHING STORE—They are having a Remodeling Sale—just go in and see for yourself—bargains such as are being offered don't happen often in these parts.

BURGIN'S WINDOWS—BOTH MAIN AND DEPOT—You'll find groceries—clothes—toys. I heard a man say there was a top in the Depot Store that he just had to buy—it made him feel like a boy again—you'll find sweaters and gifts for the young and old—and the stores are all festooned with decorations that make you feel like it was Christmas.

CLYDE H. RAY—I have wondered as I have gazed over the well arranged window who fixed it—John or Mr. Ray—I'll hand it to them—the ensemble effect is a perfect picture of everything a man needs.

MASSIE'S DEPARTMENT STORE—And while on the subject of window displays—Hasn't Hugh got a swell lay out—with the lighted Christmas tree with toys on one side—and all the lovely things both top and under that appeal to the fair sex—on the other?—The crowds have been daily growing—I suppose you have read the ad about the $150.00 worth of living room furniture that is to be given away—if not ask one of the obliging clerks—and they will explain—as for gifts you can start with the man of the house and get something for the whole family.

SMITH'S DRUG STORE—Toys—toilet accessories—perfumes—Christmas candies—in large boxes and small packages—games—stationery—and many answers to your gift questions.

MEDFORD'S FURNITURE COMPANY—Here you will find a brand new stock of goods—just fresh from the factory—there are a surprising number of attractive gifts—lamps—smoking stands and end tables from $1.25 to $3.00.

RAIFF'S DEPARTMENT STORE—Here will be found something for mother—sister—big and little—Daddy and small brother—they have surprisingly lovely silk underthings at astounding prices—nightgowns—sweaters—dresses—suits—coats—take a look yourself.

BOYD FURNITURE COMPANY—Here will be found many practical gifts for the home, that are equally decorative—the type of gifts that give pleasure throughout the year.

EAGLE FIVE AND TEN—Never in the history of the town have as many attractive gifts and toys been offered at the prices found here—see well as many of a utilitarian trend.

HAROLD'S DEPARTMENT STORE—They seem to be making a specialty of those good looking at starting prices—and have you noticed the exquisite good dress—of several designs that someone has for Mildred's class fund—for the sake of the color—for its shade she likes and looks so well in—

DENTON'S HARDWARE—AND WAYNESVILLE HARDWARE COMPANY—Here at these two places may be found the heavier toys so dear to children—as well as useful gifts that would be appreciated 365 days of the year to the home maker.

GARRETT FURNITURE COMPANY—In their window this week they are displaying a very unusual inlaid table that would add a touch to any living room.

WAYNESVILLE PHARMACY—Cigarettes in Christmas packages—perfumes—vanities—candies in the most fetching boxes—a perennial consolation to the perplexed boy friend—who considers this and that and ends by sending a box of candy.

WAYNESVILLE BOOK COMPANY—Here you will find that unusual Christmas greeting just to suit a certain person—native pottery—writing materials—the "Smoky Mountains National Park etc." stationery—that everyone should use—you will find Christmas cards with greetings from the "Land of The Sky".

ANNALS OF HAYWOOD COUNTY—Which is a gift supreme to the members of the pioneer families of old Haywood—a gift to be treasured by this generation and passed on to the next—On sale at The Woman's Exchange and The Waynesville Book Company.

C. N. ALLEN & COMPANY—For a complete line of Christmas gifts from the baby's rattle to the Christmas turkey—may be found at this progressive store in Hazelwood.

AMERICAN FRUIT STAND—If you want fireworks to help you celebrate you will find a variety of sparklers and all types of "crackers"—also fruits and candies.

LONG & BRADLEY—Here will be found the usual full stock—plenty of things for the kids—as well as gifts for the grown ups. Mr. Bradley has an unusual selection of toys this year—guess he has more reason to think about such things than Mr. Long used to have.

AND ONE BIG ADVANTAGE IS—you don't have to buy a couple of dollars worth of gas to reach these shops—nor waste two or three hours on the road to go and come for they are right here in WAYNESVILLE.
