

Reynolds Sees Delay In Opening Park This Summer. Weaver Believes Acreage Is Now Sufficient For Gov. Acceptance

Under Plan $740,000 Will Be Required For Additional Land For Park

After conferences with Secretary of Interior Ickes and Director of Park Service Cameron, Senator Robert R. Reynolds held out little encouragement for the official opening of the new Smoky Mountains National park this year.

The junior North Carolina senator said he was told that before the park can be officially accepted by the government it will be necessary to acquire 27,420 acres at a cost of $740,000. Secretary Ickes advised Reynolds that he had made every effort to secure this money to complete the park but without success.

Until the park is officially accepted by the government Reynolds said no improvements would be made to take care of visitors. "This is certainly most discouraging," he stated.

Representative Zebulon Weaver takes a different position on the legality of the government accepting the park. He believes that his bill setting the minimum acreage for the park at 400,000 acres, which amount is now in hand, gives the National Park Service authority to accept the park and begin improvements. Several weeks ago he stated he intended to have the North Carolina and Tennessee delegations call on Secretary Ickes to urge opening of the park but as yet has made no move in this direction.

Meanwhile it was learned that congress will soon be asked to approve an authorization of $20,000,000 for construction of parkways and from which funds will be included for completion of the Blue Ridge parkway connecting the Great Smoky Mountains and Shenandoah National Parks.

Senator Hayden, of Arizona, is now preparing a bill providing for continuing federal aid for highway construction during the fiscal years 1938 and 1939. The authorization is expected to include $20,000,000 for parkways and $7,500,000 for road construction inside national parks. A report on the Hayden bill will be made public within the next few weeks.

Secretary Ickes told Senator Reynolds he was endeavoring to locate now an additional $7,500,000 for the parkway. This is different from the funds in the Hayden bill as these will not be available until July 1, 1937. Already approximately $7,000,000 has been allocated for the parkway and this will continue construction through summer. In all probability the parkway will get a slice out of the new relief bill. What is needed to finish the parkway after the fiscal year 1937 will come from the Hayden authorization.

Huge Spending In Next Fiscal Year Indicated

See Expenditure Of More Than $9,000,000,000 In Recasting Of Gov. Figures

Spending of more than $9,000,000,000 in the next fiscal year was indicated in a recasting of government financial figures and estimates.

If this sum should be spent, it will represent the greatest outlay in any peace-time year. Expenditures for the present fiscal twelve months are estimated at about $7,645,000,000.

Following President Roosevelt's fresh budget for $1,500,000,000 for relief, budget estimates indicated that at least $8,250,000,000 may be spent in the year beginning next July 1. Not counting anything for the soldiers bonus. It was figured conservatively an additional $1,000,000,000 would be needed for cash bonus payments.

Budgetary figures indicated at least $3,228,000,000 of new borrowing during the year. This would swell the gross public debt to $35,045,000,000 by June 30, 1937, even though additional borrowing is not necessary between now and next June 30.

Mistakes In Meat

Taken from Waynesville Hi-Life

Over in the picturesque little city of Hillsboro, Illinois, a woman stepped into a meat market in a hurry one day and protested about an item on her bill. It seems she had been charged with "tom cat," and she claimed she hadn't received any such order, and didn't eat that kind of meat. But there it was on the bill, as plain as anyone could see.

Meat markets get to be pretty busy places just before the dinner hour, and if a clerk sets something down in shorthand, it's to be considered shorthand, and not just exactly what it says.

When it was explained to the customer that the item was intended to read "tomato catsup," the situation changed for the better and peace again reigned.

Arizona Desert Monuments

"Monuments" of the Arizona desert are impressive natural features of the Southwest. Pink in the dawn, tinted deep rose at noon and veiled in purple when the sun is low, they rise several hundred feet from the floor of Monument valley. The great, wind-swept pedestals of sandstone have long been the landmarks of Indian and prospector. Among the wildest are Aztec's Needle and the slender Totem Pole.

PENILESS MAN BIDS IN $1,000 AT AUCTION

Bonnettsville, S. C.—A stranger bid in more than $1,000 worth of mules at an auction here and then didn't have a dime to pay for them.

After spending the night in jail on a drunk charge, the reckless bidder, a visitor from a nearby town, told Mayor T. C. Crossland in court.

"The auctioneer said they were such good mules, and I felt rich, and I bought 'em."

He didn't know that the auctioneer had been the mayor himself.

The mayor, who presides over city court, sentenced him to $50 or 10 days.

gives economy without equal!

FOR ECONOMICAL TRANSPORTATION

Every test proves it's more economical . . . Every Chevrolet owner knows it's more economical . . . And every person will readily understand these simple A-B-C reasons why it is more economical

The Chevrolet engine is the most economical automobile engine produced today, because (1) it is a six-cylinder engine, and (2) it is a valve-in-head six-cylinder engine. . . Its six cylinders use less gas and oil—in fact, use the least gas and oil—because six cylinders are the most economical combination used in modern automobiles. . . Its valve-in-head design cuts gasoline consumption still lower because there is less loss of heat through the walls of the combustion chamber in valve-in-head engines, and the advanced construction of the Chevrolet engine gives maximum heat (or power) saving. . . Most important of all, Chevrolet's more efficient cooling system, pressure stream oiling and the greater accessibility of all working parts result in more dependable operation, over a longer period of time, with the lowest maintenance costs.
