

HOME DEMONSTRATION ACTIVITIES

As we approach the holiday season many housewives wonder if they should attempt to prepare a turkey for the occasion or not. If the modern method is used they will have no trouble.

The modern method of roasting a turkey is to use a moderate temperature about 350° (F.) all the time the bird is in the oven. This constant moderate heat browns it gradually and allows it to cook through evenly without drying out. At a moderate temperature a well-fattened young turkey takes about 15 minutes to the pound as bought, an older bird 18 to 20 minutes to the pound.

Whether we use a cover or not depends on the age and plumpness of the turkey. If the bird is young and plump with streaks of fat along the back and breast, leave the cover off. Start the turkey, breast down on a rack in the open pan. Baste it with melted butter and pan drippings about every half hour. The moderate oven heat, not the cover on a pan, is what helps to hold the juice in the meat. Intense heat and moisture, even the steam circulating in the covered roaster, are what draw out juices and make the meat dry.

part if not all the roasting time. It needs the steam to soften the tough muscles of legs and thighs. There is moisture enough in the turkey itself to make the steam. Do not add water. The pan drippings will brown just right if you keep the oven heat moderate.

Every family has its favorite turkey stuffing. The Bureau of Home Economics gives us three to choose from: A dry crumbly stuffing of bread crumbs enriched with melted butter and rendered turkey fat, seasoned with savory herbs such as thyme, marjoram, sage, and parsley. Others are all for a stuffing moistened with milk, or eggs or oysters. Some set greatest store by a cornbread, rice, or mashed potato stuffing mixed with nuts and seasonings. If crop as well as body cavity of the bird is to be stuffed, about 3 quarts of the savory mixture is needed. Any extra stuffing that will not go in the bird can be baked in the oven and basted occasionally with the pan drippings.

Miss Ruth Summerow had as her guests at her home in Hazelwood, over the week-end, Miss Jane Sledge and Miss Eleanor Sledge, of Charlotte.

Death Claims Fay

FAY WEBB

Death wrote him to the career of Fay Webb, ex-wife of Rudy Valle, when she died at Santa Monica, Cal., of peritonitis. Miss Webb's aunt, Miss Winifred Webb, 60, fell dead as she passed the bier during the funeral services.

● We'd like to find a word that would better express the feelings of men who are wearing Freeman Shoes.

—For the way they look and feel on the feet.
—For the way they keep their smart appearance long after other shoes have been discarded.
"Satisfaction"—alone is a weak word for Freeman qualities. Let us put a pair on your feet—then you'll know what we mean.
