Farm Youth Holds The Future Of This Nation

The Nation largely depends upon the farm families for its food and fiber. It is the youth of the Nation who will be responsible for the future of the farm. The youth of the Nation is being broken down, and the farm is being abandoned. The youth of the Nation is being broken down, and the farm is being abandoned. COUNTY AGENTS' COLUMN

"SPECIAL"
Some of our friends who were misinformed have made certain statements about the conservation program that are misleading. However, we do not wish to have anybody believe anything which is not correct. We have a complete list in our office of the costs of handling the 1936 Soil Conservation program for every county in the state. And also the payments that each has or will receive. We are giving below the mountain counties. Haywood county could have received last year several thousand dollars more had every body co-operated in ed from southern stock. Col. J. W. Harrison, administrative dean of the college, also stated that economic changes are bringing agricultural districts to the front, while great cities built largely on wealth produced elsewhere have already seen their heyday.

Dean I. O. Schaub, director of the State College extension service, pointed out that one of the major problems of agriculture is how young people who wish to start farming can secure land of their own. Few have the capital required to buy and equip a farm of any size.

The purpose of the conference, said L. R. Harrill, 4-H club leader at the college who had charge of the conference, is "to give information, training, and inspiration which will help young men and women select intelligently the vocations for which they are best fitted."

Besides the addresses and recreation, the boys and girls were given advanced instruction in agriculture and rural homemaking. The program. It is not necessary to ask why some did not co-operate last year, but we find that nearly every farmer in Haywood county is this year in the program. Read the following tural organizations in this country, such as the Farm Bureau is not a program to put across any far-fetched idea of obtaining an advantage for farmers, but it is a sincere effort to adjust the business of agriculture so as to obtain the most advantages from conditions in general as they exist.

Where do you, as an individual farmer, stand in this matter? Are you trying to adjust your business and your way of thinking to being about this new order, or are you one of the farmers who doesn't believe in co-operation and who has no plan of program except as an individual?

That kind of thinking on the part of farm people brought agricultural business very near to disaster, and reasonable men can easily believe that, if such efforts as these of the Farm Bureau fail, the most chaotic conditions would result.

Are you willing to leave that kind of a heritage to the boys and girls who will follow? It is estimated that within the next few years one million farmers will go out of business. They will go out of business either because they do not have the ability, credit, or capital, or because they are just too contrary to adjust their business to the general plan.

They are the men who are thinking only of themselves—who do not care what may happen later on. They would leave to their boys and girls the heart-breaking task of building order upon the wreckage they are creating.

But for those who do co-operate and work together, there is a future with the highest standard of living and the most satisfactory country life that the farmers have ever enjoyed. Future generations will thank these men and women.

What do you think of this from the Farm Bureau? Co-operate and put over our Haywood program.

Eight graphotype machines are running 24 hours a day, with three shifts of operators, making metal plates carrying the names and Social Security account numbers of all workers in North Carolina for state unemployment compensation records.

Our leaders in Congress and in our state have said this is a safe and sound program to follow. The county agent and the community committees with hundreds of farmers in Haywood county are trying to carry this program out. Not every farmer is using every one of the nine points, but each farmer can and should use some of them. The orchard men will not be 100 per cent in using mulching material. Not every farmer will terrace or sub-soil, but it is not democracy and fairness for us to condemn the program or any part of it, because we do not believe that it is needed on our farm. But this program was set up so that every farmer could fit into it in some way. We are looking for co-operation to make the program for 1937 bring $70,000. If you co-operate as you should we will get it done.

We have just received a supplement which makes it possible for a farm not to be penalized for failure to meet the minimum soil-conserving acreage provided there is no idle land on the farm and the increase in soil-depleting crops were grown to replace a shortage of feed crops on the farm caused by flood, drought or other unfavorable weather conditions in 1936 or 1937. This provision does not make it possible for a producer to be paid on a greater number of diverted acres than he has soil-conserving acres on the farm. It only provides for an exception of the $3.00 penalty on each acre by which the farm fails to meet the minimum soil-conserving acreage.

The state and federal governments are ready to give us the services of a licensed veterinary in testing all cattle including milk and beef cattle for Bangs and T. B. This can be done and the work can start in the near future. If the county is ready to co-operate. If you believe this step should be made then you should speak to your county commissioners.

WHAT ARE YOU LEAVING YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS?

No one but a blind man or an extremely stupid one would deny that the farming business is undergoing considerable changes. It is equally true that these changes are not the result of the plans of any one individual or group of individuals, but rather the result of the development of civilization. The present program of the agricul-

Ant Control Needs More Than 1 Poison

Ants become a constant annoyance at this season of the year because of the damage they do to lawns and flower beds and because of their presence in the kitchen and pantry.

Because there are about 35 kinds of ants known in North Carolina, their control is a difficult problem. What is effective against one kind of ant is not always effective against another. Dr. Z. P. Mead, head of the department of zoology and entomology at State College, recommends that the insects be destroyed in their nests. If they occur in lawns or in rotten logs, the ants may be eradicated by using calcium cyanide or carbon disulphide.

Carbon disulphide is a deadly poison, but may be handled out-of-doors by any responsible person. It should be scattered over the nests at the rate of about two ounces per square foot and then worked into the soil with a trowel.

Carbon disulphide, being more explosive than gasoline, should also be handled carefully. To use this compound, make small holes with a pointed stick to a depth of half a foot or more and pour in about a teaspoonful of the liquid in each hole. The holes should not be over a half a foot apart. Some ants are attracted by sweets and others by fats. Dr. Mead's points out. To make a sweet bait, boil together one pound of sugar, one pint of water, and 125 grains of arsenate of soda until the mixture is thoroughly dissolved. Then add one tablespoon of honey.

To make a bait for those ants which prefer fatty foods, mix together one pound of bacon troying and one ounce of tartar emetic. Keep all bait out the reach of children and irresponsible persons, Dr. Mead warns.
