

Charter Presented
Waynesville Lions
Club; 19 Members

Asheville Lions Sponsor Charter
Meeting; District Governor
Delivers Charter

In a program of fun, entertainment and all seriousness of a determined organization to serve the community, the Waynesville Lions Club was presented their charter Friday evening by District Governor, Robert Cook, of Shelby, while Lions from Western North Carolina towns, and representatives of Waynesville's civic groups looked on.

Lion President, Carleton Weatherby, pledged the international organization, in behalf of the newly formed club, their loyal support, after two addresses on Lionism had been given to the group of 75 at the banquet hall of the Welch Memorial building.

The meeting was sponsored by the Asheville club, with Roy Phillips acting as toastmaster, and the principal address by Carl W. Green and District Governor Robert Cook.

The gong and gavel was presented by C. R. Duel, and C. Glenn Self introduced the visiting Lions from Asheville, Canton, Brevard, Black Mountain and Murphy.

Musical numbers were given by Mr. and Mrs. J. Dale Stentz and four children, Mary, Jane, David and George, Evander Preston gave a solo accompanied by Mrs. Preston.

The American Legion was represented by Lester Burgin, commander, The Woman's Club by Mrs. M. D. Watkins, president; The Music Club by Mrs. R. H. Stretcher, and the Rotary Club by M. H. Bowles, and W. Curtis Russ.

Clyde H. Ray, Jr., tall twister of the organization, proved to be the comedian of the evening, and his methods of imposing on erring members brought a continuous roar of laughter from the crowd.

The members of the club as introduced at the charter meeting, were:

When "The Voice of the People," last week dealt... with the Kenmore property and its subsequent changes... J. Dale Stentz made a very fine suggestion about the beautiful maple tree on the lot... which adds so much... as we all know to Main Street... Mr. Stentz is making a plea to the builders of the filling station... through this column... to manage some how to leave the tree standing just as it is... and provide some protection against traffic... and have a framed copy of Joyce Kilmer's famous poem on "Trees"... large enough type so that all going by may read... placed on the tree... Mr. Stentz insists that the public in general would appreciate such consideration and a sense of beauty on the part of the owners of the filling station... that it would be a drawing card for business... maybe he's right... it sounds like a good idea... .

... one felt lost without it... the next day I was reading Albert Edward Wiggam's "Marks of an Educated Man"... the kind of a book one gets some thing out of at each rereading... and recalling the conversation the following was of special interest... "But education is for the whole of life and work is not the whole of life... It is unfortunately true for an enormous number of people that work has to be nearly all of life... But a man who has achieved the slightest leisure from sheer struggle for existence and has no wish to get anything out of life except work will never know the nourishing freedom of true education... this is true because life is not only work, but is also play, and suffering, beauty and pain, joy and sorrow, sunshine and rain, disgrace and glory, darkness, storm and terror, as well as sweetness, peace and light..."

Last week the following appeared on the blackboard of the class room of W. C. Allen... at the Waynesville Township High School... "A Gentleman... a man that's clean inside and outside, who neither looks up to the rich, nor down to the poor; who can lose without squealing; who can win without bragging; who can win without bragging; considerate of women, children and old people; who is too brave to lie; too generous to cheat; and too sensible to loaf; who takes his share of the world's goods and lets other people have theirs..." . . . it came from an advertisement under a glass top table in the First National Bank... and so struck Prof. Allen... that he copied it for his class room... Those of us who have been fortunate enough to have been taught by Prof. Allen... understand why such a fine description of a gentleman would appeal to him... for he lives and teaches just such ideals... .

Since we are in the midst of the hunting season... hunting stories are often a part of the conversation... James A. Gwyn, of Wilmington, Del., on a visit in the county... ran into this one last week at the stock yards in Clyde... one of the county's well known hunters came by dangling seven fat squirrels... he was apparently without any sort of weapon... someone in the crowd asked... "Where's your gun?"... the hunter replied... "I didn't have one... I just used rocks..." then the comment went around the crowd... "Well you must be good"... and the hunter replied... "I'm not so good at that... for I had to throw at one of 'em twice before I killed him..." . . .

We were speaking of work... how people who so often make a real success of life were loath to give up... the daily grind... and live a life of leisure... how the habit of work became a joy

We wish to honor this week Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Martin, who on Monday observed their golden wedding day... parents of eight children... all successful... in the early years... with a family of ten to feed and cloth... and educate... the life of the Martins offered problems... which were met with wisdom, thrift and management... that should serve as shining examples to the younger generations coming on... We have known Mr. Martin ever since we can remember... our first recollection being... when at a very tender age we had a nickel, all of which we were going to spend for candy... how patient Mr. Martin was as we held tightly to the five cents... while we made up our mind which we wanted most... coconut bars or chocolate drops... or some of each... how helpful he was about suggesting as to how to get the most for your money... We have known him down through the years... and have always had for him the highest kind of respect... May the Martins have many more anniversaries surrounded by their happy family of children and grandchildren... .

UNIVERSITY BOYS RIDE WITH PREXY

Two freshmen at the University of North Carolina stood on the Chapel Hill-Raleigh highway trying to bum a ride to Raleigh.

Finally a car stopped and picked them up.

The boys introduced themselves and the various topics—the game, the pep rally the night before, and the University in general.

A little man on the back seat asked them if they were Carolina students. "Yes," the boys said. "Are you from Chapel Hill, sir?"

"Yes, I am," the little man replied. "Who are you, sir?" one of the boys asked. "What's your name?"

"Graham," was the answer. "Graham?" Not Dr. Frank Graham, the president?" they chorused the question.

He was.

Miss Adeline Rogers, of Cranford, has accepted a position as bookkeeper and saleslady at Chandler & Co. jewelers here.

Almost two billion dollars were spent on rearmament during the last year by the British government which must be discouraging for our own warlike nation which should call "halt" to the war elsewhere.
