

Veterans And Widows Will Have Checks Saturday

G. Byers, clerk of the superior court, has announced that on Saturday the pensions for the States and War Veterans will be paid from his office. This will be the first monthly payment since the last state legislature passed the pension rolls to the state assistance group. There will be no change in the amounts paid to either veterans or widows, but they will receive their checks each month instead of semi-monthly. Veterans and twenty-two widows are on the Haywood County rolls.

J. Milton Lee

Shortly after J. Milton Lee, 28-year-old son of a bakery store owner, was killed when a dynamite bomb attached to the starter of his father's automobile exploded, Mrs. John Knudson, wife of the co-owner of the Lee bakery, received a telephone threat warning her that "your husband is next." In the wreckage of the car in which Lee died police found a note saying, "This is your warning, Lee, to watch your sales—or else."

DUKE AND DUCHESS OF WINDSOR TO RETURN TO ENGLAND

A London newspaper carried the report Tuesday that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor would return to England sometime in October to take up their permanent residence. It was also stated that the Duke had given up his fight to have the Duchess recognized by the Royal family, which the British government refuses to grant. There is no question, so the report states about their obtaining permission to return to England, for as British subjects, the Duke and Duchess are free to live wherever they please.

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL Copyright, 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc. HOLLYWOOD.—Anything can happen with two people so much in love but Phyllis Brooks' friends will make a bet that she and Cary Grant postpone their marriage until their return to America... the ceremony probably taking place in New York, so her relatives can attend. Meanwhile, Grant is the town's most impatient lover. The "Memory of Love" company worked day and night so he could fly to New York to catch the Normandie.

Cary Grant

Some of the crier observers at the "Young Mr. Lincoln" premiere did a lot of wisecracking because Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond waited almost 10 minutes so the photographers could make pictures of them. But the two weren't being hammy. Last year, Gene got in an awful jam with the camera boys because he rushed Jeanette into the theater before shots could be made. He was just trying to avoid a similar incident.

Biggest car at the opening drew a series of ohs! and ahs! from the crowd. It drew up, the door opened and finally—out stepped John Carradine. He got a great hand at that.

Ona Munson is certainly getting a rush since they signed her as Belle Watling... Three escorts at the premiere... Dick Hanlon, Lester Donahue and Jerry Powell.

Betty Grable almost had a 40-week tour lined up with Phil Harris' band but something happened at the last minute. She tells me she is sick of college pictures. "You have to be a straight sappy lead in these," she says.

Vehement denials from Betty that separate personal appearance tours planned by her and Jackie Coogan mean a marital split. "Thank heavens, everything is all right between us!" she exclaims.

For a girl who won't be 22 until December, Betty has hit plenty of headlines... many of the unpleasant variety... She was only 13 when she started in pictures... in Eddie Cantor's "Whoopie."

Funny problem on "The Rains Came." The research department at Twentieth Century-Fox has been going practically nuts trying to find out what sort of a night-gown a high caste Indian woman would wear on her wedding night. They are now waiting a cabled answer from Bombay.

The flood in this picture, incidentally, will surpass the deluge that Noah rode through in the ark. That lasted for only 40 days and 40 nights.

Schedule on the Fox epic calls for 47 days of shooting in the rain. The studio has had to build a 100,000-gallon reservoir on the back lot to insure sufficient water.

London sends a laugh. Warners staged a contest over there in which the prizes were to be the bow and arrow and the dagger used by Errol Flynn in "Robin Hood."

So far, they haven't been able to present the prizes because the literal-minded English customs have held them up—as deadly weapons.

A new fan club for Clark Gable has been formed in, of all places, Tahiti. He's been popular over there since "Mutiny on the Bounty." Has had to send 1,000 photographs to be distributed among his admirers.

Maureen O'Sullivan and John Farrow, almost the only people in Hollywood who were assured space on the first passenger flight of the Atlantic Clipper, now will give up their tickets... because the baby will be too young to travel.

Barbara Stanwyck

have seen the baby... No use for the Hollywood lads to cast eyes at Kathryn Adams, the Greg La Cava discovery playing the second lead in "My Fifth Avenue Girl." She's affianced to Frank Greenough, of St. Paul, and he'll be out here as soon as the term is over at Hamline university... Barbara Stanwyck and Bob Taylor finally got a week-end off for a honeymoon.

They chartered a boat and went fishing... Dick Arlen has arrived in town with his mother. His 83-year-old father will follow soon. Paramount is tickled to death at the naturalness of 77-year-old Walter Damroch in "The Star Maker," and is looking for another picture to put him in... Heather Thatcher is no longer the only woman in Hollywood who wears a monacle. Auriol Lee of theater fame, and Virginia Field's aunt, is sporting one around town.
