The Sunday School Lesson STEWARDS IN THE KINGDOM

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 25 is Matthew 24, 25, the Golden Text being Matthew 25:21, "Well done, good and faithful servant.")

STEWARDS in the kingdom is the subject of today's lesson. How, in other words, should we live and act during our lives so that we can be sure we are worthy to be classed among the righteous when the Lord comes again in glory.

You will remember that at the close of the last lesson Jesus wept over Jerusalem, prophesying its ruin and mourning that its people would not accept His message. In the beginning of today's lesson Jesus and His disciples went out of the temple, and in spite of all Jesus had told them of things to come, they wanted to show Him the various buildings and have Him admire them. Jesus reproved them saying, "See ye not all these things? Verily I say unto you, There shall not be left one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down."

The disciples were curious about these sayings, and when He sat upon the Mount of Olives, from which He had a fine view of Jerusalem, they came to Him and asked Him privately, "Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of Thy coming, and of the end of the world?" Jesus then told them of many things that would happen—famines, pestilences, wars. Many false prophets would appear, and many would believe these, but His true followers would not be deceived, but would go on steadfastly doing their duty and waiting until He, the Lord of All, should appear. We have not room here to repeat His prophecies and tell of all Jesus told these humble followers of His.

Tells Parables To Jesus the disciples must have seemed like children, and He made His meaning clear to them by way of parables, which symbolized what He expected of them when He should have gone. We must always be ready for the coming. He tells us in the parable of the ten virgins who were to go to the wedding feast. We are told that they must have been girl friends of the bride and were bidden to be present at the wedding feast. None knew when the bridegroom would come, so the virgins provided themselves with lamps. Five of the virgins—those who were wise—took oil in vessels for their lamps; but the foolish ones took no oil. All slept until the cry was made, "Behold, the bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him!" Then the virgins trimmed their lamps and the wise ones filled theirs with oil and lighted them; but the foolish tried to borrow oil from the others, but were told that they had only enough for themselves. Then the virgins hastened to the merchants to get oil, but when they returned the bridegroom had come, and the gates were locked against them. "Lord, open to us," they cried, but He said, "Verily, I say unto you, I know ye not." Watch, therefore, Jesus said, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of Man cometh.

Parable of Talents The parable of the ten talents is then told. Talents were worth a great deal of money. The parable likened the kingdom of heaven to a man who traveled to a far country. Calling his servants he gave five talents to the first, two to the second and one to the third, according to his ability. Then he went away. When he came back after a long time, the man who had been given five talents had five more, ten in all, for him; and likewise the man who had two talents had doubled them. But the man who had only had one talent, had buried it in the garden and now brought it, probably corroded and thus worth less. To the first two the master said, "Well done, good and faithful servants; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." But as to him who had had but one talent and who had made nothing, he was cast into outer darkness.

In the day of judgment, "When the Son of Man shall come in His glory," He shall say to those on His right hand, "I was a-hungry and ye gave Me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave Me drink; I was a stranger, and ye took Me in; naked, and ye clothed Me; I was sick, and ye visited Me; I was in prison, and ye came unto Me." And they shall say, "Lord, when saw we Thee a-hungry, and fed Thee? or thirsty, and gave Thee drink? When saw we Thee a stranger, and took Thee in? Or naked, and clothed Thee? Or when saw we Thee sick, or in prison, and came unto Thee?"

And the King shall answer and say unto them, "Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these My brethren, ye have done it unto Me." We are the "Stewards in the kingdom." So should we live that we will have no fear of whatever may befall us, even the Day of Judgment.

Stewards in the Kingdom ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 24, 25

When Jesus left the temple at Jerusalem, His disciples wanted to show Him the buildings, but He said, "See ye not all these things? Verily I say unto you, There shall not be left one stone upon another that shall not be thrown down."

Jesus sat upon the Mount of Olives and His disciples gathered around Him and asked Him concerning His second coming: "Tell us when shall these things be? And what shall be the sign of Thy coming and of the end of the world?" they asked Him.

Regarding the life they should lead before His coming, Jesus told them parables, one concerning the virgins, five wise and five foolish who were bidden to a wedding. The wise took oil for their lamps, but the foolish took no oil, and all slept.

When the bridegroom came, the wise virgins were ready with burning lamps, but the foolish ones went to buy oil, and while they were gone, the bridegroom came and the door was shut, and they were left outside.
