Pet Dairy Buys Brevard Dairy; Will Serve Area

Pet Dairy Products Company have bought the East View Dairy, of Brevard, and will serve that section with pasteurized milk and other dairy products, according to R. B. Davenport, local plant manager.

Pet bought the equipment and business, and will get milk from the dairy, bring it here in a special insulated truck for pasteurization, and sell it both at retail and wholesale in Brevard and community.

Headquarters will be maintained at East View Dairy in Brevard, where ample refrigeration facilities are available for keeping the milk and other products.

The purchase was made from C. F. and Lewis Osborne.

Mr. Davenport announced that milk from this plant is now being delivered daily in Waynesville, Hazelwood, Canton, Sylva, Cashiers, Cullowhee, Cherokee, Bryson City and Brevard. Plans are to open milk routes in Asheville soon. Ice cream is sold in all of the above places and also in Asheville, Hendersonville and Franklin.

Frank Osborne will be manager of the business in Brevard.

Local Nurse Made First Lieutenant In Nursing Corps

Miss Grace Platt Campbell, graduate nurse, who volunteered her services in the Army Nursing Corps.

She has been ordered to report to duty at a government base hospital at Puerto Rico. She sailed from Charleston on Monday to take up her new work.

Lt. Campbell is the daughter of Mrs. D. C. Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell, of this county. She is a graduate of a Chattanooga Hospital School of Nursing, and was connected with the Haywood County Hospital for five years. At the time of volunteering she was associated with the Woodland Clinic of Woodland, Calif.

Band And Girls' Glee Club Win Rating Of "I" In District Contest

The Waynesville township high school band and the girls' glee club came out with a 1 rating in the annual district contest and festival held at the Lee Edwards high school in Asheville on Saturday. Approximately 700 students from 11 western counties took part in the program.

Ensembles and individuals receiving top ratings are qualified to enter the state music contest and festival to be held in Greensboro next month. In the case of the girls' glee club, they are eligible to enter the regional contest to be held in Richmond, Va., in May.

The local band, entered in Class C, played three numbers. The judge gave the Waynesville band an honor rating of 1, and in as much as it was the only band of this class entered in the district, it was declared the champion band in the district.

The contest is designed as an elimination contest in which musical groups may compete for the state festival. The honor rating of the judges is as follows: III, equaling average; II, as excellent or good; and I, as superior.

The honor rating of I entitles the local band to compete in the state contest against similar winners in the other ten districts of the state.

It is uncertain at the present whether or not the local band will be able to make the trip, as plans have not been made for the transportation.

The state girls' glee club will be eligible to compete in the state glee club festival, but owing to the large group of glee clubs entering the state music festival this feature has been discontinued in the latter group. In the regional contest to which they are eligible, they will compete with similar groups from Southern states from Maryland to Florida.

Both groups were directed by L. T. New, Jr., band director of the township schools.

All four of Waynesville's elective officer holders are announcing today that they are seeking re-election in the city election, which will be held on Tuesday, May 6.

J. H. Way is seeking another term as mayor, while T. L. Bramlett, L. M. Killian and Hugh Massie are candidates for aldermen.

No other formal announcements have been made to date.

F. D. Ferguson has been named registrar, and Henry Gaddy and Jarvis Campbell are election judges.

Haywood Cattle Win First Places In Anderson Show

Haywood county livestock won on all first places at the second annual show and sale held at Anderson, S. C., on Tuesday of this week, which was attended by a number of stockmen from this section.

In the light weight division a steer from the R. V. Welch farm won first place and was sold to a 4-H club boy of Anderson county.

In the junior division including over 40 steers, Haywood steers won all first places, and two second places. In the adult division, Haywood steers won all three first places.

The grand champion steer of the show came from the herd of John M. Queen. The reserve grand champion was bought last fall from R. V. Welch.

Several steers sold last fall to 4-H boys were placed high in the show. All pen and car lot divisions were won by Western North Carolina steers, many of them from Haywood county.

The grand champion breed owned by John Queen sold for 30 cents per pound and the reserve champion from the R. V. Welch farm sold for 17 cents.

Colorado Firm Start Clearing Right-Of-Ways

Lowdermilk Brothers Have 600 Days To Complete Road From Soco To Big Witch Gap

Workmen started Monday clearing the 7.4-mile right-of-way on the Blue Ridge Parkway from Soco Gap to Big Witch Gap, all of which is in the Cherokee Indian Reservation.

This section of the Parkway, known as 2-Y, constitutes one of the heaviest grading jobs that has been let so far on the entire Parkway. The contractors are Lowdermilk Brothers, of Denver, Colo. They have an office at Soco Gap. The firm has done considerable construction work in the western parks.

Three tunnels, averaging 275 feet, are included in this project, which will cost $746,952. The contract calls for the grading of 734,000 cubic yards of mountain-side in 600 days.

At the termination of this project at Big Witch Gap, an Indian and park road leads off in two directions. One down Bunches Creek to Ravensford and the other directly into Cherokee. Both are good roads and will afford excellent loop trips from Big Witch Gap.

This section of the Parkway is crossed several times by an Indian road, which will necessitate a number of underpasses and in instances cause the relocation of the Indian road.

At Soco Gap, the Parkway will pass over State Highway No. 293. Access to the Parkway will be made right at the gap, right at the end of the present pavement.

The construction of the Parkway from Soco Gap to Big Witch Gap is under the supervision of Howard Gohband, project engineer, Floyd Davidson, resident engineer, both of the Bureau of Public Roads, and Arthur Connell, landscape engineer, of the Park Service.

The state road from Soco Gap to Cherokee, now under construction by Ralph E. Mills, is expected to have a crushed stone surface by late summer.

Present plans now are to advertise Parkway section 2-Z in May. This is an 8-mile section from Big Witch Gap to Ravensford, and will be one of the roughest sections of all, in that 11 tunnels will have to be built, and an average grade of seven per cent made.

School Band To Give Anniversary Concert Friday

The Waynesville high school band will present a program on Friday night, 28th, at the high school to celebrate the anniversary of their first concert. The concert was scheduled for the 14th, but had to be postponed on account of the big snow on that day.

All tickets bought for the first date will be good for the evening of the 28th.

The program giving a variety of numbers will be given under direction of the band leader, L. T. New, Jr.

The proceeds will be used to help defray the expenses of the band to the annual music festival in Greensboro, where they are eligible to enter the state wide band contest.

Baptist From 7 Counties To Hold Meet In Canton

The annual regional Baptist Training Union convention, comprised of delegates from churches in seven Western North Carolina counties will meet at the First Baptist church in Canton on Friday and Saturday of this week.

The convention opens at 3:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon and closes on Saturday afternoon. At least 200 delegates from outside of the county are expected to attend.

The theme is "Following the Living Christ." Various topics relating to this theme will be discussed at the Friday afternoon and night sessions by the young people from the churches represented.

The tournaments of the various departments will be held Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. H. G. Hammett, pastor of the First Baptist church of Waynesville, will bring an inspirational message on Saturday morning. The Rev. Wyman E. Wood, of Swannanoa, will preside.

Rough Grading On Parkway Done Near Beech Gap

The rough grading of the Blue Ridge Parkway from Beech Gap to Balsam Springs has been completed, including the 620-foot tunnel. The work has been closed during the winter, by Nelle Teer, contractor.

Work is expected to be resumed soon, and the crushed stone surface put on the section.

Palm Beach Man Will Modernize Entire Building

Dining Room Will Be Enlarged To Seat 250; All Sixty Rooms To Be Heated

L. S. Gauden, hotel man of West Palm Beach, Fla., has bought the Gordon Hotel from Mrs. L. E. Phillips, of Black Mountain and others, it was learned yesterday from Quinby Kipp, who has been manager for the past four years. Final details of the transfer of the property will be worked out during the next few days.

The new owner plans extensive improvements on the property, including the addition of a private bath for every one of the 60 rooms, and a complete redecoration of all the interior and painting the exterior.

At present 30 of the 60 rooms are heated. Mr. Gauden plans to install an oil burner of sufficient size to the boiler to heat both the main building and the annex.

The renovation also calls for enlarging the dining room to a seating capacity of 250 with a modernization of the kitchen unit.

No definite date was given by Mr. Kipp as to when the new owner would take over active management of the property, but it is understood that he will come to Waynesville as soon as the season closes in West Palm Beach. Mr. Gauden spent several days here during the past week completing the purchase of the hotel.

It was learned that Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McGraw, who have had charge of the dining room for two years, will remain for the present with the new management.

Mr. Gauden has been a frequent visitor to this section in the past few years and owns property at Balsam. He is owner of the 90-room Alhambra hotel of West Palm Beach, said to be one of the most popular resort hotels in that immediate vicinity. At the time Mr. Mauden took it over it had lost favor with the public, but under his modernization and management business has been brought back to a high peak.

Mrs. Phillips, of Black Mountain, bought the property about five years ago and her son managed the place until four years ago in July, when Mr. and Mrs. Quinby Kipp, of New York, the latter her daughter, took over the place and have since operated it.

Mr. Kipp did not make any statement as to his plans for the future. He and Mrs. Kipp have made many friends during their stay here and have co-operated in all civic undertakings.

The Gordon, one of the oldest resort hotels in town, was built many years ago by Captain Alden Howell, and has changed hands several times. Not since the annex was built and the place enlarged had it been operated in the winter until Mr. and Mrs. Kipp took over the management.

$90,000 Building To Be Completed Here By July 15

Merchant Construction Company Of Asheville Awarded Contract Monday Afternoon

"We expect to begin moving dirt this week," was the answer given The Mountaineer yesterday by the Merchant Construction Company, of Asheville, when queried about the starting date of construction of the plant for Dayton Rubber Manufacturing Company on a 20-acre site near Hazelwood.

"We have a man in your town today (Wednesday) checking on materials and prices. Probably we will begin work Thursday, we don't know yet, but certainly expect to be underway this week," a representative of the firm said.

The contract was approximately $90,000, according to A. L. Freedlander, president of the Dayton Rubber Manufacturing Company, and the contract calls for the building to be substantially completed by July 15.

The contractors expect that an average of 50 to 75 men will be given employment during the construction of the modern plant.

Buff tile, together with steel sash will form the walls of the steel framed building. The roof is of the factory type design for the one story building, which will have about 40,000 square feet of floor space.

The main building is in the form of an "L," fronting some 200 feet on the highway, and running about 180 feet deep. A spur off from the main building, of 200 feet will house the shoe plant which will be operated in connection with the rubber plant. A basement will be built under the shoe plant, which connects directly with the main plant.

A spur track of the Southern Railway system will be built to the property, running to the boiler house, which will be separated from main buildings.

No information has been received as to the contracts for plumbing, heating and electrical work.

The contract for the construction of the plant here was awarded the Merchant Construction Company Monday afternoon.

$8,000 Expansion Of Balsam Fish Hatchery Slated To Begin Today

An $8,000 expansion program at Morrison Hatchery at Balsam, is slated to get underway today by WPA, according to news received this week from Raleigh.

The work will consist of grading about the large pools which were constructed last year, and improving the road leading from the highway into the hatchery grounds.

Further plans are to develop the earthen pools on the property, the information to Charles E. Ray, member of the board of conservation and development pointed out.

The hatchery is one of the largest in the south. The large pools are 60 feet in diameter and are 5 to 9 feet deep. They have a capacity of 100,000 one-inch fingerling trout, or about 25,000 five-inch fish.
