Christ's Commission

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON 3-22

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL (The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 23, is Luke 24:36-53, the Golden Text being Luke 24:49, "Behold, I send forth the promise of My Father upon you.")

IN LAST week's lesson, you remember, our Lord was put to death by His enemies and His body was consigned to the tomb of His friend, Joseph of Arimathea. The women who loved Him "beheld the sepulchre and how the body was laid," and, after procuring spices and ointments to anoint the body, they left Him and went to observe the Sabbath.

Today we omit the scene at the tomb when the Marys went to anoint the body and found it gone, and take up our story when the disciples were gathered together talking, after some of them had seen the Risen Lord.

"And as they thus spake, Jesus Himself stood in the midst of them, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you," the typical eastern greeting.

In spite of what they had heard of Jesus' resurrection from the dead, the disciples were "terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen a spirit."

"And He said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and why do thoughts arise in your hearts? 'Behold My hands and My feet, that it is I myself: handle Me, and see; for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see Me have.'"

Begin to Rejoice At those words, they began to rejoice, but still could not believe, so Jesus asked them if they had any food, and when they brought some He ate it to show them that

He was indeed He risen from the dead. He reminded them how He had told them before His death that He would rise again to fulfill the law as written in Moses and the prophets concerning Him.

And further He said: "Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day: 'And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name among all the nations, beginning at Jerusalem.'"

"And ye are witnesses of these things." The disciples were to start their preaching at Jerusalem, but were told to tarry awhile, "until ye be endued with power from on high"—the Holy Ghost.

Then He led them on the road to Jerusalem as far as Bethany, and He lifted up His hands and blessed them.

"And it came to pass, while He blessed them, He was parted from them, and carried up into heaven. All their fear had left them now. The 11 disciples left after the tragedy of Judas' treason and self-destruction, were filled with great joy. Heretofore, when they had met together they were in terror of arrest, and were most careful who was admitted to their presence. But their Master had returned, and although He had again been taken away, they had their instructions to spread the gospel throughout the nations and to fear not. So they worshipped Jesus and returned to Jerusalem, with great joy, where they were 'continually in the temple,' openly praising and blessing God."

BLACKIE PLANS HIS WORK AND WORK HIS PLANS Story 91

About the only thing that Blackie ever sleeps on is his bed, but this was different. He knew he couldn't act on the ham matter till the next night, no matter how quickly he decided about it, and so he slept over it.

It really was a good deal of a job, and it took a lot of thinking to fix any plans that would work. One thing certain, he wasn't going to get Hound Dog into any trouble. That was settled. Another thing certain was that he and the boys were going to have Aunt Lindy's ham for their Sunday dinner. That was settled, too. The one thing that wasn't right certain was how to get the ham without getting Hound Dog into trouble.

It was indeed He risen from the dead. He reminded them how He had told them before His death that He would rise again to fulfill the law as written in Moses and the prophets concerning Him.

BLACKIE PLANS HIS WORK AND WORK HIS PLANS Story 91

About the only thing that Blackie ever sleeps on is his bed, but this was different. He knew he couldn't act on the ham matter till the next night, no matter how quickly he decided about it, and so he slept over it.

It really was a good deal of a job, and it took a lot of thinking to fix any plans that would work. One thing certain, he wasn't going to get Hound Dog into any trouble. That was settled. Another thing certain was that he and the boys were going to have Aunt Lindy's ham for their Sunday dinner. That was settled, too. The one thing that wasn't right certain was how to get the ham without getting Hound Dog into trouble.

It took three pipes of tobacco that morning to fix Blackie's mind so it could work it out, but at last he dropped his pipe on the floor and leaned back in his chair and grinned. And he smacked his lips, for he could almost taste that good old ham.

It was going to be a lot of fun, but he wasn't going to tell the boys much about how he was going to work it till the very last minute, and then he was going to show them. He gave a lot of directions to different ones during the day, and among other things he had Jay Bird go over late in the afternoon and see if the ham was in the spring house. Jay Bird came back and told him that it was there, and that it was in a big pan right down on the bottom shelf, so he could easily find it in the dark.

Jocko had hunted up a lot of heavy twine and some pieces of rope, and he had fixed a dog muzzle and tied it on Howler to see if it would fit, and he kept working on it till it was so tight that Howler couldn't bark. Blackie told him all about how to fix it, and he told Howler that he needn't worry, for it wouldn't ever go on again. And now a nice clean bag to put the ham in. Oh, yes, the ham was coming back with them!

Late in the afternoon Blackie called them all up and told them all about his plans, so they would all know just what to do. And the plans worked out all right.

Aunt Lindy and Tom had both been asleep a good while when Hound Dog heard a noise just outside of his door. He didn't make a bit of noise but crawled to the door and stuck his head out to see what was there. The very minute his head got out of the door Jocko grabbed it and slammed the muzzle over his nose so he couldn't bark nor bite and Howler grabbed him on the other side. It didn't take them but a few minutes to tie his feet together so he could not walk or scratch, and they fixed the muzzle so he couldn't rub it off.

The muzzle didn't keep him from breathing and it couldn't hurt him at all, it just kept him from biting or barking till Aunt Lindy took it off in the morning. Then they laid him back in his bed and shut the door. There wasn't a bit of reason why he couldn't sleep all the rest of the night, and after he got through wondering what all the crowd would take and finally gave it up, he went soundly to sleep.

When Jocko and Howler got to the spring house, there was Blackie just opening the door, and when Jocko went in and brought out the ham, Blackie stood there in the starlight and rubbed his paws over it, and then stood back and looked at it just like it was a Christmas tree. Then Jocko put it in the bag and three pretty happy Creek Folks started back to Blackie's house.

And now don't you worry about Hound Dog. He is fast asleep, and he isn't going to have a bit of trouble with Aunt Lindy. (To be Continued)

A WILLING WORKER

The bargaining for a cow had been going on leisurely for an hour. Finally the prospective purchaser came flatly to the point. "How much milk does she give?" "I don't rightly know," answered the farmer, "but she's a darn good-natured critter and she'll give all she can."

"Build-Up" Important Protector of Women

A weak, undernourished condition often enables functional dysmenorrhea to get a foothold; thus leads to much of woman's suffering from headaches, nervousness, and other periodic discomfort. CARDUI's principal help for such distress comes from the way it usually stimulates appetite; increases flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion; helps build energy, strength, physical resistance to periodic pain for many. Another way, many women find help for periodic distress: Take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time." Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!
