War Boom Brings Rushing Business To Professional Tattooers Near Camps

NEW YORK—National defense is leaving an indelible imprint on the youth of America. In a burst of purple and crimson glory, tattoo artists from Brooklyn to San Diego are pricking on a bumper crop of hearts and flowers, anchors and eagles.

Business hasn't been this good since the days of the last World War. For that you have the word of Charlie Wagner, ageless dean of subcutaneous needlepoint, who has been decorating some of the toughest forearms in America for half a century.

For 43 years he has worked in the same tiny, picture-filled shop fronting Chatham Square—tattoo center of New York.

6 "Maybe Girls Are Too Fickle"

Charlie figures about ten minutes for a small design. They used to take two hours, until the electric needle came along. Charlie says he brought this refinement into tattooing himself—in 1904. He uses a four-needle instrument, with 3000 strokes a minute, for the thin outlines. He freehands the colors in with an eight-needle drill.

"There is one change since the last war," Charlie said. "There aren't so many girls getting tattooed as used to. Maybe they are too fickle. (You can have a tattoo removed, but it leaves a definite scar—making the skin what Char-

A MAN TALKS TO HIS MULE

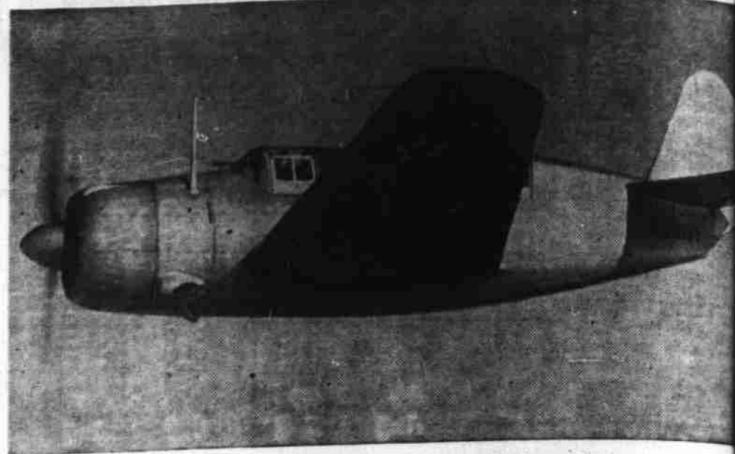

Here is a bit of writing which truly deserves to be called an agricultural classic. We reprint it from the Progressive Farmer:

"Over the hill trailed a man behind a mule drawing a plow. Unexpectedly the plow hit a root, the lie calls "pale like.")

The army and navy don't encourage tattoos and turn some men down whose tattoos are too big or indecent. Unclad women are strictly taboo. Charlie said that many's the man he has helped get into the services by etching clothes on a nude fore-arm lassie.

Navy's New Super Dive Bomber

Here is the Navy's new super dive bomber, claimed to be the best in the world, shown in flight over N. Y. Built by the Curtiss-Wright Aircraft Corp., the two-place all-metal craft is powered by horsepower engine. Constructed to operate from an aircraft carrier, it carries its bombs within its large rather than under its belly or wings, thus reducing the wind resistance. Experts say its approximate 350 miles an hour.

mule stopped, and the man began to grumble as he fixed the hames:

"Bill, you are just a mule, the son of a jackass, and I am a man made in the image of God. Yet here we work, hitched up together year after year. I often wonder if you work for me or I work for you. Verily, I think it is a partnership between a mule and a fool, for surely I work as hard as you, if not harder. Plowing or cultivating we cover the same distance, but you do it on four legs and I on two, therefore I do twice as much as you.

"Soon we will be preparing for a corn crop. When the crop is harvested I give one-third to the landlord for being so kind as to let me use a small speck of God's earth. One-third goes to you and the rest is mine. You consume all of your portion, with the exception of the cobs, while I divide mine among seven children, six hens, two ducks, and a banker. If we both need shoes, you get 'em. You are getting the best of me, and I ask you, is it fair for a mule, the son of a jackass, to swindle a man, the lord of creation, out of his substance?"

"Why, you only help to plow and cultivate the ground, and I alone must cut, shock and husk the corn, while you look over the pasture fence and hee-haw at men. All fall and most of the winter the whole family from baby up picks cotton to help raise enough money to pay taxes and buy a new set of harness and pay the mortgage on you. And what do you care about the mortgage? Not a thing, you onery cuss. I even have to do the worrying about the mortgage on your tough, ungrateful hide.

"About the only time I am your better is an election day, for I can vote and you can't. election I realize that I as big 'a jackass as you. Verily, I am prone to wot itics were made for a jackass, or to make jack of men.

"Tell me, William, of these things, how can you straight face and still dumb and solemn?"
