

Lake Junaluska Will Open 28th Season Sunday At 11

mon on Sunday, August 10. Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, of Washington, D. C., Bishop William N. Ainsworth, of Macon, Ga., Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Richmond, Va., and Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, of Jackson, Miss., will take part in the religious side of the programs.

Two of the main speakers to be heard during the assembly will be J. Melville Broughton, governor of North Carolina, and Clyde R. Hoey, Shelby, attorney and former governor of the state. Governor Broughton will begin the second week of the session with an address on "Patriotism and Religion" at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, June 22, and Mr. Hoey will speak on "Our Country—Peace or War," at 8 o'clock Friday evening, July 4.

On the lighter side of the summer program will be numerous entertainment features—band concerts, moving pictures, cartoons, recitals, and contests.

Disney cartoons and full-length motion picture features have been rented by the assembly and will be shown at intervals throughout the summer. A powerful 16-mm projector has been obtained from Bell and Howell, of Chicago, and will be used by the assembly. One of the moving pictures which is expected to attract much attention is a sound picture of "Journey to Jerusalem," a Broadway play. The play was filmed while in actual production on the stage.

The administration staff of the assembly consists of: Dr. Lambeth; Mrs. Katherine Ray Atkins, assistant superintendent and assistant treasurer; Miss Imogene Miles, secretary to the superintendent; Walter Vassar, director of music; E. E. Riedel, director of recreation; Mrs. C. W. Turpin, director of publicity, and Mrs. Martha Frances Morgan, children's playground supervisor. Lucius Pitts is the student-pastor of the negro people on the grounds.

81 Youths In County Are Working Under NYA

tional advisory committees of the National Youth Administration have emphasized the importance and the relationship of non-military aspects of national defense, such as health, housing, recreation, education, the employed and the unemployed—in fact all phases of democratic society, to the great number of young men and women who are not engaged in the armed forces, but who share an equal responsibility to their country.

In reply to the question asked, more than 1,000 youths made specific suggestions for their participation in programs of training to replace men needed in the armed forces of the United States and in defense industries. Mr. Lang stated. More than 800 suggested a program to enable youth to keep physically fit through recreation and health improvement, while more than 500 suggested the formation of organizations and groups designed to bring about a fuller appreciation of democratic principles, the American form of government, and improved citizenship. Other suggestions of a positive nature included the purchase of defense bonds, the production of food through individual and community gardens, surveys of local participation in defense needs, providing reading and recreation materials for army posts, disregarding obvious propaganda on the part of subversive elements, operation of girls' clerical, nursing and sewing services, general support of the nation's defense program, and participation in that program through the Junior Red Cross, 4-H clubs, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, youth organizations, flying clubs, and other groups.

The entire survey was marked by a real desire on the part of youth for guidance in active participation in the defense program, Lang added.

Assisting in conducting the survey were the local schools, and civic and business organizations.
