

Impressive Ceremony Marked Vows In Barber-Easley Wedding

The marriage of Miss Mary Ashworth Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neely Barber, to Genatus Robertson Easley, of Greenville, S. C., was solemnized at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Richland Heights, the home of the bride's parents in a simple but impressive ceremony. Only members of the family and a few close friends were present. The Rev. H. G. Hammett, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated.

The vows were taken before an improvised altar in front of a colonial mantel in the music room. The background was white and covered with greenery, and the mantel was banked in white flowers. Floor candelabra in graduated sizes, intertwined with ivy, formed the altar. At either side were placed tall white vases with large white chrysanthemums. The room was lighted entirely by candle light.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. H. G. Hammett, accompanied by Miss Mary Alton Easley, sister of the bridegroom, of Greenville, sang, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." This was followed by a violin solo, "Adoration," by Borowski, by Mrs. Richard N. Barber, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride. She was accompanied by Mrs. Hammett, who also played the wedding marches, "Lohengrin," being used for the processional and the Mendelssohn march for the recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a handsome gown of heavy antique satin fashioned with a yoke of fine net edged with Venetian lace, forming an off the shoulder effect. The long sleeves were fastened from the elbow down to the hand with tiny white-satin covered buttons. The skirt was very full and shirred at the waist with a long train. The veil of illusion which extended the full length of the train of the gown was held in place by a coronet of Venetian lace.

Her flowers were a bouquet of bride's roses, centered with gardenias, which formed a detachable corsage, which she later wore. The bride carried a point lace handkerchief used by her mother at the time of her marriage. The only piece of jewelry worn was a seed pearl necklace. The wedding ring used in the ceremony had been worn by both the grandmother and mother of the bride.

Her only attendant was her small niece, Elizabeth Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard N. Barber, Jr. She wore a frock of light blue velvet trimmed in baby Irish lace, and a small poke bonnet of the same material with small rose buds and lace around the crown. She carried the ring in a lily, showered with tulle.

The groom had as his best man, his brother-in-law, C. D. Asbury, of Greenville.

The bride has resided in Waynesville most of her life and is popular with all groups. After attending the local schools, she was graduated from Meredith College, and then did special work at Columbia University afterward teaching in the Waynesville and Burlington high schools. She has traveled extensively in the United States, South America and Europe. She has been active in the social, civic and religious affairs of the community.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ben Easley, and the late Mr. Easley, of Greenville, S. C. He received his education in the Greenville city schools and later attended Furman University, where he was a member of the Kappa Alpha social fraternity. He is a member of the Rotary Club of Greenville, and is prominently identified with the business and civic affairs of his home city.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Barber entertained with a large reception honoring the bridal party. In the receiving line in the music room were Mr. and Mrs. Barber, the latter wearing a fuchsia crepe and lace gown, with a yellow corsage of roses; Mrs. Ben Easley, mother of the bridegroom, in blue crepe with corsage of red roses, and the bride and groom.

Receiving in the living room were Mrs. Sam Hines, of Winston-Salem, cousin of the bride; Mrs. A. D. Asbury, Miss Mary Alta Easley, Miss Katherine Easley, sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Mary Asbury, and Miss Isabelle Asbury, nieces of the bridegroom, all of Greenville.

In the reception hall quantities of red flowers were used, and in the living room pink roses and dahlias were a decorative note. In the dining room the bridal motif prevailed. The table, which was covered with a handsome Italian cutwork cloth, was centered with a three tier wedding cake, arranged on a silver tray. This was encircled with crescent shaped flower containers holding white roses and small white chrysanthemums. At the four corners were holders with lighted tapers and in between composites of nuts and candies. All the appointments were in silver. The serving tables were also arranged in bowls of white flowers.

Assisting in receiving and serving were the following: in the reception hall, Mrs. Richard N. Barber, Jr., and her mother, Mrs. W. W. Norman, of Griffin, Ga. Here Mrs. William Medford directed the callers to the register over which Ann Osborne presided.

Mrs. T. Lenoir Gwyn introduced the receiving line in the music room. Mrs. William Hannah greeted the guests in the living room. Mrs. Henry Foy, Mrs. J. C. Patrick and Mrs. Joe Liner presided over the gift room on the second floor.

Mrs. Ben Colkitt was in charge of the dining room and was assisted in serving by Mrs. Whitener Prevost, Mrs. Hallet Ward, Mrs. Ben Sloan, Mrs. Robert H. Breese, Mrs. Henry Davis, and Mrs. Joe Tate.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding and reception in addition to those already mentioned were: Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bryson, of Sylva, Mr. and Mrs. H. Perry, Miss Mary James Perry, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. Luther M. McBee, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mattison, Miss Lucy Gilliam, J. T. Smith, Mrs. H. B. McKay, and Mrs. W. T. Powers, all of Greenville.

For going away the bride wore a smart princess ensemble with Kolinsky neck piece. Her pompadour hat was also trimmed in Kolinsky fur with a short veil.

Dr. and Mrs. John Walton Shackford, of Rock Hill, S. C., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Love Branner Shackford, to Thomas Roger Walker. The vows were solemnized at high noon Saturday, October 6th, at the Lower Fines Creek Methodist church, of which the bride's brother is pastor.

Dr. Shackford, superintendent of the Rock Hill District of the Methodist church, father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Joe Shackford, pastor of the church, and brother of the bride, performed the ceremony. The nuptial music was rendered by Miss Margaret Shackford, sister of the bride.

The wedding was a quiet affair with only the members of the family present.

Miss Ella Shackford served as her sister's maid of honor. She wore a sheer wool frock in soft green with brown accessories. Miss Elizabeth Shackford, another sister was maid of honor. She wore a frock of similar shade and her accessories were also in brown.

Master Joseph Temple Shackford, Jr., son of the Rev. Joseph T. Shackford, was ring bearer. He carried the ring in a rose.

The bride wore a becoming suit of wool in soft rosewood shades, and her accessories in harmonizing tones of brown. Her flowers were a corsage of orchids.

The bride was educated in the schools of Waynesville and Charlotte, after which she attended Duke University. She is also a graduate of the Nurses Training School of Watts Hospital, of Durham. She is the granddaughter of the late Bishop and Mrs. James Atkins, and is prominently connected on both sides of her family in North Carolina and Virginia.

The groom is the son of Mrs. James A. Walker, formerly of Reidsville, now of Greensboro, and the late Mr. Walker of Reidsville. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, where he was a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. He has been residing here for the past three and a half years, and is associated with the Unagusta Manufacturing Company of Hazelwood.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to New York City and other points North. Upon their return they will reside here, temporarily having leased the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell during their absence from town.

BOOST FLOW OF Liver Bile

Normally about a quart of these digestion-aiding bile juices should flow freely into your intestines every 24 hours. A scanty flow—a slowing-up—may mean Sick Headaches, so-called "Biliousness," Poor Digestion, that "half-stick" sour feeling and most probably constipation. Avoid Calumet or other drastic drugs. Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts tonight; start right in tomorrow morning and take half a level teaspoonful in three-quarters of a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast, and keep it up for 30 days. Now you'll know what it is to get up feeling fit and ready for a real day's work. Try Kruschen for the next 30 days and see what it means to you when Bile Flows Freely. Satisfaction Guaranteed or money back.
