too, I've quit chawin' (I don't go barefooted any more) (I can help it), shave and come in at my house. So, you see Mrs. Abe has done a wonderful job. How she stretched my head thru my stumick.

There is as much improvement in the stand for the present, because must neither reform nor a man too fast—there's of relapse.

Partin' A Move On 'Em
You notice the great activity during lime throughout the last week? I'm sure the agents did. On October 31 one man almost on the run out his allotment. He had bucket; and as he ran back between lime pile and the poor places it reminded me of a shuttle train at work. At another farm was evidence of great haste, the lime being scattered mostly within shovel-throw distance from the pile. Uncle Abe, seein' he would have to put his lime out with a wheel bar, commenced in time—so, Mr. County Agent, I'm ready for you. I've scattered my "East Tennessee". But if we keep on hauling East Tennessee and scattering it out in Haywood, this county will go "radical" shore.

"Time Changes Everything"
"How long did it take us to drive from Lenoir?" asked Uncle Wade Frazier as he got out of the car at Waynesville after we had driven the 110 miles. "A little less than three hours, safe driving," he was told.

"Well, that reminds me," replied Uncle Wade, "I used to make it from Canton to Asheville, eighteen miles, with a loaded wagon in half a day."

As we passed the little cemetery down on Hominy at the overhead crossing, Mr. Frazier called our attention to it. Hemmed in by the railroad and highway, as it is, I had never noticed it before. It is now grown up with trees, briars, and vines as though forgotten.

"Those graves were there fifty years ago when I used to drive the old road with wagon and team," he said.

"What if the dead lying there could wake up and see the big busses and vans whizzing by now," someone said.

"I guess they'd jist about pass out again," he replied.

No, all that digging you see going on along the highway is not for the lost pot of gold. They're just moving the road signs back.

"Scarrit the Groom"
"He scarrit the groom" (he scratches the ground) said a Scotchman of his neighbor who followed shallow ploughing. That could be said of many persons in the various trades, professions and pursuits of life; they do nothing thorough, merely scratch the ground. And, as the Scotchman's yields were doubtless meager, so will be the returns from any work of merely scratching the ground.

"Quack-Quack"
"Do you kill ducks when you want to pick 'em to get the feathers?" we heard a woman ask a few days ago.

Whereupon she was told that it wouldn't do to kill her ducks every time she wanted to pick them.

"Granny" Land
"Granny" Land was a simple, faithful, trusting, plodding old soul. I said as much of her when she was living, carrying around her little bunch of wild flowers or bucket of berries. I certainly should not withhold this brief tribute now, that she is dead.

It was a short, simple program, yet impressive, that saw the thirty draftees and volunteers off last Friday. Our high school band performed well—as they do at all occasions. And most of the draftees, though young, seemed to "hold themselves together" well.

"Well, In This World!"
I will have to close, Mr. Editor. I'm a-writin' this letter under a great handicap, viz: down in my cold, damp basement. I'm down here cause I couldn't stand it to hear 'em talk about a certain divorce any longer. Every once in a while I stick my head out and listen—when the subject changes, I'll go back.

R. L. Coin, Jr. U.S. Navy Licensed Electrician's Mate

R. L. Coin, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Coin, who enlisted in the navy a year and four months ago, has just completed a course at the navy sound motion picture technical school at San Diego, Calif., and received the rating of electrician's mate, third class, it was learned here this week.

Young Coin has been assigned to the U. S. S. Ballard, an aircraft tender. Prior to studying at San Diego, he attended a navy school at Mare Island, San Francisco.

Calls For Aid At Welfare Office One Fourth Less

The county welfare office is receiving approximately one-fourth the number of calls for assistance this fall as compared to last year, according to Mrs. Sam Queen, county welfare superintendent. Mrs. Queen attributes this to the increase in employment opportunities as a result of the defense program.

The number given aid last month still represents a problem, however, from the number receiving help. There were 129 families where the bread winner was either dead, unable to work, or had deserted his dependents, given aid during the past month.

These 129 families represented 285 children. A mother receives an average of $5.80 for each dependent child in this county.

There were 496 persons receiving old age security during the month, being paid an average of $1.95 per person.

There were 28 blind persons in the county who were helped during the month.

In addition to the foregoing six patients from Haywood county in the Western North Carolina Sanatorium received aid.

Letters To The Editor

The Preservation of Antiquities on October 13, 1941, called a meeting at the George Vanderbilt Hotel, Asheville, for the purpose of forming a branch society to work toward the establishment of a museum in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, and to preserve the historic shrines of Western North Carolina.

In appreciation for your valuable assistance in this work the following resolution was unanimously passed at the meeting held in Asheville at that time:

Whereas, for a number of years you have worked as a citizen of Western North Carolina, toward the creation of a historical museum in the North Carolina part of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, and

Whereas, as an individual you have made a large collection of articles suitable for such a museum.

Now, be it resolved by members of this meeting, representing all sections of Western Carolina, that an expression of deep appreciation be sent you for your untir-

Baptists Adopt Budget Of $9,725

The congregation of the First Baptist church adopted a budget for the coming year amounting to $9,725 at a recent conference.

The budget for the coming year does not include any fund for debts, as the church plans to pay all indebtedness before January first. The total indebtedness is now less than $300.

Among the largest items are $2,233 for building improvements, and ten per cent of the budget has been designated "reserve depreciation."

For mission work and the general state and Southern Baptist program, the local church has set aside $1,458, or 15 per cent of the total budget.

Included in the financial program, is the provision of more Sunday school supplies, such as maps, teachers' aids and a library.

The budget for the coming year was built largely upon contributions made so far this year, which have been gratifying, the finance committee reported.

EASY DOES IT! Jiggling the Hook Slows up Service

When you've finished a telephone call and wish to speak to the operator before hanging up, move the hook up and down slowly. This causes a light to blink on the switchboard, attracting the operator's attention immediately. Rapid jiggling of the hook, on the other hand, may fail to flash the signal light. Remember—you'll get quickest service by moving the hook slowly.
