

NEWS REPORTS AT FT. JACKSON

By Bobby Sloan.

Nothing has impressed me more than the Armistice Day celebration held for our regiment alone since I have been here. I am sure I don't know why. It was, compared to what was held all over the country, a very simple affair, but because of this very simplicity it was so impressive, for I have learned in my service in the army is that of simplicity. So many things used to be considered necessary in life are unessential and speech down. Colonel Manning has been over it and corrected two errors, I also have his permission for publication. He had no notes and the speech was made more in the form of a talk to the boys rather than an eloquent example of oratory over the heads of the audience.

The Colonel's remarks seemed to strike home the gravity of the inter-national situation in which the United States plays so prominent a part now, particularly his reference to Freedom of the Seas.

"I am very, very proud of the record which this regiment has made. It is unexcelled by any and is equalled by few in this corps. Ahead of us lies the supreme test in these maneuvers. With complete confidence in your ability to do a better job in the next three weeks than you have done before, I know that the reputation of this regiment will be materially enhanced by its performance in the general headquarters phase."

From these introductory remarks, Colonel Manning launched into the main body of his address. "Today we celebrate in our own way the twenty-third anniversary of the signing of the Armistice which brought to an end World War I at 11:00 o'clock on the morning of the eleventh day of the eleventh month of the year, 1918. America fought then that men might remain free. It was not the first time Americans had fought for this objective.

"The foundation stones of our government were laid following the Revolutionary War in which men fought that they might have Freedom of Religion, Freedom of Speech, and Freedom of the Press. These three freedoms are a priceless heritage which has been handed down to us by our forefathers. We do not enjoy them as a matter of God-given right, but we enjoy them because our forefathers, have fought, have bled, have died that we may have them.

"Today those rights, those Freedoms, as well as a fourth Freedom, the Freedom of the Seas, upon which I believe the other three Freedoms largely depend, are seriously challenged. It now appears that we may have to fight in order that ourselves and our posterity may continue to enjoy the blessings which these freedoms give us. As the Prime Minister of Great Britain has said, it is only through blood and sweat and tears that these Freedoms will be preserved. I do not believe that democratic civilization can survive in a world half Nazi and half Democratic.

"I know that none of us will consent that the Holy Bible shall be replaced by Adolph Hitler's Mein Kampf. I know that none of us will consent that any man or group of men shall tell us that we cannot worship God according to the dictates of our conscience and in any church of our choosing. And yet in Germany today that is exactly what has happened. The Holy Bible is being replaced by Hitler's book, the Cross upon the altars in the churches is being replaced by the sword. The people of Germany cannot have the consolation of private worship in their churches under the guidance of preachers of their own selection. They must go to members of the Nazi party who have taken over the churches and who preach the religion of the Nazi philosophy. And that, too, fellow soldiers, is

Fines Creek News

Mrs. D. N. Rathbone

The annual father and son banquet was held recently at the school with a large number present. The F. F. A. boys, who sponsor the event, had on display some of the work and projects which are carried on under the supervision of their teacher, Mr. Nesbitt.

The farmers of this section want some rainy weather so they can class their tobacco.

Rev. Mr. Garrison, the newly appointed pastor for the Fines Creek Methodist charge, arrived Friday to take up his pastoral duties. He will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Noland for two or three weeks, after which he will take charge of the parsonage. The members of the church welcome his arrival and wish for him every success.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McCracken recently went to the head of Hurricane where they gathered a truck load of apples. Among the lot was the famous Northern Spy, a very delicious apple. The orchard is now owned by Theodore Ferguson, and was first started by Lum Ledford, who owned the farm many years ago. Mr. Ferguson now has young trees set out among the older trees, which he plans to remove.

The women of the Fines Creek Methodist church have worked hard to get enough money to buy a new stove for the parsonage kitchen. The stove has been installed, and works in with the general color scheme of the kitchen.

Miss Margie Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Davis, is now at Hazelwood where she holds a position.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Davis have finish that job in 1918 and when war started in Europe, my personal conviction was (and I so stated at that time) that we should pick up in September 1939 where we left off in November, 1918 and finish that job and finish it quickly. We may yet be called upon to do that very thing: if we are, we are ready to do it.

"Let us therefore re-dedicate ourselves, re-consecrate ourselves to this objective, irrespective of what trials and tribulations, what sacrifices may be required of us to bring about this accomplishment."

At the Colonel's conclusion, the regiment stood for one minute with bowed heads in silent prayer, a prayer concluded by a benediction. These ceremonies were brief, but no soldier left the field feeling quite the same as he had felt when he marched into the area less than an hour before; something had been added to the spirit and fighting morale of every man within hearing of the Colonel's words.

School Building At Bethel Is Dedicated

(Special to The Mountaineer)
An interesting program was presented Friday afternoon at the dedication of the new vocational building at the Bethel school.

A large crowd was present, and the community showed deep appreciation and interest in the new building.

R. T. Messer, chairman of the board of education, presented the address as their guest, Mrs. Tom Davis, of Lake Junaluska, mother of the latter and also Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Reeves, of Greeneville, Tenn.

The annual turkey supper which is held every year at the Thanksgiving season, was held last Friday night, with more than 300 attending.

The tables from which the food was served seemed to tremble under the weight of thirteen turkeys, a kettle of mutton, with additional kettles of beans, creamed potatoes, good creamy gravy, turkey sauce, celery, cranberry sauce and biscuits.

Ice cream sandwiches, contributed by Pet Dairy Products Company were served for desert.

May we express our gratitude and thanks for the school principal, Fred L. Safford and his faithful co-workers, for their able management and direction of the affair with the aid of the P. T. A.

In the P. T. A. membership, the "Golds" won, by securing the most members.

The Fines Creek high school girl's glee club of 26 members, presented a program at chapel recently which was well received. Members of the club are: Evelyn Haynes, Bernice Davis, Hazel Arrington, Thelma Hall, Margaret Ferguson, Kathryn Noland, Nellie Haynes, Annie Mae Parton, Dorothy Rogers, Virginia Early, Marie Hill, Lucile Arrington, Lucile Conrad, Betty Jane Walker, Catherine Russell, Beatrice Russell, are sopranos.

Annie Dee Kingsmore, Faye Parton, Lillian Haynes, Elizabeth Roger, Ruth Sparks, Ruby Rathbone, Hilda Ledford, Blye Rogers, Estalee McElrath, Dortha Greene, Edith Rathbone, and Monitee Messer.
