

World News Gathered By A Camera

Annapolis Graduates 'War Class'

They toss their caps into the air in the traditional gesture as 347 graduates from the naval academy at Annapolis, Md. This is the "war class" to be graduated. They were scheduled to go into active service ten days after graduation.

Air Heroes in Pacific War

These are five of the six American airmen, who, the War Department said in its eighth communique of the war, performed "numerous feats of heroism" during the surprise Japanese attack on Honolulu. Top, left to right: Lieut. Harry W. Brown of Amarillo, Tex., shot down one of the enemy planes; Lieut. George S. Welch of Wilmington, Del., credited with shooting down four Jap planes. Bottom, left to right: Lieut. Kenneth M. Taylor of Hominy, Okla., downed two Jap planes; Lieut. Philip M. Rasmussen of Boston, Mass., who shot down a Jap plane over the field barracks; Lieut. Gordon H. Sterling, Jr., of West Hartford, Conn., located formation of six enemy planes and destroyed one.

Wants to Join Navy

Port Reid, of New York City, is 76 and sees no reason why he shouldn't be allowed to join the navy to fight the Japanese. A retired chief, he has volunteered his services. His grandson is in the navy.

On Defense Job

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, of New York, is shown broadcasting from the municipal radio station in New York City to residents of the metropolis, urging them to be calm. He advised Japanese in New York to go about as little as possible. In the background is Fire Commissioner Patrick Walsh, key man in civilian defense of the city.

Aviatrix Held

Young American aviatrix, Laura Galla, is pictured at the Washington police headquarters after she was jailed on charge of violating Foreign Agents Registration Act. She was charged with being agent of the German government.

New Commanders of Hawaiian Defense

A sweeping shakeup of the Pacific High Command following Secretary Knox's report on the Pearl Harbor disaster resulted in changing commands of the Navy, Army and Air Force. Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emons (left) was given command of the Hawaiian Department, relieving Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short. Rear Admiral Chester V. Nimitz (center) became head of the Pacific Fleet, replacing Admiral Husband E. Kimmel. Brig. Gen. C. L. Tinker was given command of the Army air forces at Hawaii, replacing Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Martin.

Replace Canadian Men in U. S.

These three girls are the first members of the Canadian women's army corps in Washington to take over duties formerly performed by men at the Canadian Legation. Left to right: Company Sergt. Maj. Jacqueline Mineau, of Ottawa; Company Sergt. Maj. Mary Fowler, of Ottawa, and Company Sergt. Maj. Enid Clark, of Vancouver, B. C.

Volunteer as Air Raid Wardens

New York City patrolman Gunner Steen fingerprints Vivia Sullander, as Newbold Morris (standing beside her), president of the City Council, looks on. Left is Herbert Overton. Even though Overton and Miss Hollander suffer from infantile paralysis, they are offering their services as air raid wardens.

Interceptor Chief

In charge of the First Interceptor Command is Brig. Gen. John C. McDonnell. He was given sole and full responsibility for originating air raid warnings in the Second Corps area which includes New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

1942 'Swim for Health' Girl

Bee Stewart, 22, has been selected 1942 National Swim for Health Week girl by a committee of manufacturers and newspapermen in New York City.

Killed in Hawaii

Among those killed when the Japanese bombed Honolulu from the air was Sergt. Vincent Horah, of Stamford, Conn. More than 1,000 men were reported killed in the sneak raid on Hawaii.

Lifeline of the U. S.

With unidentified planes reported in the vicinity of the Panama Canal, all defenses in the Canal Zone are being manned twenty-four hours a day. The best of America's pursuit planes are continuously flying patrol over the vital waterway that connects the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans. Map shows course of the Canal. Small map shows relative location of the Canal.

Dutch Sub in Action

The gun crew of a Royal Netherlands submarine is shown in action off Sourabaya, The East Indies. Reports from the Far East battlegrounds declare the Dutch submarines are wreaking havoc on Japanese transports and other war vessels.

The President Meets With His War Cabinet

President Roosevelt meets with his war cabinet in the White House for the first time. Left to right around the table: Harry Hopkins, lend-lease administrator; Frances Perkins, secretary of labor; Col. Philip B. Fleming, federal works administrator; Vice President Henry A. Wallace; Fiorello LaGuardia, civilian defense administrator; Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator; Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce; Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior; Postmaster General Frank C. Walker; Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war; Cordell Hull, secretary of state; the President; Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury; Attorney General Francis Biddle; Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, and Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture. The Cabinet will hold frequent sessions.

Off to Hawaii

The slogan is "Remember Pearl Harbor" and these experienced shipyard workers do as they sign to go to the Hawaiian base. They answered an advertisement for several hundred men to repair damage wrought to vessels and facilities there.