Growing Tension With False Leaders

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL (The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 19 is Luke 11 14-54, 13 31-35, the Golden Text being Luke 11:23. "He that is not with Me is against Me; and he that gathereth not with Me scattereth.")

TODAY'S LESSON is a little difficult-in part, at least-to explain to younger persons. In it Jesus steps out of his role of gentle teacher, and speaks out to the Pharisees and Scribes whom He knows to be His enemies.

Jesus had just cast a dumb spirit out of a man and the man, freed from the evil thing, was talking. Everyone was amazed at his fluency. The evil minded ones among them were, however, saying among themselves that it was undoubtedly through Beelzebub, chief of the devils, that Jesus cast the spirit out. Others insisted that Jesus show them a sign from heaven.

Jesus knew what they were thinking, and said to them, that a house divided against itself would fall; and if Satan also was divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand? His kingdom was sure to be destroyed if his followers were divided. And if the Lord cast out devils by the power of the evil one, by whom did their sons cast them out? The Jews believed that their chief men could cast out demons. Through whom were they doing this? asked the Master

On the other hand, "If I with the finger of God cast out devils, no doubt the Kingdom of God is come upon you."

Strength Will Prevail

Then Jesus said that a good man who was strongly armed could keep his palace and goods; but if a stronger were to appear he would be overcome and lose all. In other words, Satan is strong and his followers are his goods. God is stronger, however, and Jesus, working with God to cast out evil spirits, would bring the Kingdom of God, defeating Satan.

Then Jesus laid down the law concerning His friends and followers and His enemies. He said: "He that is not with Me is against Me." Again He spoke of a man out of whom an evil spirit had been cast. The evil spirit, he said, having been cast out of the man, walked through dry places seeking rest and finding none, so he return unto my whence I came out."

to the man he found that he was clean and whole, but alas, the evil one not only entered himself, but took seven other spirits with him, and the man was worse off then than he had been before. You see, I death.

Jesus' point was that although the man had been rid of the demon and had reformed, he was not strong enough to withstand another onslaught He did not try hard enough to live the Christian life and to keep close to the Master who had helped him overcome the evil which was in him. As Jesus finished saying these things a woman in the crowdspoke, exclaiming how blessed was His mother above all women. But Jesus answered, "Yea rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God and keep it."

Even hearing the Lord speak in person was not enough. They should hear, but must also keep the word of God.

An Evil Generation

Probably wearied with the growing tension and opposition of the leaders of the Jews, Jesus burst out: "This is an evil generation: they seek a sign, and there shall be no sign given it, but the sign of Jonas the prophet." Jonas was sent to warn the Ninevites, but the Son of Man, a "greater than Jonas," was with them, and they would not hear.

The "queen of the south" (Sheba), came from the uttermost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of the Jews' great king, Solo-mon, but his listeners had a greater than Solomon with them but they still demanded a sign.

If their eyes were open and not closed or "full of evil," they would see and recognize their Lord and so save themselves.

A certain Pharisee then invited Jesus to dine with him. As the Lord sat down to the meal, the Pharisees marveled that Jesus had not washed before eating. Possibly Jesus did not wash purposely because He wanted to show these people their faults. At any rate, He said, "Now do ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the platter; but your inward part if full of ravening and wickedness."

"Woe to you Pharisees," exclaimed the Lord. He called them hypocrites, and told them they were more concerned with keeping old written laws than with doing good and living righteously. Then a lawyer or scribe said, 'Master, thus saying, Thou reproachest us also." So Jesus' righteous wrath was turned on this class of men, too, who magnified the importance of laws and thithes, and earthly things, and neglected charity and the things of the spirit.

The ancestors of these men had persecuted the prophets, said Jesus, and they built the tombs in which to lay them. And well did the Master know that these were the men who were planning His
