

Week Of The War

Office of Price Administrator announced amount of gasoline that will be granted upon presentation of rationing cards from 15 to July 1. After July 1 the rationing system will be in effect.

Drivers for pleasure or those who drive less than six miles a day will receive 21 gallons, or an average of three gallons a week during the 47-day period. Motorists who drive six to 10 miles a day will receive 33 gallons for the week; those who drive from 10 to 15 miles daily, 45 gallons; and those of 14 or more miles, 57 gallons. Persons whose vehicles are necessary to their employment or as physicians and ministers will receive unlimited supplies. The OPA estimated that one-third of all motorists in the area will be classed as non-essential and limited to three gallons weekly.

Summary figures showed 123 persons, approximately 91 percent of the total population, are rationed for sugar rationing. Seven million persons were rationed for war ration Book No. 1, which they already held more than six pounds of sugar.

The planes which recently raided Japan were U. S. army bombers. The attack was made in clear weather, in the middle of the day, and at low altitudes. The selected targets "were accurately attacked with demolition and incendiary bombs," the department said. Japanese broadcasts admitted that between 3,000 and 4,000 casualties and fires which raged for 48 hours were caused by the raid, the department said.

The Navy Department said 21 Japanese warships were sunk or damaged in the battle of the Coral Sea with relatively slight losses to U. S. forces. U. S. losses will be reported when the information is without value to the enemy, the navy said, but all Tokyo claims of damages inflicted were declared without foundation. The navy reported 85 Japanese warships and 96 noncombatant vessels had been sunk or damaged from Pearl Harbor to May 11. Resistance of U. S. and Filipino troops on Corregidor was finally overcome. The navy reported the torpedoing of 10 more merchant vessels off the Atlantic Coast.

ARMY AND SELECTIVE SERVICE

The regulations were issued for the army specialist corps which was set up to make available to the army specially skilled persons not otherwise eligible for active duty. Officers and specialists will make up the corps. Officers pay will range from $2,600 for second lieutenants to $9,000 for the director general, and specialists pay will range from $1,800 to $3,500. The department said construction has been started on flight strips adjoining highways in a strategic area on the Atlantic seaboard. The War Department said it cannot answer individual inquiries as to army casualties or the whereabouts of army personnel. Selective service headquarters said occupational questionnaires to determine civilian skill will be mailed not later than May 27 to men of the first and second registration who are not already in the armed forces.

NAVY

Navy Secretary Knox reported navy personnel now total 500,000 compared with 140,000 in the summer of 1940. He said the navy will include one million men by July, 1943. The Senate sent to the White House a bill authorizing an increase of 200,000 tons in the U. S. submarine fleet.

WAR BONDS AND TAXES

The Treasury reported war bond sales during the first six business days of May were 21 per cent greater than in the same period in April and totaled more than 25 per cent of the Nation's May quota of $600 million. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, in a letter to Congress, said the time has come to lower personal exemptions under the individual income tax to $600 for single persons, $1,200 for married couples, and $300 for each dependent.

CIVILIAN SUPPLY

The WPB prohibited use of copper, bronze or brass after May 31 in manufacture of about 100 household and common civilian items. Use of iron and steel in more than 400 such items was prohibited after July 3. The orders include such products as waste baskets, foun-

Launch Four U. S. Destroyers in 50 Minutes

Four new destroyers for the U. S. Navy were launched at the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Company at Kearny, N. J., within a fifty minute period. This set a new launching record. The war vessels, 90% completed, are left to right: 445—Fletcher; 446—Radford; 489—Mervine and 490—Quick. Charles Edison, Governor of New Jersey, who delivered the principal address termed the launching "the equivalent of a splendid naval victory." (Central Press)

Treasury Head Favors Voluntary War Bond Buying

By CHARLES P. STEWART (Central Press Columnist)

TREASURY Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., has developed, since the war began, a streak of liberality that's a surprise to his associates.

There's a perhaps natural tendency on the part of considerable national officials to meet the emergency by the adoption of some pretty dictatorial policies. It isn't an inconsistency, either, among officeholders who get into positions of authority as outstanding friends of the "peepul," and undoubtedly mean to be so. It is rather notorious, in fact, that that kind of statesmen are historically inclined to boss folk around very peremptorily when they encounter opposition.

Secretary Morgenthau's a New Dealer, of course, or he wouldn't be holding down his present job, but he's generally been regarded, until lately, as an individual of the sort addicted to MAKE other folk tain pens, flashlights, electric razors, cash registers and baking pans. Designs of glass containers were restricted to existing mold equipment. The board said this standardization would increase production of such containers by 30 per cent and help meet a possible tin can shortage. Grinding of cocoa beans during the rest of May and June was restricted to 70 per cent of the amounts ground in the corresponding period last year.

This the 15th day of April, 1942. THOMAS GLENN, Trustee. No. 1179—May 7-14-21-28.

agree with him, whether they really DID agree or not.

Instead, he proves to hold the view that voluntary agreement's the most valuable variety.

From the very nature of his cabinet position, he wants all the money he can get. Yet he's moderate in his demands, for higher taxation. He not only needs the cash, but he's in accord with the theory that squeezing the public as vigorously as it can stand will discourage competitive buying of civilian stuff, as things tighten up, and thus will be a brake on inflation of which all hands are so fearful.

The Bond Campaign

Well, plus taxation, there's been a demand for a campaign to sell bonds, up to 10 per cent of everybody's income, less for the sake of the dough than for the purpose of tying it up so completely that bond-buyers will have precious little left to spend for anything else.

Henry's endorsed the bond-buying proposition in principle, but he's opposed making it compulsory.

His contention is that, overwhelmingly, the average American is a patriotic chap, whose investment will EXCEED 10 per cent, if he can make it, provided, he's merely APPEALED to, but who'll be sore if it's a matter of compulsion, and, anyway, it'll stop at 10 per cent; nor will it be that much if he's drained entirely dry ahead of it—for compulsion itself can't make him dig up more than he's got.

President Roosevelt is said to have been for compulsion, originally, but to have been sold on Henry's notion by his treasury chief's arguments.

It was an unexpected angle for a multi-millionaire like Henry Morgenthau to head in from. He surprised quite a lot of his cabinet fellow-members and senators and representatives by doing it.

Henry isn't a bug for wage-freezing, moreover.

On that subject he's rather in a class with William Green of the A. F. of L., and Phil Murray of the C. I. O. Who'd have thought it, in a treasury secretary of his antecedents! Bankers and financiers! Sees Better Results

If war bond buying doesn't deliver the goods, on a voluntary basis, Henry says he'll come out for compulsion by about next July, but he wants to give it a trial, because his judgment is that it'll yield better results, besides being more satisfactory to the victims, than the other method.

Taxation, it goes without saying, will be terrible next year.

Reader, you're aware how you were socked last March—twice what you were in 1941. Next March it'll be twice as much as this year's tax. And it'll catch millions of people who weren't caught at that time. "Serve them right," I'll say, as one of the 1942 sufferers. But, believe me, it'll make them holler. Henry Morgenthau's an economist.

It wasn't to have been anticipated of him, but he has an anticipatory vision.

He sees what's on hand now and what's coming after the war.

He's about the last functionary of the current Washington set-up to have been expected to have so much pre-vision of what's ahead in the next few years—post-war as well as war years.

His talk is all right.

A man sings when he takes a bath for the same reason a hen cackles when she lays an egg—bragging.

Beaverdam Club Stages An All-Day Meeting

The Beaverdam home demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. Paul Robinson May 5th. It was an all-day affair combining the March and May meetings.

Each member carried a covered dish, which made up the delicious luncheon served at noon.

Eight of the leaders gave interesting reports.

A number plan to attend the district meeting at Franklin the last of May.

The club also voted to purchase a defense bond.

The demonstration during the morning session by the home agent was "My Clothing Needs—Inventory—Essentials."

Miss Smith modeled several appropriate, well made garments for the working woman. All of which drew favorable comments from the members. Also displayed a number of other necessary garments that could easily be made with little expense.

The afternoon demonstration was "The Staff of Life—Whole Grain Products."

Miss Smith showed by figures how much could be saved by preparing your whole grain cereals as you need them, at home, with a small hand mill or electric one. Also displayed a chart which showed how much greater the food value is in whole grain flour, in vitamins and all minerals than just white flour. However, urged buying enriched bread and flour when purchasing white. All though the biscuits
