Lt. Grover M. Davis Weds Miss Betty Lou Alexander

The marriage of Miss Betty Lou Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Clifford Alexander, of Fort Lauderdale, to Dr. Grover M. Davis, lieutenant, junior grade, U. S. Navy, was solemnized at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, June 10th, in the First Presbyterian church of Fort Lauderdale.

The chancel of the church was banked with palms, interspersed with tall arrangements of white gladioli. On either side of the chancel table which was also arranged in white gladioli, were placed seven branched candelabra with lighted tapers. Side lights in the church and the alternate pews were tied with white satin ribbon hold white gladioli blossoms.

The nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. W. H. Marshall, soloist, and Mrs. Harriet S. Rector, organist.

The traditional marches were used and Mrs. Marshall sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because." The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of imported shadow organdy, worn over a full skirted satin slip, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, outlined in antique lace, which belonged to the bride's grandmother. On the short sleeves were lover's knots in satin, matching the bows scattered over the wedding veil of illusion, which was finger tip length in front and fell the full length of the train of the gown in the back. It was fastened to a heart shaped coronet of illusion worn just back of the pompadour. The veil was edged with a wide band of rosepoint lace, another family heirloom. Her flowers were a bouquet of bride's roses showered with stephanotis.

Miss Mildred Brown, of Gastonia, who was the bride's roommate at John B. Stetson University, was maid of honor. She wore a pale yellow organdy, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, outlined in white ruffling. The sleeves were short puffed effect and the flaring skirt fitted to the wide girdle, the outlines of which followed the curve of the neckline. She wore a Juliette cap of the same material, with a jaunty organdy bow, and her flowers were an arm bouquet of pastel gerbera daisies in colors harmonizing with her gown.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Mildred Stovall, Miss Pat Thomas, Miss Dorothy Bove, and Miss Ann Louise Hendricks, all of Fort Lauderdale. The first two were gowned in pastel pink and the latter two wore light blue gowns, made of the same material and fashioned along similar lines of the maid of honor. They also wore headdresses matching their gowns, and they carried bouquets of gerbera daisies in harmonizing shades.

Joe Davis, student of the medical school of the University of North Carolina, and brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. The ushers were as follows: Tom Runck, Philip Crocker, Eddie Moore and J. B. Patterson, all of Fort Lauderdale.

The bride's mother wore a long sleeved floor length dress of blue sugar mist chiffon, over blue tafeta. Mrs. Davis, mother of the bridegroom, wore a white lace gown. Mrs. W. R. Babcock, of Minneapolis, close relative of the bride, wore hyacinth blue lace. All three wore corsages of roses.

A reception at the home of the bride followed immediately after the ceremony at the church, with only intimate friends and relatives in attendance.

Doorways in the spacious Alexander residence, which is situated on Las Olas Beach, facing the ocean, were festooned with Florida smilax, and white gladioli blossoms, with white flowers arranged throughout the home. In the dining room the central table held the wedding cake, which was surrounded with gardenias and cape jasmine.

For her going away costume, the bride wore a navy blue sheer frock with collar of pleated organza and embroidery, and a fitted jacket with similar organza cuffs. Red shoes and red purse matched the little off-the-face tricorin hat fashioned of ribbon and felt, with which she wore a navy blue veiling.

After a brief wedding trip the couple will go to Quantico, Va., where the groom is stationed and will occupy a house at the post. The bride has been extensively entertained since the announcement of her engagement, and the wedding gifts contained many handsome pieces of silver and other lovely gifts.
