The crowds attending open-house of Pet Dairy Products Company last Friday were far above the expectations of R. B. Davenport, manager.

"People were really interested in seeing how a modern dairy operated," he said. "The questions that were asked showed that they had been thinking a lot about dairying and what a modern plant has to offer."

"We had people from all walks of life, but housewives and prospective producers made up the majority of the visitors."

"It was a success from every angle. The visitors seemed to enjoy their visit, and needless to say, those of us at Pet Dairy were very happy to have them come to see us. The invitation remains open, and we welcome anyone to come see our plant at any time," he continued.

350 Boys Registered On Tuesday

The number of boys registering in the 5th registration under the selective draft system surprised those in charge here, for around 350 were signed up, in the Waynesville area.

When Uncle Sam calls they answer. Little publicity had been given the 5th draft registration, but even so the boys found their way to the registration centers.

The boys did not show up at the early hours their fathers and elders did for their registration. But when they arrived they made it snappy with the rapidity with which they answered questions and took up the minimum amount of time to get signed up with Uncle Sam.

They did not have to "figure out" their ages nor their birthplaces, as some of the older ones had during other registrations.

From 7 to 8 o'clock, which had been a rush hour during other registrations, was the duller of the day, according to those in charge of the Waynesville registration.

37 Tons Of Rubber Gathered In County

Auto Stamp Sales Reach Total Of 631 In June

When the local post office closed at six o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, a total of 631 Federal automobile use tax stamps, costing $5 each had been sold, it was learned yesterday from Postmaster J. H. Howell.

Of the total, 251 were sold between 11 o'clock on Tuesday and the closing hour of 6, a large number of motorists having put off the purchase until the last minute.

Postmaster Howell stated that the sale would continue through July.

Haywood's contribution to the nation-wide scrap rubber salvage campaign totaled almost 37 tons, according to W. J. Campbell, after making a check of the bulk stations of the oil firms in the county, where the scrap rubber has been stored.

This is a little short of the fifty tons which it was thought Haywood should gather up, but since the President has extended the campaign until July 10, it is believed that this county will reach the 50-ton quota.

All service stations are paying one cent a pound for the scrap rubber. From there it is being hauled to the bulk plants of the oil companies and then shipped to manufacturers who will reclaim the valuable rubber.

Any item that has rubber in it can be used in the campaign. All worn out household items, such as hot water bottles, hose, overshoes, raincoats, and even toys, are wanted.

Mr. Campbell announced the following amounts reported by the oil companies in Haywood yesterday:

Standard Oil	27,333
Texas Oil Co.	18,343
Gulf Oil Co.	14,977
Pure Oil Co.	5,412
Shell	1,500
Sinclair	6,006

Future Of Dairying Is Bright, Says Ruffner

"The future for dairying was never brighter," R. H. Ruffner, professor of animal husbandry at State College told Rotarians and about 20 Haywood Grade "A" Milk Producers here Friday, in observance of Dairy Month.

"Dairymen can sell all that they can produce. We have never had a better market at home, and now with our allies, the milk market is unlimited. Sixty per cent of all cattle abroad have been slaughtered, and the demand for breeding stock after this war is going to be great," the dairying expert said.

Prof. Ruffner was high in his praise of Haywood County, pointing out that there is not a more favorable climate for man and beast to be found anywhere.

"You can grow anything in Haywood, and the finest pastures in the world are found right here in this county," he continued.

"What dairymen must learn is how to produce milk at a lower cost; sell at a better price and improve quality."

The speaker stated that before dairymen can accomplish that, they must have a definite plan. Before quality milk, comes good stock, and they must be fed on good feed, he said. A diversified pasture is essential and legumes for hay are important. Silage feed for the entire year, and an accurate record (Continued on page 8)
