CIVILIAN MEAT SUPPLY
About two-thirds (67 percent) of the United States supplies of meat available for all needs in 1944 has been allocated to U. S. civilians, according to the War Food Administration.

PORK AND BEANS RELEASED
About 440,000 cases (approximately 20 million pounds) of canned pork and beans will be released to civilian consumers within the next few weeks.

PRICE RISE IN '43 WAS SMALL
At the end of 1943, the general level of prices in wholesale markets was two percent higher than at the close of 1942, and the prices of staples that families buy in retail markets for everyday living were about three and one-half percent. This price rise was smaller than in any year since 1940, according to Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor.

OPPORTUNITY FOR VETERANS
Returning war veterans may enter virtually any of the 30,207 apprentice training programs in the United States. Age restrictions and other limitations have been especially lifted for veterans in many apprenticeship standards so they may obtain training for skilled work, according to the War Manpower Commission.

MORE TEA FOR CIVILIANS
About 76 million pounds of tea will be available to civilian consumers in 1944—wartime limitations on shipping space permitting. This is about 16 million pounds more than civilians got in 1943.

NEW FOOD PRICE ADJUSTMENTS

To allow food processors upward adjustments of their maximum prices because of wage increases, the Office of Price Administration has amended food regulations covering canned fruits and vegetables, frozen fruits, berries, and vegetables, preserves, jams, and jellies, pickles, pickled products, and apple products. OPA estimated that increases at retail will run not more than one cent a can or, in the case of frozen fruits, one cent a pound. There will be no increases in prices civilians pay for tomatoes, peas, snap beans, corn, peaches, and pears.

TIGHTENS RATIONING REGULATIONS

As a further move to stamp out the black market in gasoline, OPA has ruled that any local board or special hearing officer, after a

JACK-OF-ALL-TRADES in America's global war, the jeep is in its element in the jungle or when ducking through the surf. Here one takes a briny plunge as it climbs onto a landing slip during the successful invasion at Arawa, New Britain, which extended the Allied grip in the Pacific. Incidentally, so impressed are our troops by the dependable vehicle, many have placed it on their lists of post-war purchases. (International)

Clashes With Union

WIDOW of a famed Confederate general, Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, is reported from Atlanta to be displaying some of her husband's fighting qualities in a controversy over her job as a riveter. Plant officers want her to resign. She says no; blames the request on a union paper which said she was hired "for publicity." (International)

Pfc. Carlton Saxton, U. S. Army, Alabama, and his mother, Mrs. T. E. Simpson, of Connelly's Springs, visited Mrs. J. M. Barnett last week. Pfc. Saxton has just been discharged from a hospital and is spending a 15-day furlough with his mother.

Mrs. Eleanor Starbuck of Miami, was a Balsam visitor last week.

ANOTHER TWAIN YARN

Mark Twain was no respecter of dignity and a story is told of him regarding a certain bishop who was rector of an important church. The humorist had listened to one of the bishop's best Sunday sermons and approached him politely.

"I have enjoyed your sermon this morning, but I have a book in my library that contains every word of it."

"Impossible, sir," replied the rector, indignantly.

"Not at all, I assure you it is true," said Twain.

"Then I shall trouble you to send me that book," rejoined the rector with dignity.

The next morning the rector received, with Mark Twain's compliments, a dictionary.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Approved the country over. In most Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

State College Hints

By Ruth Current, State Home Demonstration Agent N. C. State College.

Wartime cookery calls for expert gravy-making for today meat flavor is too precious to waste in gravy that is lumpy, curdled, greasy, pasty or otherwise unappetizing.

Slow and steady is the first rule for the gravy-maker. Take time to measure carefully, mix thoroughly, and cook slowly with steady stirring. Hasty mixing or hurried cooking causes lumps. Gravy made without measuring may be greasy and separated, too thick or too thin. For best flavor and rich brown color, blend the flour with the fat. Then slowly add cool or lukewarm liquid, while stirring over low heat. The right proportions are: 1 1/4 to 2 tablespoons each of flour and fat to 1 cup of liquid.

To make gravy in a roasting pan, first remove the meat to a hot platter, then pour the drippings into a bowl. Skim off the fat that rises to the top. Back in the pan, mix together equal measures of flour and fat over low heat. Gradually stir in the cool liquid which may be juice that cooks out the meat, broth made by stewing bones or vegetables, tomato juice, milk or water.

Last, but far from least in making good gravy, is the seasoning. Add salt and pepper with care because the drippings already may contain enough. Every bit of drippings that have browned on the pan should be worked up with liquid to give flavor and color. Other seasoning possibilities are: finely chopped onion, parsley or celery leaves, grated horseradish, tomato, or a tiny pinch of clove powder.
