

LABOR DAY

America Salutes

A Home-Front Hero!

This Labor Day finds added responsibilities to those of us at home, in carrying on and preserving what our brave men on the fighting fronts are giving their lives for.

This Labor Day we should resolve anew to strive harder than ever to carry our share of the responsibilities which every man, woman and child must bear before peace comes.

Our brave comrades over there are giving their lives. We must invest more money in War Bonds. We must give more time to the Red Cross and other war efforts. We must stop absenteeism. We must be patriotic in everything we do or say—every day.
