

Labor Day ★ ★ 1944

... a day all

Americans should honestly pledge themselves to work untiringly for Victory . . .

It matters not whether you work in the field, a defense plant, on a farm, at home or in an office, you and every other American has a definite job to do.

On this Labor Day, when homage is paid the men and women who toil, we should be mindful of tomorrow, the day after, next week, next month, next year, and generations to come. Our peace and happiness in the future depends on what we accomplish today in defeating our enemies.

Failure to do your part means longer delay of Victory and Peace.

A Labor Day Pledge

In memory of all those who have paid the Supreme Price for Victory, we re-dedicate ourselves to support every worthy war effort.

The Need Is Urgent...

It means only fitting in this Labor Day Message of 1944, to point out one of the urgent needs of America today. Our fighting men must have items made from CHESTNUT ACIDWOOD and Pulpwoods.

These vital raw materials abound plentifully in this county. It is just a matter of rolling up our sleeves and using our axes to slash the Axis.

The CHESTNUT ACIDWOOD is needed to tan leather for our fighting men's shoes. The vital Pulpwoods are needed for gunpowder, containers for shells, for packing foods, and for endless other important items.

The Champion Paper and Fibre Company has an important war job to do. Chestnut Acidwood and Pulpwoods are the essential raw materials which we must have in order not to fail the boys at the front.
