

Miss Corinne Wagenfeld Becomes Bride Of Lieut. Robert F. Anton

The marriage of Miss Corinne Wagenfeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clarence Wagenfeld, of Waynesville, to Lt. Robert F. Anton, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick Anton, of Portsmouth, Va., was solemnized at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon in St. John's Catholic Church here. Rev. Vincent J. Mahoney, pastor of St. John's Catholic Church of Tryon, and former assistant pastor of the local church, pronounced the vows.

The altar was arranged with a background of evergreens against which were placed tall vases containing combinations of white asters, white gladioli and clematis. At intervals floor candelabra bearing lighted cathedral tapers were placed.

A program of wedding music was rendered by Sister Anthony, organist, and Sister Corinne, soloist. For the processional and for the recessional Sister Anthony played the traditional wedding marches. Sister Corinne, accompanied by Sister Anthony, sang, "If God Loved Only You" by Helen Cushman Mitchell, "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and after the ceremony she sang "Ave Maria," by Grouned.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Duchess satin fashioned on princess lines, with deep lace bertha skirt fell in a long train and her and the short sleeves were also trimmed in the same lace. The veil of illusion which was worn with a band of orange blossoms fell the full length of the train of her gown. She wore long lace mittens and carried a white satin prayer book, to which were attached white orchids showered with tuberoses tied with white satin ribbons.

Miss Martha Way was maid of honor. She wore a gown of white satin and net, with bodice of satin and the full skirt of net was fashioned over a satin foundation. Her hat was a small off the face model of net and white flowers. She carried an arm bouquet of mixed flowers with orchids predominating.

Miss Ruth Wagenfeld, sister of the bride, who served as bridesmaid, wore a gown similar to that of the maid of honor. Her accessories also matched those of the other attendant. Her hat was fashioned of white net and flowers and she carried an arm bouquet of mixed flowers with pink predominating.

Lt. Anton had as his best man his father. Ushers were Thomas L. Campbell, Jr., and Aviation Cadet Harry Evans, Jr., U. S. Naval Air Forces.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue gown of crepe with harmonizing accessories and her corsage was of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore an afternoon gown of black and her corsage was of red roses.

Following the ceremony at the church the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at The Lodge, which was arranged in the bridal motif. Only relatives and close friends attended.

The guests were greeted at the entrance by Mrs. T. Lenoir Gwyn and the receiving line was composed of the bridal party, parents of the bride and bridegroom and Miss Anne Heavey, aunt of Lt. Anton, of Portsmouth, Va.

Mrs. J. Wilford Ray and Mrs. A. H. DuBreil presided at the punch bowls, which were arranged from a long table decorated in clematis. Miss Daisy Boyd directed the guests to the dining room. Miss Emily Siler was in charge of the bride's registrar.

In the dining room Mrs. William Hannah and Mrs. R. R. Campbell presided. They were assisted by Mrs. Hubert O'Donnell, Mrs. Herbert Buchanan, Miss Edith Summerrow and Miss Hilda Way.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth overlaid with lace and centered by a three tier wedding cake decorated with the bridal motif and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Silver holders with lighted tapers marked the corners of the table and low bowls of white flowers completed the decorations.

Following the reception Lt. and Mrs. Anton left for a short wedding trip after which they returned to Waynesville for a brief visit before going to Kansas City, where the former is now stationed.

For traveling the bride donned a blue crepe suit with which she wore fuchsia accessories and her corsage was of white orchids detached from her wedding flowers. Mrs. Anton is a native of Lynn, Mass., and came here to reside with her family several years ago. She is a graduate of the Waynesville township high school and of St. John's Business School. Until recently she held a position with the Headquarters Service Command in Dayton, Ohio. Since the announcement of her engagement to Lt. Anton a few weeks ago she has been extended numerous courtesies.

Lt. Anton is a graduate of the North Carolina State College. At
