BAPTISTS—Are you in favor of building Meredith and Wake Forest colleges, selling $1,250,000 worth of building at Meredith and Wake Forest as a part of the beautiful buildings at Wake Forest? The beautiful buildings at Meredith will be paid for in full this year, and the campus now is one of the most beautiful in the State. However, there is a move on foot at this time to scrap the business and move Meredith, Wake Forest, and Wake Forest, 17 miles north to Wake Forest.

There is a rumor that Governor M. Broughton, the leading Baptist of the State, has considered the purchase of the Meredith buildings by State College. There is no foundation to this gossip. Governor Broughton in a recent letter to the president of the Meredith Board of Trustees denied buying anything about any plan of the purchase of the Meredith buildings at Wake Forest. A gentleman from the Wake Forest Board of Trustees had talked with Governor Broughton about the possible purchase of Meredith, but no plan was formed and the Governor would have nothing to do with such an idea.

If you are opposed to the move, you had better get ready to fight at the convention to be held in Charlotte in November, for the matter will certainly come up at that time. In the event you would like some information on mergers of colleges, just talk to an alumnus.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germs, phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood essence by special process with other tested medicines for coughs, contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to give you a bottle of Creomulsion with understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to get your money back. (Adv.)

MEETINGS—The rallies being held by the Democrats throughout the State are being very well attended—250 average at each meeting, which is the best attendance in a long time. While there is no doubt the State will go for Roosevelt, some of the counties which are close may go Republican.

The regular Democrats here in Raleigh thoroughly despise the "Constitutional Democrats." Oh, yes, they dislike them much more than they do the Republicans. These C. D.'s are doing right much harm in those close counties. It doesn't make any difference how prominent they are, it will be a long time before the regulars have anything to do with them in a political way.

MC—Roosevelt has no worse hater than Malcolm McDermott, head of the Duke University Law School. This fellow can really wax pretty bitter now and then. The Duke folks—not the alumni, necessarily, but the builders and backers of Duke—should not look on the President so keenly, as a matter of fact, for he had done very little for public utilities during his 11 years in office. Perhaps McDermott is talking for his bosses, who knows. But we must not forget that during the past 11 years the REA has carried electricity into areas the utilities didn't know existed prior to Roosevelt. Those farmers who have lights in their homes now should think twice before they cast a vote against that man in the White House.

DEANS—Governor O. Max Gardner some 14 years ago conceived the idea to combine Woman's College, the University, and State College into one university, calling it the Greater University. When he went out of office, he pronounced this one of the outstanding acts carried out under his administration. But it has never been satisfactory, and you know it, whether you will admit it or not.

At the recent meeting of the University Board of Trustees the matter of what to call the administrative heads of each of the schools came up for some discussion. It seems that folks don't like to call them "deans"—they want to call them "presidents."

Rev. Templeton To Fill Pulpit At Long's Chapel On Sunday

Rev. R. B. Templeton, retired Methodist minister, will fill the pulpit at Long's Chapel, Lake Junaluska, on Sunday, October 22, according to an announcement made by the pastor, Rev. Miles A. McLean. Rev. and Mrs. Templeton have a home on the Lake grounds and make their home at the Assembly the year round.

A French-Canadian was in his garage one evening working under his car. A portable extension cord provided the illumination. His playful pup entered and, up to its usual tricks, began chewing the cord. Naturally a short circuit resulted, burning the pup's mouth and putting out the light.

"By Gar!" exclaimed the exasperated native, "eff dat pup ain't eat all de electris outa de wire!"

Well, then, what shall we call Dr. Frank Graham? We will call him "chancellor."

With a little revamping of the organization, the Greater University should become much stronger. This will likely be done. We must not overlook the fact that, within the past decade, the University has become THE State University of the Nation, outranking them all in almost anybody's poll. The present setup should not be seriously disturbed. When the editor of this column was in Wisconsin recently, he found that the people of that State rank our University right up with the University of Wisconsin—and that's some rating when you know something about the intense pride those Wisconsin folks take in their State.

INCIDENT—A heart-rending little incident occurred here a few days ago. The girl's husband was drafted early last spring, and, not used to working downtown, she had to get along without getting a job. Finding this impossible she took a little position as a clerk in one of the clothing stores three weeks ago. Saturday night she received her pay ($22.50) in four five-dollar bills, two ones, and two quarters. She put the envelope in her bag. It had been raining hard that afternoon. While waiting for the bus, she pulled a handkerchief out of her bag. With it came the envelope and the money. Water was gushing down the gutter. Yet, it caught the envelope and carried it down the drain before the girl could grab it. It is said she stood there and cried over that hole for an hour or so.

Books for Boys and Girls Interested in Careers

"When our boys and girls are well started in high school, they begin to think about future careers and to ask parents and teachers for more and more information about what people do for a living and why. Today far better aid and advice can be given than was ever possible for any generation to get. Within a very few years the books on vocations have become fascinating and useful."—Frederic G. Melcher.
