Has Interesting
Paper at Club Meet

Mrs. Frank Kinsey, Jr., had the paper of the afternoon at the November meeting of the Waynesville Woman's Club, which was held on Thursday afternoon at Oak Park, with Mrs. James W. Killian, president, presiding.

Mrs. Kinsey had as her subject, "Notable Women of the United States." She defined six qualifications as the elements of greatness including: courage, love and understanding of humanity, self sacrifice, sincerity and tenacity of purpose, personality and vision.

She named twenty women of this country who rated high and possessed these qualities and then related the outstanding events in the lives of five as follows: Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross; Jane Adams, founder of Hull House; Helen Keller, blind and deaf lecturer; Mary Lyon, founder of Mt. Holyoke; and Eleanor Roosevelt.

During the business session, Mrs. Chas. Ray, chairman of the pin money bond drive in the club, asked that the members bring in the backs of their stamp books which had been filled by the next meeting.

Mrs. Frank Ferguson, chairman of the Christmas Tuberculosis seals stated that the campaign would be directed through the schools, industrial plants and by mail.

Mrs. J. C. Brown asked that the members contribute bulbs for beautification of school grounds. She also stated that plans were under way for the community Christmas tree, and urged that anyone having old clothes donate them to the collection for needy in Europe.
