

Champion 15-Year Group To Meet On June 8

Announcement has been made of the plans for the annual meeting of the five-year group, composed of more than 350 employees of the Champion Paper and Fibre Company with 15 years of unbroken service. The event will be held at the Canton Armory on the evening of June 8, at 6:30 o'clock when a buffet supper will be served under the supervision of Mrs. B. H. Grube.

The membership rolls now include around 223 names, with 31 new members to be added to the annual meeting. The incoming members of the club will be presented service emblems by Reuben B. Robertson, executive vice president of the plant who is host of the occasion.

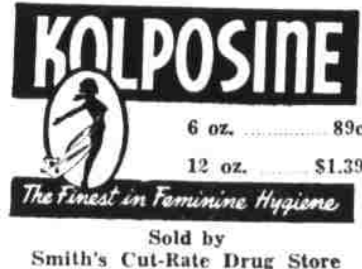

New members who will receive their service emblems are: Garand E. Allen, John F. Bagwell, M. G. Barrett, Ernest C. Broyles, H. S. Crumley, John Troy Davis, George L. Eller, Woodrow Hicks, Ray Jamison, Wallace Jones, Charles F. King, Frank Morris, Robert Haywood Mackey, Alfred Finley Mashburn, Henry McDowell, Sr., Kline Z. Moore, Joseph E. Nichols, Richard L. Roberts, Hugh Smathers, K. E. Silver, Noland R. Scott, Charles J. Setzer, Jr., Will C. Wines, Clyde Wilson, Edward F. Williams, Kelly Bugas, Thea E. Jentz, W. P. Lawrence, Avery E. Peek and Woodrow Williams.

A program of entertainment will be presented during the evening by Mrs. Marie Bell, social director of the Champion YMCA, and others, with a number of special features included.

ALLERGY SOFTENS DOCTORS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — A rabbit with an allergy to anesthetics has become a pet of the Kentucky Baptist Hospital.

The two-year-old animal—named Tularemia by hospital physicians—became ill from an anesthetic while laboratory technicians were taking blood from her in an experiment. She immediately was adopted as the hospital pet.

You Gussed It - They Discussed Politics

These well-known North Carolinians got together for a few minutes before the Chamber of Commerce banquet here, and as could be expected, discussed the events of the coming primary. Shown left to right, Monroe Redden, candidate for Congress, and the state manager of Mr. Broughton's campaign when he ran for governor; W. J. Damtoft, secretary of The Champion Paper and Fibre Company, who was host to Mr. Broughton at Lake Logan for the week-end; Ben Prince, former chairman of the State Highway Commission under Mr. Broughton; Mr. Prince resigned to enter service, and recently returned from the Pacific theatre. He was a major. Former Governor J. M. Broughton, speaker of the evening, and Charles E. Ray, one of those responsible for the successful banquet. Mr. Ray introduced Mr. Broughton. ### N. C. Ranks 47th In Educational Work In Nation

CHAPEL HILL. — Although North Carolina is spending nearly 50 per cent of its income for educational purposes, it still ranks 47th among the states in this respect. J. D. Rose, of Goldsboro, president of the North Carolina School Board Association, declared in an address at the spring meeting of the association.

"This state's expenditure per child is about 40th among the states," Rose said. "There can be but one solution. We must raise the standard of living in the classroom, the shop and on the farm to demand an income commensurate with the economy of other states."

Dr. Henry H. Hill, president of George Peabody college and president of the American Association of School Administrators, also addressed the assembled school board members.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Rippeloe, Jr., of Miami, announce the birth of a daughter, Ellen Constance, on Sunday, May 12th. Mr. Rippeloe is with Pan American Airways, and expects to pay a brief visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Rippeloe, Sr., here this week-end, enroute to New York.

State College Hints

Lost buttons, especially those torn out of garments, add greatly to the burden of family mending in many households. Spring and summer clothes of thin fabric are likely to suffer most from buttons that pull out, taking some of the fabric underneath with them. A simple way to prevent such damage, clothing specialists suggest, is to stitch tape on the inside of the garment under the button line. The stitched reinforcement does not show when the garment is buttoned and distributes the strain so that the small area of cloth to which the button is attached does not take the full pull. Stitch down each edge of the tape, then sew buttons through the center part of the tape.

On rayon clothes such a tape will prevent the damage that often comes from pressing too hard or with too hot an iron under buttons.

Rural electrification specialists advise that electric irons always should be disconnected properly after use to keep them in good working order. Pull on the plug that fits into the convenience outlet in the wall, never on the cord. Pulling on the cord may loosen the connections within the plug or

Cigar, Cigarette Smoking In U. S. Continues To Rise

WASHINGTON. — Maybe it's the strain of reconversion, the housing shortage of labor problems, but whatever the reason, the agriculture department says that Americans are now smoking more cigars and cigarettes than they did during the peak of wartime consumption. The agriculture department says that some 320,000,000 cigars will be produced in 1946 as compared with 340,000,000 produced last year. In spite of the drop, the department points out, the average American probably is smoking more cigars than ever before because fewer are being sent overseas.

even pull out the wires. A loose connection may either blow a fuse or cause excessive heat, which in time will ruin the plug.

If the iron cord is detachable, connect and disconnect it at the convenience outlet rather than at the iron. Disconnecting the cord from the iron while the current is on may cause sparking. This in time will ruin the plug and may require replacing the connector terminals on the iron—a repair job.
