

B. F. Nesbitt Talks At USDA Council Monday

B. F. Nesbitt, vocational agricultural teacher of Crabtree school was in charge of the program at the meeting held on Monday night of the Haywood County USDA Council which was held in the county farm agent's office.

Mr. Nesbitt told the group of the part the vocational agricultural department in the county was playing in the training of veterans under the G. I. Bill of Rights. It was brought out that many veterans are making application for agriculture training under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Reports were made on the work which has been done by different committees on the production of more food and saving of food and fats. Reports showed that much progress has been made, however, a follow-up program will be inaugurated in the county to further assist the people in doing their part in feeding the starving people of the war torn countries.

Announcement was made that Dr. C. N. Sisk, county health officer will have charge of the program for the month of June.

H. M. Stamey Aids Hereford Breeders In Planning Sale

H. M. Stamey, animal husbandry extension specialist from State College, Raleigh, was in the county during the week helping the Haywood County Hereford Breeders and the county farm agent to select cattle for the Haywood County Hereford Breeders sale to be held this fall.

Tentative plans now are to hold the sale on October 9. This sale is expected to be an even larger sale than those held in the past. Some outstanding cattle are being consigned from this county and from neighboring states.

4-H Club Members And Their Pigs

The Haywood 4-H club members won prizes in the recent district Pig Show in Asheville. Shown here, left to right, are Betty Joe Gurnell, first place in the district, winner of third place in the county, and second place in the district on her record book. Just barely shown in the picture is Mildred Ferguson, of the Fines Creek 4-H club, winner of second place. The boy with his hand on his pig is Howard Press, winner of first place. He is from the Bethel 4-H club, and the boy on the extreme right is Ben Fatts, also of the Bethel 4-H club and winner of fourth place. The members were accompanied to the show by Wayne Coppenhaver, county agent.

Carrots in Dress-Up Dishes

By BETSY NEWMAN

VEGETABLES are the subject of today's menu. There is a fairly good variety of them available at almost any time of the year, although, of course, the summer and fall season gives us the most. Combining two or more vegetables gives them a different flavor and appearance, even the familiar one of carrots and peas. If your family isn't too fond of carrots, the peas help to make them more palatable, and a carrot ring with the center filled with creamed peas or beans is attractive and tasty.

Today's Menu

- Baked Potatoes
- Meat Hash
- Carrot Ring or Carrots and Celery
- Raw Greens Salad
- Sponge of Spice Cake with Whipped Cream
- Coffee

Carrot Ring

- 2½ c. cooked, mashed carrots
- ½ c. bread crumbs
- 1 c. milk
- 1½ tsp. butter or margarine
- 3 eggs
- 15 tsp. sugar

Large carrots may be used in this dish, and about 6 will be needed. Scrub and scrape, cut in strips lengthwise, cook in boiling water until tender, adding salt during the last part of cooking; drain and mash. Use one medium sized ring mold or 6 individual molds. Grease them and prepare a large pan that will hold them all for setting in 'o' bake. Add bread crumbs to mashed carrots; beat eggs and blend them in; add milk, seasonings, butter, and turn into mold.

Set the mold or molds in a pan containing 1 in. of water, and bake until firm, from 30 to 40 mins. at 350 deg. F. You may add nut meats to this mixture if you like, but they are not needed. The center of the ring may be filled with buttered or creamed green peas.

Carrots and Celery

- 5 sliced stalks of celery
 - 2 medium carrots
- Wash celery and dice. The large outer stalks may be used, leaving the more tender ones and the hearts for salads or eating raw. Cook in a little boiling, salted water until tender, drain. Wash, scrub and dice carrots and cook in a very little boiling, salted water. Mix vegetables and season with salt, pepper and butter or margarine.

SEEK TRIPOLITANIA PACT

BIG FOUR REPRESENTATIVES, meeting in Paris, were reported to have worked out a new formula for solving the controversial question of Tripolitania (indicated in the map's black area). A compromise agreement is said to call for a joint trusteeship—but with Italy included. Italy had previously demanded guardianship over her former African colony. Britain opposed both Italian and Russian trusteeship and a deadlock has been threatened. The U.S. has held out for joint control of the disputed area for a period of ten years. (International)

J. L. Palmer, Retired Farmer, Buried Tuesday

Anne Caldwell, Honorary pallbearers were members of the Mer's Bible class of the Sunday school of the First Methodist church.

Mr. Palmer was a native of the Catawbee section of the county. He was the son of George Lafayette Palmer and Nancy Jane Caldwell Palmer, and was widely connected throughout Western North Carolina. He has been an outstanding breeder of registered Hereford cattle and for years one of the leading farmers of Haywood county.

Surviving are the widow; one daughter, Margaret Palmer, student at Brevard college; one son, Linton, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Laura Jarrett, of Lakeland, Fla., Miss Maria Palmer, of Waynesville, and Mrs. William Justice, of Elmer, N. J.; four brothers, Will Palmer, John Palmer, Jim Palmer and Hardy Palmer, all of Haywood county and a large number of nieces and nephews.

The Garrett Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements.

Anderson Says Food Situation Is Peace Threat

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Agriculture Secretary Anderson says food is becoming an increasingly important world political factor as hungry people in various nations hold their elections.

America is not threatened by food scarcities, Anderson says, but this nation must do more than its share to help feed a hungry world if serious political repercussions endangering the peace are to be avoided.

The agriculture secretary says there is no possibility that food rationing will be resumed in this country, at least not until after July 1st, when the first crucial period of world food shortages ends. After that date, he declares, America will have to re-examine the whole food situation from every angle.

Anderson criticizes rumors of resumption of food rationing. Such talk, he says, only serves to bring about widespread hoarding of canned foods.

'HAPPINESS CHARM' FOR BYRNES

ACCORDING TO AN ANCIENT French legend, anyone who wears a lily of the valley spray on May 1 will be assured of a year's happiness. And who could use a bright outlook better than Secretary of State James F. Byrnes—what with the trials of the Foreign Ministers' Conference? So he accepts the symbol from a pretty maid in Paris. Hoey Would Force Keeping Records Miners to Return To Their Jobs

WASHINGTON—"If I were president, I would have taken charge of the coal strike situation and had the mines back at work by today at least," Senator Clyde B. Hoey of Shelby said.

North Carolina's junior senator said the termination of John L. Lewis' coal miners' strike was a matter of "vital importance to the country as a whole, and it is something which is no longer just between the miners and the mine operators. Something has got to be done to bring it to an end. If I were president, it would have been ended by now, because I would have taken charge of the mines."

Hoey added that if the Senate had "passed the Case bill or some law similar in purpose, there would be ample law to back up the President in anything he did, and this coal strike is proof that the Senate erred when it rejected the Case bill."

Hoey said that although he is an active supporter of the British loan, he will vote against cloture when Sen. Ball's cloture petition to cut off debate on the measure comes before the Senate for a vote at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

"I am not in favor of cloture," said Hoey, "and although I earnestly hope the loan bill soon will be passed, I shall not vote for cloture in this connection, because I do not think it is any way to settle matters. What the cloture vote will do will be to delay even further the passage of the bill, because the time spent in voting on cloture could otherwise have been used in finishing the debate on the loan."

Hoey predicted that the cloture petition would be rejected.
